Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the "Gazette of India."]

The following order, issued by the Government of India in the Home Department, is republished for general information.

J. WARE EDGAR,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION—PUBLIC.

Simla, the 24th June 1887.

No. 1416.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct, under section 2 of "the Indian Explosives Act, 1884," that the said Act shall come into force on the first day of July 1887.

No. 1417.—(1) In exercise of the powers conferred by section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following Rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives.

(2) These Rules extend to the whole of British India, but nothing in the Rules relating to the transport of explosives shall apply in any Port as defined in the Indian Ports Act, 1875, for which the Local Government may have made or may make special rules under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, to regulate the transport of explosives therein.

PRELIMINARY.

Section 14 of the Indian Explosives Act, IV of 1884:

Nothing in this Act shall apply to the manufacture, possession, use, sale, transport or importation of any explosive—

(a) by order of the Government, or

(b) by any person employed under the Government in the execution of this Act, or as a keeper of a magazine, artizan, soldier, sailor, policeman or otherwise, or enrolled as a volunteer under the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, in the course of his employment or duty as such.

1. For the purposes of these Rules, explosives shall be classified as follows, namely:—

Class 1	...	...	...	...	...	Gunpowder.
Class 2	...	...	...	...	...	Nitrate-mixture.
Class 3	...	...	...	...	...	Nitro-compound.
Class 4	..	...	...	...	...	Chlorate-mixture.
Class 5	...	...	...	..	...	Fulminate.
Class 6	...	...	...	...	...	Ammunition.
Class 7	...	...	...	...	...	Firework.

And when an explosive falls within the description of more than one class, it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls.

CLASS 1.—Gunpowder Class.

The term "gunpowder" means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called.

CLASS 2.—Nitrate-mixture Class.

The term "nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any corbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance.

The nitrate-mixture class comprises such explosives as—

Pyrolithe,
Pudrolithe,
Poudre saxifragine,

and any preparation coming within the above definition.

CLASS 3.—Nitro-compound Class.

The term "nitro-compound" means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not.

The nitro-compound class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Nitro-glycerine,	Dualine,
Dynamite,	Glyoxiline,
Lithofracteur,	Methylic nitrate,

and any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation with consists either wholly or partly of nitro-glycerine or some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Guncotton ordinarily so called,	Cotton gunpowder,
Gunpaper,	Schultz's powder,
Xyloidine,	Nitro-mannite,
Gun sawdust,	Picrates,
Nitrated guncotton,	Picric powder,

Tonite (or cotton-powder), and any nitro-compound as before defined which is not comprised in the 1st division.

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture Class.

The term "chlorate mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder,
Brain's blasting powder,

and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,	Hochstadter's blasting charges,
Erhardt's powder,	Richen's blasting charges,
Reverley's powder,	Teutonite,

Chlorated guncotton,

and any chlorate-mixture as before defined, which is not comprised in the 1st division.

CLASS 5.—Fulminate Class.

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture, whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which from its extreme sensibility to explosion, and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

This class consists of two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury, and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorus, or certain descriptions of phosphorus compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphurate, with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—Ammunition Class.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war rocket or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting, which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction and contains an explosive in such quantity that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges.

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

Safety cartridges,	Railway fog signals,
Safety fuzes for blasting,	Percussion caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition as before defined which does not contain its own means of ignition and is not included in Division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,
Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,
War rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition as before defined which contains its own means of ignition and is not included in Division 1, such as—

Detonators,
Cartridges for small arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the same by friction or percussion.

CLASS 7.—Firework Class.

The term "firework" comprises firework composition and manufactured fireworks.

Division 1.—The term "firework composition" means any chemical compound or mechanically mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any coloured fire composition.

Division 2.—The term "manufactured firework" means any explosive of the foregoing classes and any firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, serpent, rocket (other than a war rocket), maroon, star, lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals.

TRANSPORT.

2. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the packing of explosives for conveyance:

I.—Each class of explosive shall be separately packed.

II.—An explosive, not being an explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class or of the 2nd and 3rd divisions of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, shall, if not exceeding 5lbs. in quantity, be contained in a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping.

III.—An explosive of the 1st (gunpowder) class, which is intended to be used for blasting purposes, may be carried in barrels covered with waxcloth or gunny.

IV.—In every other case the explosive shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial case, bag, canister, or other receptacle, made and closed so as to prevent the explosive from escaping, and the outer package shall be a box, barrel, or case of wood or metal or other solid material, and shall be of such strength, construction, and character that will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the explosive to escape. Provided as follows:

(a) If the explosive is explosive of the 1st or gunpowder class or is explosive of the 2nd (nitrate-mixture) class or is guncotton or other explosive of the 2nd division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, the quantity of explosive in any one outer package shall not, in the case of explosive of the first two classes, exceed 100lbs., and in the case of the last, 50 lbs.; and if the explosive be guncotton, it shall be carried thoroughly saturated with water.

(b) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class or to the 4th (chlorate-mixture) class, the inner package shall be without any metal in its construction, and the inner or outer package or both shall be thoroughly waterproof. No one of the inner packages shall contain more than 10lbs., and the aggregate quantity of the explosive in any one outer package shall not exceed 50lbs.

(c) If the explosive belongs to the 5th (fulminate) class, it shall be packed in such manner as the Governor-General in Council may specially direct.

(d) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class, or is any explosive of the 2nd division, an outer package shall not be required, but it may be contained in quantity not exceeding 100lbs. in a single package, which shall be a box, barrel, or case not less than $\frac{3}{4}$ths of an inch in thickness, of such strength, construction, and character as will not be broken or accidentally opened or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow the explosive to escape.

(e) If the explosive belongs to the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, it shall be packed in a double package. The inner package shall not contain more than 2lbs. of such explosive, and no more than 50lbs. shall be contained in the outer package.

(f) If the explosive belongs to the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a double package. The inner package shall be a substantial canister, case, or other receptacle hermetically closed, and containing no more than 1lb. of explosive, and no more than 20lbs. shall be contained in outer package; and

(g) If the explosive belongs to the 2nd division of the 7th (firework) class, it shall be contained in a box, barrel, or case of wood, metal, or other solid material, and of such strength, construction, and character that it will not be broken or accidentally opened, or become defective or insecure whilst being conveyed, and will not allow any explosive to escape, and the quantity of explosive in any one package shall not exceed 100lbs.

V.—Whatever be the amount of the explosive, and to whatever class or division of a class it belongs, the following conditions shall be observed:

(a) The interior of every package, whether single or double, shall be kept free from grit and otherwise clean;

(b) every package, whether single or double, when actually used for the packing of explosive, shall not be used for the packing of any other explosive of the same or any other class or for any other purpose;

(c) there shall not be any iron or steel in the construction of any such single package or inner or outer package unless the same is effectually covered with tin, zinc, or other suitable material;

(d) on the outermost package there shall be affixed, in conspicuous characters, by means of a brand or securely attached label or mark, the word "Explosive" followed by the name of the explosive or other description of the contents, and the name and address of the owners or sender; and

(e) the amount of explosive in any single package, or, if there is a double package, in any one outer package, shall not exceed the amount specified in the foregoing rules, except with the consent of, and under conditions to be approved by, an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf.

3. If any person commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the packing of explosives for conveyance, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000.

(b) Mode of conveyance.

4. The following general rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives:

I.—No explosive shall be conveyed from place to place unless packed in the manner provided for in the foregoing rules.

II.—There shall not be conveyed in any carriage or vessel, which is being used for the conveyance of an explosive, any explosive of a different class and division, of whatsoever nature which contains its own means of ignition unless it be sufficiently separated therefrom to prevent any fire or explosion which may take place in one such explosive being communicated to another.

III.—No explosive shall be loaded or unloaded except between sunrise and sunset.

IV.—Whilst the explosive is being loaded on, or unloaded out of any carriage or vessel, no fire or artificial light, nor any article which is liable to cause or communicate fire or explosion (such as charcoal, lucifer matches, articles for striking a light, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act or any Act repealing or amending the same applies or any spirit or oil or substance that gives forth an inflammable vapour at a temperature below 100° Fahrenheit) shall be, or shall be allowed to be, brought, had, or used dangerously near to such carriage, ship, or boat, and no smoking shall be allowed in, on, or dangerously near to the same: provided that when the use of a light for the purpose of such loading or unloading is unavoidable, a lamp of such construction, position, or character as not to cause any danger from fire or explosion may be used; and no person while handling any explosive (except gunpowder), explosive of division 1, class 6, or explosive of class 7, if packed in accordance with the packing rules), shall wear boots or shoes with iron or steel nails, heels, or tips.

V.—In loading or unloading any explosive, the casks and packages containing the same shall be passed from hand to hand and not rolled upon the ground; they shall be not thrown or dropped down, but shall be carefully deposited and stowed.

VI.—The explosive shall not be conveyed except in the interior of a carriage so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or in the hold of a ship or boat having a close deck, so closed as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without. If the explosive cannot be so secured, it shall be completely covered with painted cloth, tarpaulin, or other suitable material so as to effectually protect it against communication of fire.

VII.—There shall not be any iron or steel in the interior of the portion of the carriage or vessel with which the case containing the explosive is in contact, unless the same be effectually covered with leather, wood, cloth or other suitable material.

VIII.—In the stowing of explosive, due precautions shall be taken by means of a partition or otherwise, and by careful stowing to secure such explosive from being brought into contact with, or endangered by, any other article or substance conveyed in such carriage or vessel which is liable to cause fire or explosion; and if the explosive is dangerously affected by water, due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from coming into contact with such explosive.

IX.—The amount of explosive conveyed in any one carriage or vessel at any one time shall not exceed 2,000lbs., unless the carriage be so enclosed on all sides with wood or metal, or the vessel have a close deck so closed as effectually to protect the explosive against accident by fire from without, in which case the amount of explosive conveyed shall not exceed the following:—

In any one carriage on a railway	...	...	...	10	tons.
In any one other carriage	...	...	...	2	„
In any one vessel	...	...	...	20	„

NOTE.—This rule must in the case of dynamite conveyed by railway be read subject to paragraph XII of rule 6.

X.—Nothing in the foregoing rules (except rule I) shall apply to any explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class, provided all due precautions are taken for the prevention of accidents.

5. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives otherwise than by public railway:

I.—No explosive shall be conveyed in a carriage or boat whilst carrying or plying for public passengers, unless the quantity be less than 5lbs., and notice has been given beforehand to the person in charge of such carriage or boat: provided that there shall not be conveyed in any such carriage or boat any explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class, or any explosive of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class or of the 1st division of the 3rd (nitro-compound) class, except—

(i) dynamite, which may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5lbs., provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment: and

(ii) detonators to the number of 200, provided that the amount of fulminate of mercury in the package or packages containing the detonators shall in no case exceed in the aggregate 3oz. (a certificate to this effect being given by the Agent of the Company by whom the detonators are tendered for transport); provided also that no dynamite is carried in the same compartment.

II.—With respect to the conveyance by carriage or vessel of explosive of the 5th (fulminate) class, or of the 3rd division of the 6th (ammunition) class, or of the 1st division of the 7th (firework) class, or of larger quantities than 5lbs. of any other explosive, the following regulations shall be observed :—

(1) The person in charge of the carriage or vessel shall not drive or conduct the same in a dangerous or reckless manner, and shall take all due precautions to avoid fire and explosion, and no person shall do any act or thing in relation to the explosive which tends to cause fire or explosion, and is not reasonably necessary for the conveyance of the explosive or for work immediately connected with such conveyance ; and a person who is intoxicated shall not have charge of any carriage or vessel conveying explosive, and shall not be permitted to be in, or on, or attending the same.

(2) A person shall not forward to any warehouseman or carrier a consignment of explosive, unless he has given notice to such warehouseman or carrier beforehand, stating the name and quantity of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and the name and address of the proposed consignee, and has had an intimation that the warehouseman or carrier is prepared to receive the consignment ; and a warehouseman or carrier shall not make such an intimation, nor receive such consignment, unless he is prepared to receive it, and forthwith to despatch the same, or to deposit it in a magazine or at a place at which a person is licensed to possess the same.

(3) The carriage or vessel conveying the explosive shall be in charge of, and constantly attended by, some competent person, or by a sufficient number of competent persons, and such persons shall not, if the amount of explosive conveyed exceed 100lbs., stop or delay for a longer time than may be reasonably necessary, or stop unnecessarily at any place where such stopping would be attended with special public danger.

6. The following rules shall be observed with respect to the conveyance of explosives by public railway :

I.—No person shall send for carriage upon any railway any consignment of an explosive, unless he has given to the officer in charge of the railway station previous notice in writing which, at the option of the Railway Administration, may extend to 48 hours, of his intention to send such consignment, and stating the true name, description, quantity, and mode of packing of the explosive proposed to be conveyed, and his own name and address, and also the name and address of the proposed consignee, and unless he has had an intimation in writing from an authorized officer of the railway that such consignment will be received.

II.—No explosive which a Railway Administration shall, by any notice or regulation for the time being in force, notify that they will not receive, shall be brought, sent, or forwarded to, or upon, any railway of the said railway Administration.

III.—Consignments of explosives shall be sent to the forwarding station, and shall be received by the railway servants, only at such times, between sunrise and sunset, as the Railway Administration may appoint : and every package containing any explosive proposed to be conveyed on any railway shall immediately on arrival at the station be unloaded and placed in a safe place under the special direction of the officer in charge of the station.

IV.—An explosive must be removed by the consignee from the receiving station during the twelve hours of daylight after arrival : if this condition is not strictly complied with, the Railway Administration may return the consignment to the consignor at his risk and expense. And such packages shall in the meanwhile be kept as far away from the station buildings as possible, in the wagon they were conveyed in, or, if unloaded, shall be completely covered with tarpaulins or other suitable material, and, if necessary, shall be protected by a police guard.

V.—The Railway Administration may refuse to receive any packages which they suspect to contain any explosive packed or sent in contravention of these regulations. And in case any package, which the Railway Administration suspect, shall be upon any railway, they may open, or require to be opened, any such package, to ascertain the fact, at the risk and expense of the consignor, and may return the explosive contained in the package to the consignor at his risk and expense, keeping the packages pending such return in the manner prescribed in the preceding rule.

VI.—No explosive shall be conveyed by passenger train except of the kinds and in the manner hereinafter specified in this rule.

(a) Safety cartridges and percussion caps and safety fuze (for blasting), also fog signals for railway use, may be conveyed by passenger train, in ordinary wagons or carriages.

(b) Dynamite may be carried in the form of cartridges up to the limit of 5lbs., provided that no detonators are carried in the same compartment.

(c) Detonators to the number of 200 may be carried, provided that in no case the amount of fulminate of mercury in the package or packages containing the detonators exceeds in the aggregate 3oz. (a certificate to this effect being given by the Agent of the Company by whom the detonators are tendered for transport), provided also that no dynamite is carried in the same compartment.

(d) Sporting gunpowder or non-safety cartridges packed in double cases as before provided, so long as the gunpowder is contained in one-pound tin canisters packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark-proof, or in metal-lined cases of a pattern approved by the Railway Administration. But no outer case shall contain more than 25lbs. of gunpowder, and the total consignment of gunpowder or non-safety cartridges by one train shall not exceed 80lbs.

VII.—Not more than five carriages containing explosives shall be loaded or unloaded at any railway station, or be conveyed by any one train at any one time; and the quantity of explosive to be contained in any one carriage shall not exceed two-thirds of the normal load, unless the carriage shall be specially built and approved of by the Government of India for the conveyance of explosives. But nothing in this clause shall be held to apply to separate consignments of small-arms ammunition.

VIII.—There shall not be conveyed in the same carriage with any explosive, any lucifer or other matches, fuzees, pipelights, acids, naphtha, paraffine, petroleum to which the Petroleum Act or any Act repealing or amending the same applies, or any other volatile spirit or substance liable to give off an inflammable vapour or liable to spontaneous ignition, or to cause or communicate fire or explosion.

IX.—The consignor shall attach to the consignment note a certificate signed by an officer authorized by the Local Government in this behalf that the explosive, if it is gun-cotton, dynamite, or blasting gelatine, is of the standard purity, and has undergone no deteriorations since its manufacture; and further in the case of dynamite, that the cartridges have been examined and show no signs of exuded nitro-glycerine. The consignor shall also certify that the cartridges have been packed in this country in accordance with the packing rules.

X.—In the case of dynamite the outer package shall be marked with the date on which the dynamite was packed, and be secured with a leaden seal in token of the inspection having been made.

XI.—The certificate referred to in Rule IX shall be valid for six months after date, if the examination has been made between the 15th October and 31st March; but any Railway Administration which accepts dynamite for transport may demand a fresh certificate for dynamite presented for conveyance between 1st April and 15th October (both inclusive).

XII.—Packages containing dynamite shall be stowed in one layer only and secured so as to prevent movement during transit. The gross load in any one wagon shall not exceed 3 tons.

XIII.—No explosives belonging to the 5th (fulminate) class or to class VI, division 3, shall be carried in the same train with dynamite, or with any other explosive belonging to class III, division 1.

XIV.—Wagons used for the carriage of explosives shall be examined to see that they are spark-proof, and have been cleaned out before they are loaded. Hair cloth, hides, or other suitable material shall be spread on the floor of the wagon and between each layer of packages, except when the packages are covered with gunny or felt, or contain small-arms ammunition, packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes.

XV.—Wagons containing explosives shall be loaded and unloaded on sidings distant as far as possible from the station buildings.

XVI.—More than three layers of packages containing explosives shall never be packed one above another, except in the case of small-arms ammunition packed in tin-lined service-pattern boxes, when such a restriction is unnecessary. The loading and unloading of explosives when once begun shall be diligently proceeded with during daylight until the same is completed.

XVII.—When the train is being marshalled, wagons loaded with explosives may be shunted by a locomotive, provided that they are separated from the engine by not less than three wagons containing no explosive nor easily inflammable substance; this precaution is not necessary with wagons specially constructed for the carriage of explosive. The speed of these movements will be restricted to 5 miles an hour; they will be superintended by a duly authorized officer, who will be held responsible for the observance of these orders. Flying shunts are strictly prohibited.

XVIII.—Wagons containing explosives shall be placed at the end of the train away from the locomotive, and shall be close coupled to one another, as well as to the adjoining wagons, and must be preceded and followed by three wagons not loaded with explosive or other traffic of an inflammable nature.

XIX.—If the wagons employed in the transport of explosive, as well as those immediately adjoining them, are provided with brakes, the brakes shall on no account be worked.

XX.—Wagons must in every case be locked when loaded with explosives.

XXI.—All operations connected with the transhipment of explosives at junction stations shall take place during daylight.

7. If any person commits a breach of any of the foregoing rules relating to the mode of conveyance of explosives, he shall be punished with a fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000.

IMPORTATION.

8. An explosive shall not be imported by sea into British India, except under and in accordance with the conditions of a license to import the explosive granted under these rules:

Provided that any explosive other than an explosive specified in Rule 11 may, previous to the grant of an importation license, if certified to be of British manufacture or, if not of British manufacture, if imported from the United Kingdom and covered by the certificate granted by one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Explosives in England, be landed in accordance with such regulations as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, and be stored in a place set apart by the Local Government for this purpose. The Governor-General in Council may extend this privilege to any such explosive not of British manufacture regarding which he is satisfied that it has been manufactured under adequate official supervision.

Before any explosive is landed under the proviso to this rule, the consignee shall give to the Chief Customs Officers of the Port such undertaking, with or without security, as the said officer thinks sufficient, to obey, in the event of the explosive failing to satisfy the prescribed tests, such directions as to its disposal as the Local Government may see fit to prescribe.

9. If any person imports an explosive in contravention of Rule 8, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to three thousand rupees.

10. An explosive shall not be imported by sea except at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, Calicut, Kurrachee, and Aden; but a license to import an explosive by sea from Rangoon into the ports of Akyab, Moulmein, Sandoway, Kyouk-Phyoo, Tavoy, and Mergui may be granted by the Magistrates of the districts in which these ports are respectively situated. The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be one rupee, and the license shall be in Form A in the Schedule hereto annexed.

11. If the explosive is gunpowder or an explosive of the 1st division of the 6th (ammunition) class or an explosive of the 7th (firework) class, the license to import the same may be granted at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay by the Commissioner of Police, and at the ports of Rangoon, Calicut, Kurrachee, and Aden by the District Magistrate.

12. The fee payable in respect of each such license shall be Rs. 10.

13. Licenses for the importation by sea of any explosive other than those specified in Rule 11 shall be granted by the Local Government or by some officer specially authorized by the Local Government in this behalf.

14. No license for the importation of any explosive of the description referred to in Rule 13 shall be granted unless samples of the explosive taken, as hereinafter provided, are certified by the Chemical Examiner, or some other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, to pass the test which may from time to time be prescribed for such explosive by the Government of India.

15. On the arrival in any port at which importation of explosives is lawful of a ship having on board an explosive other than an explosive of the description referred to in Rule 11, such officer as the Chief Customs Officer authorizes in this behalf shall, as soon as may be, proceed on board and obtain samples of the explosive.

The master of the ship shall give to the said officer, without charge, such samples as he may require. The said officer shall affix to each such sample the name of the ship and of the consignee and such other distinguishing marks as he may think necessary, and shall forward the same to the Chemical Examiner or officer as aforesaid for report.

The Chemical Examiner or officer as aforesaid, after testing the said samples, shall without delay forward to the licensing authority, through the Chief Customs Officer, a report under his signature certifying whether the explosive has satisfied the prescribed test.

16. The period for which a license to import an explosive, granted under Rule 13, shall continue in force shall not exceed such period as may seem necessary to the authority granting the license.

17. The fee payable on a license granted under Rule 13 shall be Rs. 10.

18. Every license granted under Rules 11 and 13 shall be in Form A in the Schedule hereto annexed, and shall be subject to the conditions therein prescribed, and also to such additional conditions with respect to the time and place of unloading, landing, delivery, and conveyance of the explosive, and such other conditions as may in each case be thought by the licensing officer to be necessary for the public safety or in the interests of the State.

19. If any person commits a breach of any condition subject to which a license under Rules 11 and 13 is granted, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to three thousand rupees.

GENERAL.

20. Every license granted under these rules shall be liable to be forfeited on breach of any of the conditions subject to which it is granted.

21. If a person licensed to import an explosive dies or becomes bankrupt, or becomes mentally incapable or otherwise disabled, the person carrying on the business of such license shall not be liable to any penalty or forfeiture under the Act or the rules made thereunder for acting under the license during such reasonable time as may be necessary to allow him to make an application to the authority granting the license for a new license in his own name during the currency of the unexpired portion of the original license. Such new license shall be granted on the payment of one rupee.

22. The fees leviable under these rules shall be taken in the shape of "impressed stamps." Ordinarily the applications for license or renewals of licenses shall, if not otherwise provided, be written on "impressed stamps" of value equal to the amount of fee leviable in respect of such licenses or renewals, the licenses themselves being issued on plain paper. But when the licenses themselves are written or printed on impressed stamps, the application may be on plain paper. When an application for license is written on an impressed stamp, and the license is refused, the value of the stamp will on application be refunded to the applicant.

23. When a license granted in accordance with these rules is lost, or accidentally destroyed, a duplicate may be granted to the licensee on payment of a fee of 8 annas.

24. Any person holding a license, or acting under a license, granted in accordance with these rules, shall be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by any Magistrate, or by any police officer in charge of a police-station, or by any police officer of higher rank.

25. All Magistrates or other authorities acting under these rules will perform their duties, subject to the control of their executive superiors and of the Local Government.

26. Any authority empowered to grant a license under the foregoing rules may, if he thinks fit, direct by an order written on the license that it shall have the effect of a like license under the Indian Arms Act, 1878.

27. Any persons lawfully entitled under the Indian Arms Act, 1878, or the rules made thereunder, to possess any explosive coming under the head of ammunition as defined in that Act, may possess or import without license under these rules any such explosive in reasonable quantities for his own private use: but when an explosive is so imported, the Collector of Customs or any other officer empowered by the Local Government in this behalf by name or by virtue of his office may at any time detain such explosive until he receives the orders of the Local Government thereon.

Conditions.

1. This license is given subject to the provisions of "The Indian Explosives Act, 1884," and the Rules framed thereunder.

2. This license becomes void after expiry of the period named thereon.

3. This license is valid for importation only: if the articles named herein are to be transported to any place outside the Presidency Town, they must be protected by a transport license, to be issued in accordance with the Rules framed under the Indian Arms Act, 1878.

4. On the outside of each package there shall be affixed in conspicuous characters by means of a brand or securely attached label or mark the word "Explosive," followed by the name of the explosive or other description of the contents, and the name and address of the owners or senders.

No. 1418.—With reference to Rule 14 of the Rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives, published with Home Department Notification No. 1417, dated the 24th June 1887, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following Rule on the subject of the tests which certain explosives shall be required to pass before their importation is permitted:—

Rule.

The following explosives and none others shall be liable to be tested under these Rules:—

(1) All nitro-compounds included in class III, division 1.
(2) Nitro-compounds containing guncotton included in class III, division 2.
(3) Chlorate-mixtures containing nitro-glycerine included in class IV, division 2.

2. To nitro-compound mixtures included in class III, division 1, except methylic nitrate, the following tests are applicable:—

(a) Heat test for nitro-glycerine contained in dynamite and analogous nitro-glycerine preparations;
(b) Heat test for nitro-glycerine preparations;
(c) Heat test for blasting gelatine and gelatine dynamite;
(d) Test for liquefaction of blasting gelatine and gelatine dynamite;
(e) Test for liability to exudation of blasting gelatine and gelatine dynamite.

3. To those nitro-compound mixtures included in class III, division 2, which contain guncotton, the heat test for nitro-glycerine preparations in clause (b) of the preceding paragraph is applicable.

4. To those chlorate-mixtures contained in class IV, division 2, which contain nitro-glycerine, one or more of the five tests contained in paragraph 2 above are applicable, but the precise test or tests to be applied shall be regulated by the composition of the explosive.

5. The tests specified above shall be applied in the following manner:—

HEAT TEST FOR NITRO-GLYCERINE CONTAINED IN DYNAMITE AND ANALOGOUS NITRO-GLYCERINE PREPARATIONS.

Apparatus required.

1. Test-tubes from 5½ inches to 5½ inches long, and of such diameter that they will hold from 20 to 22 cubic centimeters of water when filled to a height of 5 inches.

2. The test-tubes to be fitted with perforated corks, which should be conical so as to fit all the tubes equally well. The perforations hold glass rods provided with a hook of glass or platinum to hold the test-paper.

3. The heating apparatus, as prescribed with the original Government heat test.* This apparatus is described at page 112 of the Report of the Special Committee on guncotton, 1871 to 1874.

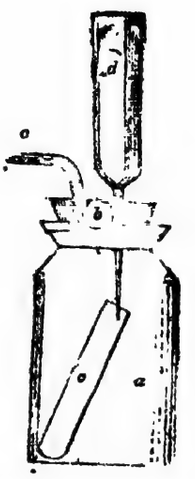
Materials required.

a. Test-paper.—The test-paper is prepared as follows:—45 grains of white starch, previously washed with cold water, are added to 8½ ounces of distilled water; the mixture is stirred, heated to boiling, and kept gently boiling for 10 minutes; 15 grains of pure potassium iodide (i.e., which has been re-crystallized from alcohol) are dissolved into 8½ ounces of distilled water. The two solutions are thoroughly mixed and allowed to get cold. Strips or sheets of white English filter paper, previously washed with water and re-dried, are dipped into the solution thus prepared, and allowed to remain in it for not less that 10 seconds; they are then allowed to drain and dry in a place free from laboratory fumes and dust. The upper and lower margins of the strips or sheets are cut off, and the paper is preserved in well stoppered or corked bottles and in the dark. The dimensions of the pieces of test-paper used are about $\frac{4}{10}$ inch by $\frac{8}{10}$ inch (10 mm. by 20 mm).

b. Standard tint paper.—A solution of caramel in water is made of such concentration that when diluted one hundred times (10 cc. made up to 1 litre) the tint of this diluted solution equals the tint produced by the Nessler test in 100 cc. water containing 0·000075 grm. of ammonia or 0·00023505 grm. of chloride of ammonium. With this caramel solution lines are drawn on strips of white filter paper* by means of a clean quill-pen. When the marks thus produced are dry, the paper is cut into pieces of the same size as the test-paper previously described in such a way that each piece has a brown line across it near the middle of its length, and only such strips are preserved in which the brown line has a breadth varying from ½ mm. to 1 mm. ($\frac{1}{50}$th of an inch to $\frac{1}{25}$th of an inch).

* A globe of copper or other suitable material may be used instead of the glass globe, and any efficient gas regulator, such as a Parker's regulator, may be substituted in place of Scheibler's regulator.

Preparation of the Sample to be tested.



a. Apparatus required.—A wide-mouthed bottle (a) of about 6 oz. capacity, to which is fitted an india-rubber stopper (b) having two perforations. Through one of these passes the bent tube (c), through the other the filtering tube (d). The latter should have sufficient capacity to hold about 500 grains of dynamite. Within the bottle is placed a small test-tube (e) to receive the nitro-glycerine filtering through (d).

b Mode of operation.—About 400 grains of dynamite, finely divided, are placed into the filtering tube (d) (small piece of cotton-wool having previously been pushed into the contracted part of the tube), and made to fill it as evenly as possible by shaking and tapping; the upper surface is smoothed by gently pressing with a wooden rammer.

Water is then poured on the top of the dynamite and allowed to sink into it by its own weight until a sufficient quantity of nitro-glycerine has been displaced. The bent tube (c) may then be connected with the filtering pump or other means of reducing the pressure in the bottle, the displacement of the nitro-glycerine being thus accelerated.

The nitro-glycerine collects in the tube (e), and the operation is stopped before the water reaches the narrow part of the filtering tube.

If any water should have passed through with the nitro-glycerine, it should be removed with a piece of blotting paper, and the nitro-glycerine, if necessary, filtered through a dry paper filter.

Application of the Test.

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the glass globe into the water (which is to be steadily maintained at a temperature of 160° F.) to a depth of 2¾ inches. Fifty grains of nitro-glycerine to be tested are weighed into a test-tube in such a way as not to soil the sides of the tube. A test-paper is fixed on the hook of the glass rod, so that, when inserted into the tube, it will be in a vertical position. A sufficient amount of a mixture of half distilled water and half glycerine is now applied to the upper edge of the test-paper by means of a camel's hair pencil to moisten the upper half of the papers, the cork carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test-tube, and the position of the paper adjusted, so that its lower edge is about halfway down the tube; the latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to such a depth that the lower edge of the test-paper is just above the surface of the cover. The test is complete when the faint brown line which after a time makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist part of the paper equals in tint the brown line of the standard tint paper.

The nitro-glycerine under examination will be considered as "thoroughly purified" within the terms of the license, whenever the time necessary to produce the standard tint as above described is not less than 15 minutes.

* This paper must be carefully washed with distilled water in the first instance to remove any traces of bleaching matter, and dried.

HEAT TEST FOR NITRO-GLYCERINE PREPARATIONS.

Fig. I.

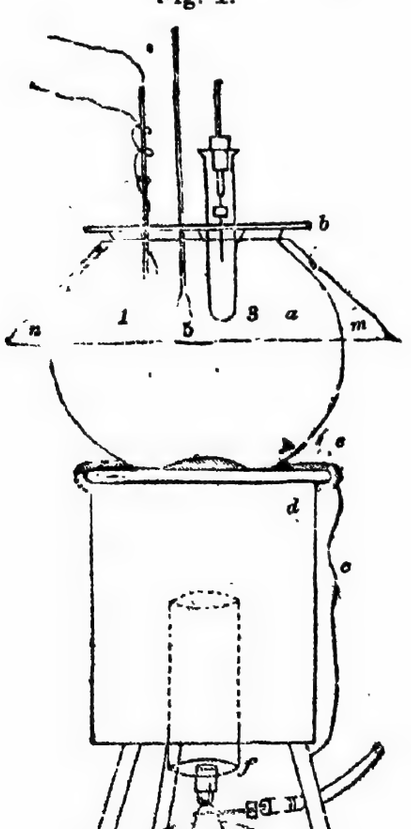


Fig. II.

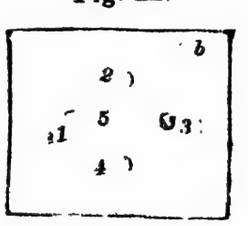

Fig. III.

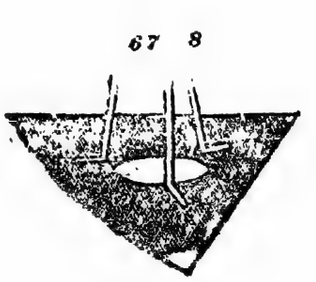

Fig. IV.

Apparatus required—1. A spherical glass vessel (Fig. I.) about 8 inches diameter (a), filled with water to within a quarter of an inch of the edge, having a loose cover of sheet tin or copper about 7 inches square (b), rests on a tripod stand about 14 inches high (c) covered with coarse iron-wire gauze (e), and surrounded with a screen of thin sheet copper (d). Within this is placed an argand burner (f) with glass chimney. Over the glass globe is placed a common green paper lamp shade (m, n). The cover (b) has five holes arranged as seen in Fig. II ; No. 5 to receive the thermometer ; No. 1, the regulator ; No. 4, a small funnel ; and Nos. 2 and 3, test-tubes, containing the guncotton to be tested. Around holes 2 and 3, on the underside of the cover, are soldered 3 pieces of the brass wire with points slightly converging (Fig. III. turned upside down) ; these, acting as springs, allow the test-tubes to be easily placed in position and removed.

2. Scheibler's temperature regulator.
3. Two cells of Le Clanche's battery No. 1.
4. A few yards of insulated copper wire.
5. Test-tubes about $\frac{5}{8}$ inch diameter, and not less than 5 inches long.
6. Glass rod with a flat head—of sufficient length to reach the bottom of test-tubes.
7. Corks, fitting the test-tubes and carrying an arrangement for holding the test-paper (a thin glass tube passing through the centre of the cork, drawn out and terminating in a platinum wire hook, Fig. IV).
8. A thermometer with range not less than from 30° to 212° Fahrenheit.
9. A minute clock.

Materials required.—The test-paper is prepared as follows :—45 grains of white starch are added to $8\frac{1}{2}$ ounces of water, and the mixture is stirred and heated to boiling ; 15 grains of iodide of potassium are dissolved in $8\frac{1}{2}$ ounces of water. The two solutions are thoroughly mixed together. Strips or sheets of white Swedish filter paper are dipped in the solution thus prepared ; they are then allowed to drain and dry. The dimensions of the pieces of test-paper used are about $\frac{1}{2}$ inch by $\frac{5}{8}$ inch. The paper should be preserved in a well stoppered or corked bottle.

Preparation of Samples for testing.—Half a cartridge of the material (or about 500 grains if it is not supplied in the form of cartridges) is thoroughly rubbed up together, so as to furnish a very uniform sample. If the material is frozen, it should first be thawed.

Application of the test.—The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the glass globe into the water (which is to be steadily maintained at a temperature of 160° Fahrenheit to a depth of $2\frac{3}{4}$ inches). Fifty grains of the samples to be tested are inserted into the test-tube and gently pressed down to the bottom with a flat headed glass rod. The test-tube is then inserted through the perforation in the cover, and is immersed in the hot water to the depth of $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches, the tube being closed with a loosely-fitting cork. A test-paper is fixed on the lower extremity of the glass rod, so that, when inserted into the tube, it will be in a vertical position. A drop of distilled water, containing 10 per cent. of pure glycerine, is applied to the upper edge of the test-paper, the quantity used being only sufficient to moisten about half of the paper ; the first cork is then taken out of the test-tube and replaced by the cork holding the glass rod and test-paper, keeping the test-paper as near the top of the test-tube as possible until the tube has been immersed for about five or six minutes. A ring of moisture will about this time be deposited in the test-tube a little above the cover of the bath ; the glass rod must then be lowered until the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is on a level with the bottom of the ring of moisture in the tube ; the paper is now closely watched. The test is complete when a very faint brown coloration makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist part of the paper. The interval of time between the first insertion of the tube containing the sample in the water at 160°, and the first appearance of discoloration on the paper, constitutes the test.

HEAT TEST FOR BLASTING GELATINE AND GELATINE DYNAMITE.

Fifty grains of blasting gelatine are to be intimately incorporated with one hundred grains of French chalk. The mixture is to be gradually introduced into a test-tube of the dimensions prescribed in the dynamite heat test, with the aid of gentle tapping upon the table between the introduction of successive portions of the mixture into the tube ; so that, when the tube contains all the mixture, it shall be filled to the extent of $1\frac{3}{4}$ inches (one inch and three-quarters) of its height. The test-paper is then to be inserted, and the heat is to be applied in the manner prescribed for the dynamite heat test, and the sample tested is to withstand exposure to 160° Fahrenheit for a period of ten minutes before producing a discoloration of the test-papers corresponding in tint to the standard colour test which is employed for governing the results of the dynamite heat test.

TEST FOR LIQUEFACTION OF BLASTING GELATINE AND GELATINE DYNAMITE.

A cylinder of blasting gelatine to be cut from the cartridge to be tested ; the length of the cylinder to be about equal to its diameter, and the ends being cut flat.

The cylinder is to be placed on end on a flat surface without any wrapper, and secured by a pin passing vertically through its centre.

In this condition the cylinder is to be exposed for one hundred and forty-four consecutive hours (six days) to a temperature ranging from 85° to 90° Fahrenheit (inclusive), and during such exposure the cylinder shall not diminish in length by more than one-fourth, and the upper cut surface shall retain its flatness and the sharpness of its edge.

NOTE.—(If the blasting gelatine and gelatine dynamite to be tested be not made up in a cylindrical form, the above test is to be applied with the necessary modifications.)

TEST FOR LIABILITY TO EXUDATION OF BLASTING GELATINE AND GELATINE DYNAMITE.

There shall be no separation from the general mass of the blasting gelatine or gelatine dynamite of a substance of less consistency than the bulk of the remaining portion of the material under any conditions of storage, transport or use, or when the material is subjected three times in succession to alternate freezing and thawing, or when subjected to the liquefaction test hereinbefore described.

CIVIL PENSION CODE.

Sections 169 (a) and (b).

Substitute the following for Sections 169 (a) and (b) :—

(a) As a rule, a pensioner must take payment in person, after identification, by comparison with the permanent pay order.

(b) A pensioner specially exempted by the Local Government from personal appearance, a female pensioner not accustomed to appear in public, or a male pensioner who is unable to appear in consequence of bodily illness or infirmity, may receive his or her pension upon the production of a Life Certificate, signed by a responsible officer of Government or by some other well-known and trustworthy person.

(c) A pensioner of any description who produces a Life Certificate, signed by some person exercising the powers of a Magistrate of any class under the Criminal Procedure Code, or by any Registrar or Sub-Registrar under the Registration Act, or by any pensioned officer who, before retirement, exercised the powers of a Magistrate, is also exempted from personal appearance.

(d) In all cases referred to in the clauses (b) and (c) the Disbursing Officer must take precautions to prevent imposition, and must, before the first payment in each year, require proof, independent of that furnished by the Life Certificate, of the continued existence of the pensioner. For this purpose he should (save in cases of exemption from personal appearance granted by the Local Government) require the personal attendance and due identification of all male pensioners who are not incapacitated by bodily illness or infirmity from so attending, and in all cases where such inability may be alleged, he should require proof thereof, in addition to the proof submitted of the pensioner's existence.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanatives.—Summary. The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the past ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed in terms of saturation, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numerical means or average of the rainfall in this district determined from the [illegible] are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in this district determined from the [illegible] in the district is found in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least [illegible] of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 5th July 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 1st OF JULY 1887.

At the close of the previous week the barometric pressure over Bengal had become largely above the normal, the average excess equalling about a tenth of an inch, though in Assam it was only equal to half this. This extremely large excess pressure naturally had the effect of diminishing the flow of the monsoon current over Bengal, and thus conditions had become favourable to a slight break in the rains. On Saturday, the 25th, these conditions remained unaltered, and pressure continued to rise by small amounts in all districts except Behar. A light monsoon wind only was blowing over the province, and on this day, beyond the rather heavy rain which was falling in North Bengal in the districts near the hills and some showers in East Bengal, rainfall was to a great extent absent. On the 26th pressure commenced to fall by moderate amounts, but still it was largely in excess of the normal, and only a feeble monsoon wind continued to blow, though on this day the westerly element in the wind directions commenced to strengthen; again little or no rain was reported except in the localities just mentioned. The fall of pressure continued on the 27th, but still the decrease was not sufficient to bring it to the normal; the westerly element in the wind directions again strengthened, and thus a certain amount of interaction took place between the two wind systems, which produced fairly general rain over the whole province on the 28th and 29th, while on the 30th the area of heavy rainfall reached North Bengal, and the stations near the hills received very heavy rain. Heavy rain also occurred in the Sonthal Pergunnahs district on the 1st. On the 28th and 29th pressure again commenced to rise over the province, while on June 30th and July 1st a fall again set in, and on the latter day also the westerly winds, which had been a prominent feature in the wind system for some days, were beginning to be driven back by an easterly wind currrent. Throughout the week therefore the monsoon current blowing over the province has been very decidedly weak over the whole area, and thus the average rainfall has been considerably below the normal. As is also usually the case when a weak monsoon wind is blowing, the rainfall has been particularly irregular in its distribution, and while some stations and districts have received abundant rain, neighbouring stations, in which the meteorological conditions have been almost precisely similar, have received little or no rain during the whole week.

Pressure—Has oscillated in the usual manner during the week, and the downward movements have been slightly greater than the upward, so that the mean pressure for the week is not quite so largely above the normal as in the previous week. Taking into consideration only those stations from which records have been received for a number of years, and which therefore give averages which can be relied on, it appears that the average pressure for the week has been 0·05″ in excess of the normal. This excess is, however, not very equally distributed, for in Orissa it is 0·11″ and in Behar about 0·05″. It may be mentioned that in Orissa, where the excess pressure has been so strongly marked, rainfall has been equally deficient.

Temperature.—Owing to the decrease in the force of the monsoon current, and to the consequent diminution in the rainfall, temperature has been generally increasing during the week, and the average temperature for the whole Province of Bengal has been 0·3° in excess of the normal, while in Assam it has been in defect by 0·8°. The distribution is, however, a little irregular, and while Chutia Nagpur, South Behar, Orissa and South-West Bengal have shown temperatures nearly 1° in excess of the normal, in East and North Bengal and in North Behar temperature has been below the normal.

Rainfall—Has been decidedly below the normal in all districts, the defect being very large in Orissa, decidedly large in Chutia Nagpur, large in South Behar and East Bengal, moderate in South-West Bengal and North Behar, and slight only in North Bengal. There was, as stated previously, a slight and partial break in the rains at the commencement of the week. Thus in Orissa the rain showers have been very light and local except on the 28th and 29th, when rain was fairly general. In South-West Bengal the only days of fairly general rain were the 28th, 29th, and the 1st, and in East Bengal fairly general rain was received on the 28th, 29th, 30th and 1st. In North Bengal and North Behar the districts near the hills have received rain almost daily, and in many instances the amounts have been very large. In South Behar the Sonthal Pergunnahs district has received heavy rain, while in the remaining part of the district the rainfall has been very light and local, and in Chutia Nagpur the rainfall has been very irregularly distributed. Compared with the normal rainfall for the period, the following were the actual falls for the week in the seven districts, expressed as percentages:—Orissa 42, South-West Bengal 76, East Bengal 73, North Bengal 94, North Behar 79, South Behar 63 and Chutia Nagpur 50. Or taking these districts as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall for the week has equalled 68 per cent. of the normal amount. The distribution of the rainfall has, however, been so irregular that these figures are somewhat misleading, as for instance in the case of South Behar, while the districts of Gya and Buxar have only received an average of a third of an inch, the Sonthal Pergunnahs district has received three and a half inches. The following are the districts in which the falls have been very largely below the normal for the week:—In Orissa, Pooree and Balasore; in South-West Bengal, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah and Burdwan; in East Bengal, Chittagong and Backergung; in North Bengal, Bogra, Pubna and Rajshahye; in North Behar, Sarun; in South Behar, Shahabad, Gya and Bankipore; and in Chutia Nagpur, Hazaribagh and Singbhoom.

In Assam rainfall has been fairly general throughout the week, and at the three stations, from which returns are received the following are the amounts of rain recorded:—At Dhubri 4·79 inches, at Silchar 4·20 inches, and at Sibsagar 2·51 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 1st of July 1887:—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·5° higher; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

CEYLON ISLAND.

SOUTH-EAST COAST.

Particulars of reported reefs between Little Bassas and Batticaloa.

THE following information, relating to the coast and the dangers off it between Little Bassas rock on the south and Batticaloa harbour on the north, is republished from the notice issued by His Excellency Rear Admiral Sir F. W. Richards, K.C.B., the Commander-in-Chief of the East India station.

The dangers reported off Komarie Point, and on which the steam-ships Graville and Macgregor are said to have struck, do not exist in the positions assigned.

A careful examination of the locality has been made by Captain Aldrich, and the officers of H. M. S. Egeria, and, as a result, the coast should not be approached nearer than 20 fathoms in thick weather between Komarie and Batticaloa.

The ridge shown on the present Admiralty sheet and in the neighbourhood of Komarie is about two miles north of its proper position, which latter is as follows :—

Its north extreme is in about latitude 7° 2′ 30″ N. and 1·4 mile from the shore.
The south extreme is in about latitude 6° 59′ N. and 0·8 mile from the shore.

It is narrow, and composed of sand and coral patches. On several of the latter there is as little as 2¾ fathoms of water. The whole forms a dangerous reef.

Outside it, and to a distance of four miles from the shore, the ground is very uneven, and a patch with 7 fathoms on it lies 3·7 miles from the nearest shore, and from it Aganis Peak bears N. 69° W. (true).

The effects of the winds and currents hereabouts, as also on the edge of the Bank of Soundings, are seen in heavy overfalls and tide rips, which may be mistaken for shoal water, sometimes being met with even in the finest weather.

The closely approximate position of the Alphee shoal is in latitude 7° 26′N.; longitude 81° 51′ 30″ E., coral; least water 3¼ fathoms.

Komarie Point is a rounded curve in the coast line, and cannot be distinguished as a point from the sea, unless very close in to the shore.

The appearance of the coast changes at times very rapidly, and estimated distances were often found much in error during the survey.

Charts affected—813, Ceylon, sheet 1; 2031, Ceylon, sheet 2; 828, Cape Comorin to Cocanada; 70, Bay of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 9th July 1887.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules to regulate the manufacture, possession, and sale of explosives in the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

2. Nothing in the rules relating to the possession of explosives shall apply in any port, as defined in the Indian Ports Act, 1875, for which the local Government may have made, or may make, special rules under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, to regulate the possession of explosives.

J. WARE EDGAR,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER THE EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1884, FOR THE MANUFACTURE POSSESSION, AND SALE OF EXPLOSIVES IN THE LOWER PROVINCES OF BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY.

1. For the purposes of these rules, explosives shall be classified as follows, namely—

Class	1	Gunpowder.
„	2	Nitrate-mixture.
„	3	Nitro-compound.
„	4	Chlorate-mixture.
„	5	Fulminate.
„	6	Ammunition.
„	7	Firework.

When an explosive falls within the description of more than one class, it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls.

CLASS 1.—Gunpowder Class.

The term "gunpowder" means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called.

CLASS 2.—Nitrate-mixture Class.

The term "nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance.

The nitrate-mixture class comprises such explosives as—

Pyrolithe,
Pudrolithe,
Poudre saxifragine,

and any preparation coming within the above definition.

CLASS 3.—Nitro-compound Class.

The term "nitro-compound" means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not.

The nitro-compound class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Nitro-glycerine,	Dualine,
Dynamite,	Glyoxiline,
Lithofracteur,	Methylic-nitrate,

and any chemical compound or mechanically-mixed preparation which consists either wholly or partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound,

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Gun-cotton, ordinarily so called,	Cotton gunpowder,
Gun-paper,	Schultz's powder,
Xyloidine,	Nitro-mannite,
Gun-sawdust,	Picrates,
Nitrated gun-cotton,	Picric powder,

and any nitro-compound as before defined, which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture Class.

The term "chlorate-mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder, | Brain's blasting powder,

and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,
Erhardt's powder,
Reverley's powder,
Hochstadter's blasting charges,
Reichen's blasting charges,
Teutonite,
Chlorated gun-cotton,

CLASS 5.—Fulminate Class.

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture, whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion, and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

This class consists of two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury, and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorous, or certain descriptions of phosphorous compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphuret, with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—Ammunition Class.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when, enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting, which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction and contains an explosive in such quantity that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartidges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges.

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

Safety cartridges.
Safety fuzes for blasting.
Railway fog signals.
Percussion caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition as before defined which does not contain its own means of ignition, and is not included in division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,
Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,
War rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION No. 222.

The 7th of July 1887.

THE annual accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Dacca, Furreedpore, Backergunge, and Mymensingh for the cess year 1885-86, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, are published for general information.

W. B. BESTIC,

Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
P. W. Dept.

No. 319, dated Dacca, the 14th January 1887.

From—F. WYER, Esq., Chairman of the District Board of Dacca,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith, in duplicate, the detailed accounts of the receipts and expenditure of the Road Fund of this district for the cess year ending on the 30th September 1886, together with the following report on the works of local improvement that were undertaken during that year.

2. Original Works.—The chief original works undertaken during the year under report are the following. Owing to the encroachment of the Boorigunga river, a retired line of road at Pagla, on the 5th mile of the road from Dacca to Naraingunge, was constructed. The earthen embankment of the road was made in the year 1884-85, and the metalling was completed during the year under review.

3. A bridge of two spans of 20 feet each was constructed over the Balliarpoor khall on the 3rd section of the Dacca-Manickgunge road. The masonry works of the bridge were completed during the preceding year, and the iron superstructure was put up during the year under report and the bridge opened to traffic.

4. For the convenience of the pilgrims and votaries visiting the durgah of Shaha Alli Shaheb, well known in East Bengal, two roads were constructed at the instance and expense of Nawab Ashanullah, Khan Bahadur. The durgah 1st road, which could not be completed during the preceding year for want of land, was fully made during the year under report. The durgah 2nd road was also taken in hand and completed.

5. Survey operations.—The principal survey works carried on during the year under review were—

(a) Survey of the proposed road from the banks of the Dhulleswari river to the 1st mile of the Moonsheegunge road.
(b) Survey of the 1st mile of the Moonsheegunge road.
(c) Survey of the Boorigunga river in front of the town of Dacca.
(e) Taking levels on the Chulye khall.

6. River improvement.—For the improvement of the Boorigunga river in front of the town of Dacca, some bandels and spurs were put up. Their effect has not been found out, but will be ascertained by the District Engineer by means of levels and soundings which are proposed to be taken across the river's bed in the end of the present cold weather.

7. Ferry.—For the convenience of the public, the late Road Cess Committee of Dacca took over the ferry between Naraingunge and Moonsheegunge, and commenced plying a ferry steamer from 1st April 1886. The launch required for the purpose was hired, but one will be purchased if a suitable one can be bought for the amount sanctioned (Rs. 10,000). The working of the steam ferry was satisfactory except during rains, when the traffic of passengers went down owing to the submergence of the surrounding country, and nearly every one having his own boat.

8. Repairs.—The District Engineer reports that all the existing district roads were in a very fair state of repair, but all of them, with the exception of the Mugh bazar and the Demra roads, sustained damage from the extraordinary high flood of the last year. The damage will be made good in the present year.

9. In the road from Dacca to Naraingunge, the metalling operations were carried out systematically, and the quadrennial system of renewing entire miles was adhered to. The whole of the 7th mile, the 5th mile, exclusive of the old road at Pagla, and the 2nd mile, excluding the portion under the charge of the Dacca Municipality, were renewed with jhama metal well consolidated with Bhawal kunkar. The road is now in very good order.

10. Arboriculture.—During the year under report new plants provided with strong bamboo enclosures were planted on the road from Mirpore to the Dhulleswari. The planting was carried out during rains, but was not successfully completed owing to the submergence of a portion of the road during flood. The work has since been resumed and completed. In the under-mentioned roads new plants were planted in place of those died out, and enclosures were renewed and put round them to protect them from cattle:—

Road from Dacca to Naraingunge, No. 1.
Road from Dacca to Toke, No. 3.
Road from Sealo to Manickgunge, No. 6.
Road from Mirpoor to Dacca, No. 10.

11. The maintenance and watering of trees and plants were carried on by malies under the supervision of overseers in charge of the roads. The trees are reported by the District Engineer to be in a good condition, but many of the young plants that were planted at the beginning of the rains died owing to the unusual rise of flood late in the season. Some jack trees also died out owing to the same cause.

12. Village communications, both in the shape of original works and repairs, were executed by the District Road Cess Committee, as well as by the Branch Committees of Manickgunge and Moonsheegunge, out of the allotments set apart for the purpose, the details of which have been given in the annual account, and do not require any special comment.

13. In the following two instances the grants for village roads in the Sudder subdivision were supplemented by local subscriptions. The villagers of Soorgunge in thanna Nawabgunge contributed Rs. 50 for the construction of a road from their village to the bank of the Isamatty river, which cost Rs. 150; and the villagers of Kyburto Kunda in the aforesaid thanna contributed Rs. 75 for repairing the road leading from their village to the bank of the river Pudda, which cost Rs. 199-2. The lands required for the construction of village works were given gratis in all cases.

15. The members of the District Road Committee took interest in their work, and transacted their business satisfactorily, with the exception of those who did not attend a single meeting. Four members of the Moonsheegunge Branch Committee and one member of the Manickgunge Branch Committee did not attend a single meeting. The rest of the members of those Committees have worked fairly well.

16. The Cess Act appears to have worked smoothly during the year under report.

17. The different establishments under the late Road Cess Committee have worked well and given satisfaction in the discharge of their respective duties. The District Engineer has continued to perform his work well, as does the accountant and head clerk, Baboo Rakhal Chandra Singh.

K. MAHOMED AZZIM,
Vice-Chairman.

No. 28—III-5, dated Faridpur, the 31st March 1887.

From—F. H. BARROW, Esq, Chairman, District Board, Faridpur,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the administration of the District Road Fund of this district for the cess year 1885-86, together with the accounts, in duplicate, of the receipts and expenditure of the fund for the year.

2. As the Standing Sub-Committee appointed by the District Road Committee, under section 174 of the Cess Act, IX of 1880, ceased to exist on the introduction of the Local Self-Government Act on the 1st of October last, these accounts were audited and passed by the Finance Committee appointed by the District Board under section 55 of the latter.

3. Revenue.—The total revenue during the year was Rs. 62,400, as against Rs. 61,556 of the previous year and Rs. 69,468 estimated in the budget. Thus there was during the year an increase of Rs. 844 over the revenue of the previous year, but it fell short of the estimate by Rs. 7,068.

4. Road cess.—This difference between the estimate and the actual revenue shown above was principally owing to the short collection under the head of road cess, which was Rs. 6,714 less than or about 89 per cent. of the amount estimated in the budget. This compares very unfavourably with the cess collection of the previous year, which fell short of the estimated amount by only Rs. 2,363, or about 96 per cent. of the estimate. The amount of outstanding arrear of road cess at the close of the year under report was Rs. 25,508, as against Rs 24,200 at the close of the previous year, which was unsatisfactory. The actual receipt, however, under this head was more than that of the previous year by Rs. 2,503, the cess being levied at the minimum rate as heretofore.

5. The receipts under the heads of fees, fines and forfeitures and interest was more than what was expected at the time of framing the budget.

6. Committees—* * * * The percentage of average attendance of members of the District Committee and the Branch Committee of Madaripur is better than that of the two previous years. The members of the District Committee, with a few exceptions, took a real interest in the business of the Committee. The Sub-Committees appointed for audit and other purposes, though not always regular, discharged the duties entrusted to them creditably and to the best of their abilities. The office of the Vice-Chairman of the District Road Committee was filled, for the first few months of the year, by Babu Ambika Charan Majumdar, who retired after the expiry of the term of his office, and then by Babu Gangadhar Majumdar, the present Vice-Chairman of the District Board. Both of these gentlemen took active interest in their work, and devoted much of their time to the performance of their honorary duties. The members of the Branch Committees also are reported by their Chairmen to have taken interest in the administration of the funds placed at their disposal.

7. Examination of accounts.—The accounts of the fund up to July 1886 were audited by the Standing Sub-Committee appointed under section 174 of the Cess Act and by an assistant of the Examiner of Local Accounts. And those for the last two months of the year, as well as the annual accounts, were examined by the Finance Committee under the new Act, as stated in paragraph 2. The results of these audits and examinations were generally satisfactory.

8. Original works.—It is satisfactory to note that the expenditure on original district works was more than that incurred for the same purpose in any one of the last six years, as will be seen from the comparative statement given below:—

	1880-81.	1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Expenditure on district roads under original works	44,513 9 1	24,061 1 4	1,900 0 0	19,280 15 7	31,016 14 4	53,001 13 1

9. The most important work under this head, or the one on which largest outlay was incurred during the year, was the construction of the road from Maniknagore to Madaripur. The estimate for a section of this road from Maniknagore to Bhanga, about 11 miles in length, amounting to Rs. 70,000, including land compensation, had been sanctioned in March 1885. The work was undertaken during the cess year 1885-86, and about 6¾th miles of it was completed. This work has been taken up again this year, and it is proposed to construct the quarter mile remaining unfinished on this side of Pookhuria on the Kumar. As the Kumar is navigable to Bhanga throughout the year, the completion of the road up to that point should prove useful to the people of the south.

10. The work of next importance was the feeder road from Ramdia to Belgachi station of the Eastern Bengal State Railway. This road, which is about 6 miles in length, was taken up and completed during the year. I inspected parts of both the above roads in my cold-weather tour.

11. The construction of the new office building was another work of importance. It was commenced on the 1st of May 1886, and the masonry work was completed within the year. It has since been finished and occupied, and has supplied a great want.

12. The other works under this head were the substitution of iron platforms for wooden ones in three bridges on the Jessore road, the construction of two pucca culverts on the same road, and two on the new Talma road, and also of an iron bridge on the Matipara road. All the works were satisfactorily completed.

13. It will be seen from the accounts that all important works provided for in the budget were taken up during the year, excepting the Morapadma bridge on the Rajbari road and the Modhukhali road bridges. There was a provision of Rs. 4,000 for the former and Rs. 7,000 for the latter which was proposed to be spent in manufacturing bricks and collecting other materials. A contract was given for brickwork of the Morapadma bridge, and the required quantity of bricks was burnt, but the outturn was not very good. The contractor has, however, been called upon to supply bricks from other sources. Owing to these causes the payment was not made within the year. This work has been taken up during the current year, but difficulties have been met with owing to the sub-soil being found to be sandy or of a quagmiry nature upon which it is not advisable to build the foundation. Instructions of the Superintending Engineer, Eastern Circle, have been asked for, and he will inspect the bridge shortly

14. The work of the Modhukhali road bridges was not undertaken, as it was considered unadvisable to take up this work before the more important ones, such as the Morapadma bridge and the Madaripur and Belgachi Railway station roads which were already in hand, were completed. No provision for this project has been made even in the current year's budget on the above grounds.

15. Repairs.—Almost all the district roads were repaired during the year and brought into passable order The allotments made in the budget for the repairs of district roads were spent as far as was necessary. It was only in few instances that no part of the allotment was spent, the causes of which have been explained in the notes accompanying the accounts.

16. The expenditure of Rs. 5,416 during the year under report, as shown in the margin, was incurred for improving nearly 135 miles of district roads giving an average expenditure of about Rs. 40 per mile, as against Rs. 71 of the previous year.

Expenditure on repairs of district roads	11,727 2 3	7,599 3 4	9,425 0 4	8,398 6 5	5,416 0 0

17. The exceptionally high floods of the last year have done considerable damage to almost all the roads in the district. Some of the embankments had to be cut by the department to allow passage of flood-water on the application of the villagers. This was also necessary for the protection of embankments, as the existing waterways were hardly sufficient.

18. Village roads.—During the year under report 44 village roads, as per margin, were constructed or repaired at a total cost of Rs. 5,132 12-6, against an allotment of Rs. 7,500 made in the budget. It will be seen from the accounts that the Branch Committee of Goalundo spent nearly the whole amount placed at their disposal for village roads. The expenditure by the Branch Committee of Madaripur fell a little short of the budget allotment. The expenditure at the Sudder also was considerably less than the allotment. This was owing to several causes. In some cases the villagers did not come forward to receive the sanctioned grants. In others they could not deposit the amount they were called upon to contribute; for on dealing with applications for village roads the principle followed was to grant allotments where the villagers themselves were ready to pay part of the cost.

19. Water-supply and water-works.—During the year under report only four tanks, as shown in the margin, were excavated in the district at a cost of Rs. 637-14-1; and Rs. 175 was paid by the Goalundo Committee and Rs. 17 by the Sudder Branch Committee for tanks excavated in the previous year. It will thus be seen that the total expenditure under this head amounts only to Rs. 829-14-1, against Rs. 1,500 provided in the budget.

20. Contributions.—During the year under report only Rs. 200 was received as contribution in cash. This was realised by the Sudder Committee for a village road for which they granted only Rs. 150. The District Committee realised some Rs. 100 more as contribution for a tank; but as the villagers could not do the work, it was ultimately refunded. Besides cash, contributions appear to have been realised by work done at the cost of the villagers themselves for tanks and village roads executed by the Branch Committees. But the contributions were not such as they ought to have been. The present Local Boards, to whose control and administration the allotments for village roads and tanks have been transferred, have been impressed with the necessity of realising something as contribution to supplement the grant for each new village road or tank.

21. Tramways.—As stated in the report of the previous year, the question of opening a steam tramway on the Rajbari road (from Rajbari Station of the Eastern Bengal State Railway to Faridpur, a distance of about 20 miles) had been under the consideration of the Committee since so far back as 1882. The matter is still undecided, and it will be well now to wait and see the effect of the changes now going on in the Eastern Bengal State Railway.

22. Establishment.—The services of the District Engineer, Mr. Williams, have since been dispensed with. He was too old to properly discharge the duties of his office.

23. The two overseers did fair work, but were not properly supervised by the District Engineer.

24. I had every reason to be satisfied with the establishment under the Committee. The accountant, Babu Kumud Nath Chatterjea, takes much interest in his duties, and rendered me efficient help. Babu Srinath Ghosh, head clerk of the Collection establishment, has also given me satisfaction.

Copy of resolution No. 2 passed by the District Board of Faridpur at their meeting held on the 31*st March* 1887.

2. The annual accounts and report for the cess year ending on the 30th September 1886 were laid before the meeting.

Proposed by Babu Deno Nath Das, seconded by Babu Kedar Nath Datta, and carried unanimously—That they be passed and forwarded to the Commissioner.

GANGADHAR MAZOOMDAR,

Vice-Chairman.

Notes to accompany the Annual Accounts for the cess year 1885-86

(a). The heading "District Board" has been opened on the Receipt and Expenditure side of the accounts under Accountant-General of Bengal's No. 805L.F., dated the 31st January 1887, for transferring the balances of the cash-book and of the advance and deposit accounts to the District Board.

(a[1]). The remission of cess was sanctioned by Board's letter No. 737A., dated the 28th December 1885, forwarded with Commissioner's No. 801N., dated the 8th January 1886.

(b). The difference of Re. 1-5-4 is due to the deduction of income-tax from the salary of the head clerk on the 30th of September 1886, which could not be paid into the treasury within that month.

(c). The offices being closed for Poojah holidays on the 1st of October 1886, the salaries for September were drawn on the 30th of that month under the authority of Accountant-General, Bengal; consequently the charges were included in the account for the cess year 1885-86: hence the budget allotment has been exceeded.

(d). The difference of Re. 1-12-4 is due to the same cause as explained in (b).

(e). The services of the duftry were dispensed with from the 1st October 1885; but his salary for September 1885 was paid in October, and the charge has been shown in this account.

(f). The cause of excess over the budget allotment is the same as explained in note (e) about the collection office.

(g). No English stationery was required to be purchased during the year: hence the large savings.

(h). This work was done and payment made from the amount deposited by the Nuddea District Road Committee: hence there was no budget allotment.

(i). The estimate for the Madhukhali road bridges was sanctioned by Government, Public Works Department, letter No. 766L.C., dated the 6th April 1886, forwarded to this office with the Commissioner's No. 95M.R., dated the 17th idem.

(j). The estimate for bridging the Marapadma in the line of the Rajbari road was sanctioned by Government, Public Works Department, letter No. 78T.—C., dated the 5th May 1886, forwarded with the Commissioner's memorandum No. 363M.R., dated the 17th idem.

(k). Four posts purchased for wooden bridges on the Rajbari road were transferred to some other work; the value thereof, Rs. 24, was treated as a refund and credited to the former: hence the minus entry.

(l). The estimate for the Rajbari road land compensation was sanctioned by Government No. 296F., dated the 3rd July 1880, received with the Commissioner's endorsement No. 991R, dated the 20th idem.

(m). The estimate for the Belgatchee Railway station road was sanctioned by Commissioner's No. 715T., dated the 15th February 1885.

(n). The cause of the excess of Rs. 15-9-10 over the estimate was that the contractor who took the work in the year 1884-85 failed to do it, and it was to be taken up departmentally in 1885-86. As it was too late then to manufacture bricks at site, they had to be carried from Furreedpore The contractor was fined Rs. 50.

(o). The estimate for the Baniabaha road land compensation was sanctioned by Commissioner's No 888R., dated the 10th March 1879.

(o a). The expenditure of Rs. 12 was proposed to be met from the savings of the estimate for the repairs of the Bhojeswar road, but afterwards it was thought proper to include the charge under the head of Original Work; hence no allotment in the budget.

(p). The estimate for the construction of the Madaripore road was sanctioned by Government letter No 291L.C., dated the 7th February 1885, forwarded with the Commissioner's No. 201R., dated the 2nd March 1885.

(q). The estimate for the Madaripore road land compensation was sanctioned by Government, Public Works Department, letter No. 712L.C., dated the 1st April 1886, forwarded with the Commissioner's No. 21M.R., dated the 7th idem.

(r). The estimate for the Road Cess office building was sanctioned by Government, Public Works Department, letter No. 1879B., dated the 8th December 1885, forwarded with the Commissioner's No. 147R., dated the 19th December 1885.

(s) & (t). The sort of repairs provided for in the budget to the metalling of the Jessore road was not considered urgently necessary during the year: hence the allotment was not spent. Only a small sum was required to renew the metalling over the two culverts constructed on the line Owing to the high floods of the year this road was required to be cut in several places and temporary bridges had to be put up over the cuts. The allotment under the head of Petty Repairs was therefore exceeded, and the excess was met from the savings of the allotment for metalling.

(u). The excess over the allotment for the new Talma road is attributable to the same cause as explained in the preceding note about petty repairs of the Jessore road.

(v). The repairs provided for the Surjakanda road were not considered necessary: hence the allotment was not spent.

(w). The Divisional Superintendent, Mr. Johnson, advised not to spend any money on the chur Kamalapore road, it being open to the eroding waves of the Dholesamudra which wash it away.

(x). A considerable portion of the chur Teprakandi road have been cut by the Padma, and the river is likely to cut it away altogether in a few years. Besides the damage done to the road by floods being almost irrepairable, it was thought unwise to spend any more money on this road: hence the allotment was not spent.

(y). The differences of Rs. 6-5-3 and Re. 1-8-5 in the salaries of the District Engineer and the Overseer are due to the same cause as has been explained in note (b).

(z). In the previous year (1884-85) there were four peons in the establishment of the District Engineer. The salary of one of the peons for September 1885 was paid in 1885-86, though he was abolished from the 1st October 1885: hence the charge.

(a-b). The difference of two pies is due to the exclusion of fractions of pies in calculating salaries for broken periods.

(a-c). In the previous year (1884-85) the District Engineer had two punkha-pullers. The salary of these two for September 1885 was paid during the year in question: hence the excess over the budget allotment.

(a-e). The explanation of the cause of excess over the budget allotment is the same as given in note (c).

(a-f). The Divisional Superintendent, Mr. Johnson, being absent on furlough, the whole amount of the budgeted contribution towards his salary was not required to be paid within the year. His absentee allowance has been paid since.

GANGADHAR MAJOOMDAR,

Vice-Chairman.

No. 218, dated Barisal, the 24th January 1887.

From—H. J. H. FASSON, ESQ., Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Backergunge,

To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith, in duplicate, detailed account of receipts and expenditure of the District Road Fund for the cess year 1885-86, and a report on the administration of the fund during that year, submitted by the Vice-Chairman and passed with a few modifications by the Committee under section 179 of the Cess Act at a special meeting of the Committee held on the 21st instant. The report gives a full and clear account of the work done during the year. The very considerable attention given to the completion of unbridged roads, and the substitution in all important instances of masonry and iron for timber bridges, are very satisfactory features of this year's work.

2. The office of the Chairman was held by me during the year, with the exception of the five months from 28th November 1885 to 18th March 1886, when Mr. Mosley was Chairman.

3. The office of the Vice-Chairman was held by Mr. Shirres, Joint-Magistrate, from the beginning of the year till 28th January 1886, and by Mr. N K. Bose, Joint-Magistrate, from 3rd May to the end of the year. I was ad interim Vice-Chairman from 20th February to 18th March 1886. Mr. N. K. Bose has worked very well and satisfactorily as Vice-Chairman.

Dated Burrisal, the 3rd January 1887.

From—BABOO NANDA KRISHNA BOSE, Vice-Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Backergunge,

To— The Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Backergunge.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the administration of the Road Fund of this district during the cess year 1885-86, together with the detailed accounts of receipts and expenditure.

2. Budget estimate.—The budget estimate of receipts and expenditure for the year was passed at a special meeting of the Committee held on the 24th September 1885, approved by the Commissioner of the Division by his No. 57R., dated 2nd November 1885, and reviewed by Government in its Resolution No. 1594R.C, dated 31st May 1886. The total income, including the estimated opening balance, was set down at Rs. 1,19,682, and the expenditure at Rs. 1,18,343. A sum of Rs. 51,950 was allotted for original works, Rs. 22,617 for repairs, and nearly all the rest to different establishments and in subsidizing steamer services within and out of the district. Subsequent adjustments were made with the sanction of the Committee and approval of the Commissioner.

3. Accounts.—The annual account has been audited by the Standing Sub-Committee of Audit. The monthly accounts of both the Committee's and District Engineer's Offices were audited by the Sub-Committee of Audit. The accounts were also audited by the Local Auditor under the direction of the Examiner of Local Accounts in September last, and the result on the whole was satisfactory.

4. Committee.—The District Committee worked well and the members displayed considerable interest in the questions that were brought before them. The Branch Committees evinced pretty much the same interest as they did in the year preceding. The Patuakhali and Bhola Branch Road Committees held three meetings each, and the attendance of members in the meetings of all the Branch Committees was anything but satisfactory. No explanation has been offered for not holding the required number of meetings. * * * The Branch Committees of Perozepore and Patuakhali elected, under section 161 of the Act, their Chairmen as additional members of the District Committee, while the Bhola Committee elected one non-official member who attended only one meeting of the Committee.

5. Working of the Cess Act.—The road cess has been levied at the half rate of three pies or one pice on each rupee of the annual value of lands. The following statement briefly shows the demand, collection, and expenditure during the year under report as compared with those of the preceding year :—

Current demand.		Total collection.		Total expenditure.
1884-85.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1885-86.
Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.

6. The percentage of collection of cess to current demand during the year was 108·4 against 94·6 of the previous year. This is satisfactory. The percentage of balance on the demand also compares favourably with that of the previous year. The total expenditure during the year under report was less than that of the previous year by Rs. 9,165, while the expenditure on works was less by Rs. 1,043 only.

7. Original works.—The following important original works were undertaken during the year, and fair progress was made with them. It will be observed that the bulk of this year's work was masonry bridging—a most important department of work which is nearly new in this district and adds much to the value of the finished roads :—

1. Jhalakati road—Two bridges completed.
2. Gournadi road.—Two bridges—masonry in both and iron work in one completed.
3. Gazipore road.—Five bridges—four arched and one iron bridge were practically completed.
4. Tarnirhat road.—Two bridges : greater portion of necessary materials has been manufactured and collected.
5. Dowlatkhan road.—Four bridges : necessary materials have been manufactured and collected.
6. Harinafulia road.—Earthwork in the first section partially done : work stopped owing to delay in giving possession of land.
7. Mendigunge road—Earth has been thrown on the three-eighth of the road.
8. Bridge in the Gazipore road over Bhola khal—As suggested by the Divisional Superintendent of Works, the upper bridge over Bhola khal has been dismantled, and with the materials thereof the central bridge has been rebuilt with sufficient roadway for cart traffic.

8. On the recommendation of the Divisional Superintendent of Works, supported by the Commissioner of the Division, the Committee, in the month of December 1885, decided to construct masonry iron bridges on the Dowlatkhan and Tarnirhat roads, and the estimate for the former was framed, submitted, and sanction received in January 1886. As no contractor could be found to undertake the works, it was arranged to execute them departmentally, and a fair progress in collecting materials at site was made, but it was, as it appeared, a mistake on the part of the District Engineer to make an attempt to burn bricks in the month of June, which resulted in the damage of 64,000 moulded bricks loaded in kilns. The damage is attributed to the unusual rise of water which overflooded the field. The District Engineer would have done well to postpone the manufacture of these bricks till next season.

9. The following works were surveyed during the year for the preparation of projects :—

1. Jalabari road.
2. Deuli khal.
3. Dadibhanga do.
4. Chanda Kali do.
5. Fenna do.
6. Tangibari khal.
7. Golachipa do.
8. Sundarkati do.
9. Lakutia do.

10. Repairs.—Annual repairs were made in all the existing roads which were maintained in passable condition, and some of the khals were kept clear of jungle throughout the year. The most important works under this head, viz. that of clearing silt from the beds of Phuljhuri and Ponabalia khals, was not undertaken, because the time for work had run out when the estimates were returned by the Divisional Superintendent of Works, and because no contractor was found to undertake the works. These works have this year been contracted for and put in hand, necessary provisions having been made for them in the current year's budget, and it is hoped that they will be executed during the current year, and that similar improvements may in time be extended to other khals.

11. Village works.—The execution of village works in the Sudder sub-division was entrusted to the District Engineer, and I believe the money was well spent. The works in other sub-divisions were executed by the Branch Committees, but the progress was not so satisfactory as in other years, principally owing to the early setting in of heavy rains which delayed the progress of many works and left some of them unfinished. Several of the roads in the Perozepore sub-division are badly in need of foot-bridges. It is desirable that the existing roads should be thoroughly repaired and bridged before any new construction is undertaken. Some of the village works constructed in the line of the proposed district roads have been transferred to the list of district works, and when they are thoroughly repaired and bridged they will be very useful lines of communication. The village roads or foot-paths are much appreciated by the people. Some rules for the execution of village works have been framed by the Committee and approved by the Commissioner. It is to be feared that the sums allotted to the various Sub-Committees, instead of being fully utilized, have been dribbled in petty grants to people whose work never receives any professional supervision and in many cases is not supervised at all. Our rules have been so framed as to ensure professional supervision of all works costing more than a certain minimum amount and to encourage Sub-Committees to aim at connecting the chief centres of trade rather than spending small sums on petty works.

12. Arboriculture.—No allotment for planting trees was made in the budget. The trees planted in previous years have been taken care of with the provision made for the purpose in the repair estimates of the roads concerned. Arboriculture is not a want of the district, which is well shaded and plentifully wooded.

13. Communication by steamer.—There is a regular daily steamer service between Burrisal and Khulna of the Bengal Central Flotilla Company. The subsidy granted last year was stopped at the beginning of the year under report, with a view to see whether the service could be kept up without assistance under the ordinary law of supply and demand, there being at that time another rival company plying between the same stations. This latter service collapsed, and the Committee, on the application of the former company setting forth that the line was not commercially so profitable as had been anticipated, subsequently renewed the subsidy, and the sanction of the Bengal Government was obtained to its payment for the remaining seven months of the year. The Committee have also subsidized another steamer service between Burrisal and Patuakhali, which, although not very regular, is beneficial to the public.

14. A burglary was committed in the District Engineer's office, and the iron safe, with a cash box in it containing Rs. 495-14, was carried away by thieves. A punkha-puller of the office was implicated in the offence. One of the culprits was convicted and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for two years, and the sentence was upheld by the Appellate Court. The stolen property has not been recovered.

15. Establishment.—There has been a large expenditure on the establishment which is due to the fact that the district is under partial revaluation, and the large establishment entertained for the purpose swallows up a big share in the major head "Provincial rates." It may be remarked that of Rs. 15,490 (inclusive of Rs. 8,919, the cost of service of processes) expended on revaluation establishment, one-third has to be paid by Government. The question of possible reduction in this temporary establishment is, however, under the consideration of the Board of Revenue.

No. 108, dated Mymensingh, the 13th December 1886.

From—E. G. GLAZIER, Esq, Chairman, District Road Cess Committee, Mymensingh,
To—The Commissioner of the Dacca Division.

IN accordance with section 179 of the Cess Act IX of 1880, and the Bengal Government's circular No. 973A, dated the 14th September 1880, I have the honour to submit the annual accounts of receipts and expenditure of the Mymensingh District Road Fund for the last cess year 1885-86 in duplicate, duly examined and certified by the sub-committee of audit, and passed by the District Committee at their meeting held on the 4th December 1886.

2. The Road Cess Act has been in force in this district since October 1875, and this report is for the eleventh year of its working.

3. * * * With regard to the constitution of the District Committee, I have to state that two new members have been appointed in the place of four members, of whom two have ceased under section 115 of the Act and two others have resigned. The Executive Engineer of the Dacca Division did not attend any meeting during the year. The non-official members in general take little or no interest in their work.

4. The road cess on lands has been levied at the maximum rate of one-half anna on each rupee of the annual value ever since the operation of the Cess Act in this district. The net receipts on account of cess on lands amounted to Rs. 1,42,438 against the estimated demand of Rs. 1,45,542. The arrear at the close of the year under review was Rs. 15,632, and the percentage of total collection on gross demand was 98·05, as exhibited in the annual report of the Road Cess Collection Office, submitted with No 25, dated 4th November 1886. The annual account was opened with a balance of Rs. 67,414-3-0 and closed with a balance of Rs. 60,599-14-3, after the net receipts of Rs. 1,86,360-12 9, and the disbursement of Rs. 1,93,175-1-6, under the prescribed heads shown in the detail account enclosed The contribution of Rs. 1,800 from Government towards the cost of the joint establishment for the collection of road and public works cesses was credited to the Road Fund in the year, and that of Rs. 1,025 on Government estates was credited during the month of November 1886. The re-valuation of 206 big zemindaries, sanctioned in Board's letter No. 228A, dated 9th May 1882, has been completed during the year, and this promises an increase of Rs. 38,732 in the cess demand both for road and public works cesses; and one-third of the cost of the re-valuation work will soon be re-couped from Government in the shape of a contribution, as stated in Board's circular No. 4 of August 1883.

5. The expenditure under head "Original works" during the year under report, amounted to Rs 1,15,435-13-3 against the provision of Rs. 1,33,608, as shown in the detail account enclosed. The works principally consist of masonry culverts and bridges with iron top, earthen glazed pipe culverts, earth work for raising, widening and improving the district roads Nos. 1, 8, 10, 11 13, 28, 29, and 33; providing five ferry boats on certain roads and constructing an inspection bungalow at Hussenpore. It is needful to mention that the amount of outlay under this head during the year has been much more than that spent during the previous year. A feeder road from Balipara railway station to Rampore Hát was constructed during the year under report. The original works shown in the appended account have been completed with the exception of those noted below:—

I.—Constructing two masonry bridges at 27th and 44th miles of the Mymensingh to Suburnocally road.

II.—Constructing three masonry culverts on the Hussenpore to Kishoreganj road.

III.—Constructing two masonry bridges at 8th and 10th miles of the Shambhugunj to Durgapore road.

IV.—Constructing a ferry boat for Shamganj ferry on the Shambhuganj to Durgapore road.

V.—Constructing three masonry bridges at 43rd, 48th and 52nd miles of the Madhupore to Tangail road.

VI.—Constructing four masonry bridges on the road from Mymensingh to Daponia and thence to Phulbaria.

VII.—Constructing four masonry culverts at 17th, 21st and 23rd mile of the Shamganj to Netrokona road.

VIII.—Constructing a masonry tunnel culvert at 23rd mile of the Shamganj to Netrokona road.

IX.—Constructing a timber bridge over the Ayman Khal on the Bagunbari to Muktagacha road.

The above works left unfinished on account of incessant and heavy downpour, which lasted for months together during the year, will be fully completed during the current cess year for which funds have been provided in the revised budget estimate submitted with No. 102, dated 10th December 1886, for sanction

6. The outlay under head "Repairs" during the year under report was amounted to Rs. 21,812-4-3 against the allotment of Rs. 29,697 with a view to keep the existing roads into passable and good order by maintenance of the surface slopes, &c, and clearing jungle on the sides. Much damage was done to roads and bridges by the heavy rains and high flooods during the last part of the year. No expense was incurred in keeping the channel of the Brahmaputra below the town, as the work done in the previous years proved sufficient for the purpose.

It is gratifying indeed that the state of work in general throughout gave you satisfaction, as expressed by you in your letter No. 1765MR—RC, dated the 20th November 1886, both regarding the Committee and the District Engineer.

7. The following statement shows the provision made, expenditure incurred, and savings effected by the District and the Branch Committees for the village communications in the five sub-divisions under the category of original and repair works as per detail shown in the enclosed account of the year under report. It is worthy to notice that new lines of communications have been opened by the demarcation of well aligned tracks, which in course of time will be converted into bridged and raised roads. Earthen glazed pipes have been provided for culverts for easy passage of water:—

		Amount allotted.	Amount expended.	Savings effected.
		Rs.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Sudder sub-division	... ...	6,951	6,224 12 9	726 3 3
Atia ditto	... ...	10,000	9,262 15 0	737 1 0
Jamalpore ditto	... ...	6 500	5,849 3 0	650 13 0
Kishoreganj ditto	... ...	5,000	3,396 14 9	1,603 1 3
Netrokona ditto	... ...	7,000	6,221 4 0	778 12 0
Total	...	35,451	30,955 1 6	4,495 4 6

The sum of Rs. 2,549 was subsequently transferred from Rs. 38,000 originally provided for in the budget estimate of the year to the works of an important nature, and the amount of savings shown above was attributable to the strict supervision of the work and proper check of the work certificates presented for payment. A sum of Rs. 36,000 has been appropriated for the village communications in the current years' budget

8. With regard to arboriculture, I have to state that the sum of Rs. 996-12-6 has been spent against the grant of Rs. 3,110 for planting 2,437 fruit-bearing trees on 14 miles of road and maintaining the old trees planted in the previous years A good many jack trees have borne fruit during the last three seasons, and the sale proceeds of the fruit have been credited to the fund. The requisite provision has also been made for the purpose in the current year's budget estimate.

9 The necessary information with regard to the work for execution during the current cess year 1886-87 may be obtained on reference to the revised budget estimate submitted with this office No. 102, dated the 10th December 1886, which necessitated certain additions and alterations in the original budget, sanctioned in your Resolution No. 1219MR—RC, dated 1st September 1886.

10. The subjoined table shows the percentage cost of the different establishments exclusive of contribution towards the pay and office establishment of Divisional Superintendent of Works) employed under the District Committee during the year under review:—

Total income, excluding previous year's balance.	Total cost of establishments.	Percentage.	Cost of collection establishment.	Percentage.	Cost of administration establishment.	Percentage.	Cost of working establishment.	Percentage.
Rs.	Rs.		Rs.		Rs.		Rs.
1,50,676	32.109	21 31	9,524	6·32	4,447	2·95	18,138	12·04

The total charges on account of establishment and contingencies were below the limit of one-fourth of the income of the Committee for the year, exclusive of the balance of the previous year, as required by section 135 of the Act; and it would have been more so, in case the sum of Rs. 1,679-4-6 spent for the temporary establishment for the revaluation work, and Rs. 2,845-2 expended for the value of court fee stamps and boat hire &c. for service of processes was not shown under the head for the year. The cost for the latter is shown under the head "Advance" in the current year's budget, as stated in paragraph 6 of the Bengal Government's Resolution No. 1594RC, dated 31st May 1886. The different establishments employed under the Committee during the year have worked satisfactorily Two overseers and a sub-overseer under the District Engineer have been replaced by others who are more competent for the work.

11. In conclusion I have to state that the accounts of the District Road Fund for every month of the year under report duly audited by the sub-committee, were submitted to the Accountant-General, Bengal; and that the work of the Committee with regard to the keeping of accounts has been performed with great care and regularity.

MOHUMMUD,
For Vice-Chairman, Road Cess Committee.

C. R. MARINDIN,
For Chairman, Road Cess Committee.

No. 1T, dated steamer Soorma, the 8th May 1887.

From—W. R. LARMINIE, Esq., Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

IN accordance with the provisions of section 179 of the Cess Act IX (B C.) of 1880, I have the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts and reports of the Road Cess Funds for the several districts of this Division for the cess year 1885-86. The reports give full and clear accounts of the various works executed during the year. I need therefore only add a few remarks on the general road cess administration in the Division.

2. The road cess has been levied at the full rates in all the districts of the Division, except Backergunge, where it is levied at only half rates.

3. In the Dacca and Backergunge districts the amount of cess collected during the year under review was in excess of the budget estimates, while in Furreedpore and Mymensingh it fell short.

4. Original works.—As compared with the preceding year, more original works were executed in all the districts of the Division except Dacca. The expenditure during the last two years are shown below:—

Districts.	1884-85. Rs.	1885-86. Rs.
Dacca	48,791	44,217
Furreedpore	41,241	57,967
Backergunge	36,964	39,616
Mymensingh	73,360	1,15,435

The money was, in all cases, very judiciously spent, viz., on the construction of roads in the districts of Dacca, Furreedpore and Backergunge, and in the bridging of the existing roads in Mymensingh.

Repairs.—Due attention was paid to the subject of repairs, and all the existing roads are reported to have been maintained in an efficient state. In Dacca the allotment under the head of "Repairs" was Rs. 20,697, out of which Rs. 18,823-10 were expended, as compared with Rs. 17,359-7 in the preceding year. In the districts of Mymensingh, Backergunge and Furreedpore, however, the amount of expenditure was much less than both the budgeted amount and the amount expended in the preceding year. It would appear that the cost of repairs was over estimated, or that the roads continued in passable order.

Feeder roads.—Under this head, the works completed during the year under report were (1) the construction of the road from Baliapara Railway station of the Dacca State Railway to Ramporehât in the district of Mymensingh, and (2) the construction of the road from Ramdia to Belgachi Railway station of the Eastern Bengal State Railway.

Village communication.—Works under this head, both original and repairs, appear to have been well provided for during the year under review. It is reported that the grants for certain village works were supplemented by local contributions, and that lands in certain cases were given free of cost.

Steamer service.—As reported last year, there is a regular daily steamer service between Barisal and Khoolna kept up by the Bengal Central Flotilla Company. The subsidy, which the Committee used to grant during the previous years, was withdrawn for the first five months of the year under review, but it was renewed afterwards. The Committee have also subsidized another steamer service between Barisal and Patuakhali, which, although not very regular, is beneficial to the public.

At my instance, the late Road Cess Committee of Dacca undertook to keep up a ferry steamer between the sub-divisions of Munshigunge and Narayangunge. A steamer has recently been purchased by the District Board at a cost of Rs. 16,000. The service is a very great convenience to the public, and is expected to be a profitable one.

Meetings.—The percentage of average attendance of members was not satisfactory.

Establishment.—The executive and office staff employed by the several Road Cess Committees of the Division have worked well and satisfactorily.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

NOTICE is hereby given, under section 6, Act XI of 1859, that the undermentioned estates or shares of estates in the district of the 24-Pergunnahs will be put up for sale at the Collector's office of that district on the 27th July 1887, corresponding with 12th Sraban 1294, Wednesday, for arrears of revenue which fell due on the 28th March 1887:—

The increase in the number of civil suits, and the large decrease in the number of rent-suits, are both attributed to the same cause, namely, the sale question. The explanation is intelligible in the former case, as a large number of title-suits were instituted to set aside sales of land, public feeling being much disturbed on this subject, and the legality of such sales being widely questioned. But it is not so easy to understand how the sale question had the effect of reducing the number of rent-suits. Perhaps the explanation is to be found in the fact, alluded to in paragraph 10 of the Commissioner's report, that many vendors of land remained on as bhaolidar tenants of the purchasers, and that the latter did not care to file rent-suits while their titles as purchasers were being assailed in the courts. The Deputy Commissioner also states that the number of rent-suits diminished owing probably to the good harvests. As regards the sale question, it is only necessary to remark here that an enquiry has been made, and that the special reports submitted by the Deputy Commissioner and the Commissioner are under the consideration of this Government in the Revenue Department.

2. Practice and Procedure.—Both in the report for 1885, and in his present report, the Commissioner has expressed apprehensions lest the simplicity of the special rules in force in the Pergunnahs should be supplanted by the elaborate and tedious procedure of the Civil Courts in Regulation districts; and the Deputy Commissioner also thinks that possibly the case-work is being done in too elaborate a manner, and states that he has endeavoured, as far as possible, to encourage simplicity in the method of its disposal. Sir Steuart Bayley is inclined to think that, if executive administration is being sacrificed to a press of judicial work, the fault must lie not so much in the laws as in the officers who administer them. The principle embodied in the civil rules is quite inconsistent with any sacrifice of substance to form, their object being, as was laid down by their first originator, the late Sir George Yule, "to cause speedy and just decisions with not more of form than is necessary to secure justice." The Commissioner justly remarks that, if these rules are adhered to, there need be no cause for complaint. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor is not disposed to agree with the Commissioner in thinking that short written statements of claim should be received only in exceptional cases. The rules permit a plaintiff to make his claim vivâ voce or by means of a brief written statement, and it is doubtless often convenient and desirable that a claim should be presented in writing. Petition-writers are required to take out licenses, and so long as the courts have the power of fixing their number, there is no reason why such competition should spring up among them as to make them degenerate into touts and case-mongers. The increased demand for processes is a feature which should be discouraged as far as the rules permit; but no doubt some such increase must be naturally expected from year to year. The rules permit a suitor to serve processes himself, or through the heads of villages in which witnesses reside, and it is stated that many suitors would avail themselves of this privilege, but that the vernacular establishments are overworked, and the suitors would, therefore, have to wait some time. As the petition-writers are licensed and thoroughly under the control of the courts to which they are attached, there appears to be no reason why they should not be allowed to write out the processes on forms supplied to them. This would save the time of the amla and expedite the course of justice; and the Commissioner is requested to report if such a plan cannot be introduced at all events experimentally. Sir Steuart Bayley notes with satisfaction that the Deputy Commissioner has made a stand against the unnecessary elaboration of judicial work. Appearance by agent should not be permitted except for special reasons: postponements, which are as expensive to Government through its officers as to the parties themselves, should only be allowed when justice requires them: arbitration should be encouraged in complicated cases: the staff of process-servers should be closely supervised: and, as the proportion of cases appealed is very small, it should be the object of deciding officers not to write lengthy judgments to fortify the record, so to speak, against a possible appeal, but to make it as brief and succint as is compatible with the supply of supplementary information, in case an appeal should actually be instituted. The record should be enough to show any reasonable man that the facts of the case have been fairly enquired into, the grounds of decision, and no more.

There are cogent reasons of policy and expedience for the performance of the executive and judicial work of the Sontal Pergunnahs by the same officers; and if, as the Commissioner justly remarks, an officer sits trying civil suits all day long inside four walls, he is not likely to be conversant with what is going on in the interior of his sub-division. The Lieutenant-Governor fully agrees with the Deputy Commissioner that the more good executive work an officer does, the more is he likely to reduce his judicial work by nipping quarrels in the bud; while, as to those cases that do come before him, a thorough knowledge of his sub-division and of the people in it conduces to their more speedy and satisfactory disposal. The Judicial is of no less importance than the Executive work, and must be properly and carefully disposed of; but Sir Steuart Bayley looks to the Commissioner to see that the one is not altogether sacrificed to the other. It was alleged in the report for 1885—and the point is again pressed on the attention of Government in the report under review—that the large employment of barristers and pleaders in what may be called the plains portion of the Sontal Pergunnahs tends to the introduction of lengthy and more elaborate procedure, and that laws which are necessary in more advanced districts are not adapted for a simple race. As regards the last allegation, Sir Steuart Bayley can only repeat and endorse the answer given by this Government to a similar complaint made by the Commissioner as long ago as 1873, that where particular laws have been introduced, this has been done deliberately, and that they will not be withdrawn unless it is shown that real and serious evils result in practice from their operation, which cannot be got over by good and discreet officers. It will not suffice to show that indiscreet officers thirsting for technicalities may abuse the Acts; in that case the officers will be changed, and not the laws. As to the larger employment of legal practitioners, it is only in suits exceeding the value of one thousand rupees that they can appear as a right (proviso to section 2, Act XXXVII of 1855), and the total number of such suits must be very few, while the number in which Sontals are parties must be even fewer. This, then, is a matter over which the courts have full control.

3. Civil Suits.—The increase in the number of civil suits, that is suits for money and moveable property, was common to all sub-divisions except Deoghur and Rajmehal. The Deputy Commissioner has referred to the operation of the usury clauses in section 6 of Regulation III of 1872, and the Commissioner remarks that there is nothing new to be said on the matter, that the clauses are still in force, not being affected, quoad cases not exceeding Rs. 1,000 in value, by the High Court ruling in the case of Ram Narain Naik. In this the Commissioner is correct: but the Lieutenant-Governor does not understand the Deputy Commissioner to question the applicability of those clauses, but merely to entertain doubts as to their correct interpretation. This is a matter on which orders cannot well be passed in a Resolution; if the Commissioner thinks it necessary, a special report can be submitted.

4. Rent-suits.—The number of rent-suits decreased from 3,250 to 2,258. There has been a steady decrease in these suits since 1880, when the number was as high as 10,994. As was remarked in paragraph 15 of the Commissioner's report for 1881, many of these were suits in which questions of title were involved, and the large diminution has been due to the action of the settlement in determining such questions. Again, it was stated in paragraph 3 of the Resolution on the report for 1882:—"The Commissioner observes that the majority of the suits appearing hitherto under the head of rent-suits were really jote-suits, that is, suits in which the tenants, for the time virtually proprietors, contended among themselves for possession of disputed plots." Moreover, the rule that a tenant who sub-lets can recover no more than the settlement rent recorded in respect of the land must tend to prevent the institution of rent-suits. The very large decrease during the year under review is no doubt partly due to a good harvest, and partly to the transfer of the Rohini estate to the Court of Wards, which now collects rents under the certificate procedure. The fact that bhaoli tenures are so much in vogue shows that ryots will sometimes freely give to the mahajan more than the latter can gain in the courts. These tenures are said to be extremely common in those villages where sales have been numerous, the vendors holding on as bhaolidars under the mahajan purchasers. As the courts will only decree the recorded settlement money rents, the prevalence of such holdings indicates the existence of good feeling and a considerable amount of confidence between creditor and debtor. As remarked in paragraph 3 of the Resolution on the report for 1885, the Lieutenant-Governor would like to have some more detailed information as to the extent of such bhaoli holdings, and the causes for their increase.

5. Title suits.—The number of title-suits was 2,705 in 1886 as compared with 2,993 in the preceding year. Under this head the Deputy Commissioner remarks that many suits of an unusual character have been contributed by the sale question. As has been stated above, the sale question is under the Lieutenant-Governor's consideration and will be separately dealt with. Owing to the uncertainty which had for some time hung over the question, the large number of 257 execution proceedings remained pending in title cases against only 97 in the previous year. "The Courts," it is said, "are opposed to sales of land while it is still uncertain how far these will be legal, and proceedings hang fire."

6. Appeals.—There is no appeal as of right, but under rule 42 of the Rules of Civil Procedure, the Sub-divisional Officers, the Deputy Commissioner and the Commissioner have power to revise the proceedings of their subordinates. These powers of revision should not, however, be converted into regular appeals. Out of over 10,000 cases disposed of, appeals were instituted in 893, 539 appeals being from subordinates in sub-divisions to the Sub-divisional Officers, and 354 being to the Deputy Commissioner. This latter number would not have been so large but for the uncertainty of the law on the sale question, 242 out of the 354 appeals being in title-suits. Of the appeals to Sub-divisional Officers, Deoghur accounts for nearly half. The orders of the lower courts were upheld in about 50 per cent. of the appeals, and there were reversals in only 47 cases; many cases had to be remanded owing to the difficulties attending the sale question. Of the appeals to the Deputy Commissioner, 307 were actually heard—30 decrees being reversed and 150 confirmed, while there were 127 remands. The largest number of appeals came from Deogurh, where litigants are said to be very obstinate, and where, besides the disputes among the Pundas, there are other burning questions, such as the right to fell timber and the sale of mustagiri rights. 67 applications for revision were made to the Commissioner, which, with 28 pending cases, gave a total of 95 cases for disposal. Out of 73 cases disposed of decrees were reversed in 10 only, and 26 cases were remanded. It is not stated whether there were any appeals to the High Court.

7. Receipts of Courts.—The receipts of the courts during the year amounted to Rs. 72,025-8 as compared with Rs. 73,905-13 in the previous year, a decrease which does not call for any special explanation. The Deputy Commissioner has not yet found time to submit the report called for in paragraph 6 of last year's Resolution on the subject of the valuation of suits. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes to receive it at an early date. It is of great importance that there should be complete uniformity in the administration of the Court-fees Act.

8. The present Deputy Commissioner only joined the district in June 1886, and this furnishes some excuse for the fact that his report is defective in important particulars. The report for the present year should contain fuller information regarding execution proceedings, and other matters of interest should be noticed, such as the relation of landlords and tenants, the position of headmen, the nature of suits instituted, and the action of the courts on the well-being of the Sontal people.

9. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the administration of the Sontal Pergunnahs is being carried on not only cheaply but efficiently. The work requires a special training, and many of the officers employed have spent much of their service within the district. The Civil and Criminal judicial work, and the whole of the executive work of the district, are carried on by the same officers. Of the nine officers vested with civil powers corresponding to a Munsif, four draw less, and two not more, than probationer Munsifs. One draws the pay of the lowest grade of Munsifs, and two others that of the second grade. Of the seven officers exercising the powers of a Subordinate Judge, one receives the pay of a third grade Munsif, two that of a first grade Munsif, and another less than that of the lowest grade of Subordinate Judges. The remaining three receive less than the pay of a second grade Subordinate Judge. The facts mentioned by the Deputy Commissioner in paragraph 20 of his Report show that some increase of establishments is required, and the Lieutenant-Governor will await the receipt of a definite proposition statement. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the good work done by the Sub-divisional Officers of Godda and Pakour. The remarks concerning the merits of other officers will be noted in the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. WARE EDGAR,

Offg. Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

LIBERALITY OF BABOO HARO CHANDRA CHAUDHURI IN AID OF EDUCATION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 12th July 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

An endorsement from the Director of Public Instruction, No. 4227, dated the 27th June 1887, forwarding a letter from the Inspector of Schools, Eastern Circle, Dacca.

BABOO HARO CHANDRA CHAUDHURI, a zemindar of Sherepur, in the Mymensingh district, has promised a contribution of Rs. 100 a month towards the maintenance of the Sherepur Victoria Academy, which, in commemoration of the Jubilee year of the reign of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress of India, has been raised from the status of a middle English school to that of a high school. He has also made a donation of Rs. 900 to improve the accommodation of the school.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor tenders his thanks to Baboo Haro Chandra Chaudhuri for his liberality.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information, and for communication to the donor.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

THE following is published for general information.

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE METEOROLOGICAL REPORTER TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

THE Department was under my control during the first half of the official year, when Mr. John Eliot, the permanent Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal, returned from furlough and took over charge of the duties from the 24th September 1886, from which time up to the end of the year he remained in charge. Mr. Eliot has since been appointed to officiate for Mr. Blanford as Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India, with effect from the 6th May, and it has therefore fallen upon me as Officiating Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal to submit this annual report.

There has hardly been any change of importance in the administration of the Department during the year under review. The system of working adopted in previous years has been steadily maintained, and fairly complete registers of observations have been received from almost all the meteorological stations under my control in Bengal and Assam. This standard of work is kept up by frequent inspection of the observatories either by the Reporter or the head clerk, and by a careful and critical inspection of the observations sent in to the head office. During the year under review it has been found advisable, in order to enforce attention to certain cases of neglect and carelessness in taking the readings of the instruments, to institute a system of small fines on the observers for reporting incorrect observations. It has been found that this system is far more effective than the former plan of simply writing reprimanding letters. Incorrect readings of the instruments are now comparatively rare. The Superintendents of the observatories, whose duties are in most cases honorary, have also afforded much help to the Department in supervising the work of the observers; and have contributed in no small degree to the accuracy of the returns.

The number of observatories in Bengal and Assam from which returns were received in this office during 1886-87 were—

1 First class.
2 Second ,,
21 Third ,,
26 Provincial third class.

Inspection of Observatories.—The following stations were inspected during the year:—

By Mr. Eliot—

Patna.	Furreedpore.	Rungpore.
Gya.	Bogra.	Julpigoree.
Chupra.	Dacca.	Mymensingh.
Motihari.	Darjeeling.
Durbhunga.	Dinagepore.

By Mr. Dallas, Assistant Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India.

Dacca.	Dhubri.	Purneah.
Mymensingh.	Sibsagar.	Tezpore.
Cachar.

By myself—

Raneegunge.	Burdwan.	Bankoora.

By my head clerk—

Rampore Beauleah.	Chupra.	Berhampore.
Bogra.	Motiliari.	Arrah.
Dinagepore.	Bhagulpore.	Krishnagar.
Julpiguri.	Baukipore.	Serajgunge.
Dehree.

It will thus be seen that a large number of the stations have been inspected this year. Some of them had to be visited twice, either because of unsatisfactory readings, or that the condition of the observatory required a second visit. These were Dacca, Mymensingh, Chupra, Patna, Motihari, Julpigoree Bogra, and Dinagepore.

First Class Observatory.—Alipore.—As this observatory is under the direct superintendence of the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India no report can be given on its working during the past year. It can, however, be said that the Daily Weather Reports and the monthly meteorological registers were received with much punctuality and correctness throughout the year.

Second Class Observatories.—The following are the second class observatories that report to this office:—

Second Class Observatories.

Stations.	Superintendents.	Superintendents' allowances.	Observers.	Observers' allowances.	Assistant observers.	Assistant observers' allowances.
		Rs.		Rs.		Rs.

(a) Dismissed on 23rd August 1886.
(b) Appointed since 24th August 1886.
(c) From 1st April 1886 to 7th January 1887. On three months' leave.
(d) „ 8th January 1887 to 31st March 1887.

Of these two, only Dhubri observatory was visited on the 9th, 10th, and 11th August 1886 by Mr. Dallas, Assistant Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India. In accordance with the decision come to last year as the result of my inspection of this observatory, Munshi Kadimuddin Ahmed, who was found to be unfit for the duties of the head observer, was dismissed on the 23rd August 1886. His place was filled from August 24th by Babu Baidya Nath Banerjee, who received a course of practical training at the Alipore Observatory in the use of the several instruments, and in the Meteorological Office in the work of preparation of the various registers. During the visit of Mr. Dallas the old Observer continued to hold office. The condition of the observatory was not satisfactory. Mr. Dallas reported—"There was a bad leakage in the roof of the Casella tower. On the morning of the 10th the water was pouring on the clock work of the anemometer, and will, if not stopped, eventually ruin it." The leakage was at once stopped by the District Engineer, but the Superintendent has reported that with the setting in of the rains in the year 1886-87 the leakage has again appeared. Unless the anemograph house can be effectually repaired, it will be impossible to keep the self-recording Casella's anemograph in working order. Owing to this cause there have been several breaks in the traces of the anemograph during the year, and the instrument has not been working very satisfactorily. It is hoped that this observatory will materially improve under the care of the new observer and of the paid Superintendent. The returns during the year have been received punctually, and have been found generally correct.

Saugor Island was not visited during the year. The observatory was found to work very satisfactorily. Fortin's barometer, No. 1315, which was in use since 15th March 1885, was reported to leak badly on the 31st May 1886. Newman's marine barometer belonging to the light-house was used from that date till the 19th June 1886, when Fortin's barometer, No. 626, was brought into use. A set of comparative readings was taken with the marine barometer, and the Fortin's standard supplied, in order that the readings reported from the former might be reduced to the Indian standard. A carefully compared aneroid barometer, No. 1773, has also been supplied to the observatory to serve as a spare instrument in cases of sudden breakage or injury to the instrument in use. The anemograph at Saugor Island, which is one of Beckley's pattern, has worked satisfactorily throughout the year, and there have been no breaks. Mr Peters the observer has worked very well and has done good service during stormy weather in reporting the additional observations required. In consideration of his services he has been granted a good service allowance of Rs. 5 a month, with effect from 1st April 1887.

Imperial Third Class Observatories.—These are 21 in number—14 are situated in Bengal, 1 (Akyab in Burmah, 4 (Sibsagar, Silchar, Tezpore and Tura) in Assam, and 2 (Gopalpore and Coconada) in Madras. The two last are maintained in connection with the Bay of Bengal Storm Signal Service.

At Hazaribagh, Cuttack, Darjeeling and Chittagong the self-recording anemographs have been kept up as hitherto. In the first two stations, Casella's pattern instruments are used, and in the third and fourth, Beckley's instrument. The records were most complete in the case of Hazaribagh and Chittagong. In the former there was a short break of 17 hours only during the year, for cleaning.

The Chittagong observer, writing under date the 26th February 1887, reported that "during the severe nor'wester at 1 A. M. this morning, which was accompanied with thunderstorm and hail, a large piece of heavy bamboo matting from an adjoining roof was thrown against the anemograph structure on the office roof, bringing down the whole of the exposed machinery. The cups, rods and the wind vanes have been bent and broken." These were repaired locally, and the instrument again began to work from the 1st March 1887 from 2 P. M. There was therefore a break from 26th February to 1st March.

At Cuttack there have been several breaks in the anemograph traces. These are apparently due to want of attention on the part of the Telegraph Master, Mr. Stone.

Darjeeling.—The traces have not been so continuous as could be desired, but this has been due to a great extent to the fact that the anemograph is not a very satisfactory one. Mr. Carter, the Superintendent, and the observer have worked hard to try to obtain more distinct traces, but they have unfortunately not been very successful.

Of the 21 Imperial third class observatories, 11 were inspected during the year, viz., Berhampore, Burdwan, Dacca, Darjeeling, Durbhanga, Gya, Patna, Purneah, Sibsagar, Silchar, and Tezpore.

Berhampore was visited by my head clerk on 11th August. He reported that the observatory was in an excellent condition. Baboo Mohendra Nath Roy continues to be the observer. His readings are always accurate, and the special allowance of Rs. 10 which he holds is well deserved. A solar radiation thermometer was stolen from the observatory grounds, while under exposure, on the 2nd January 1887, but the thief could not be discovered. A new instrument was brought into use from 3rd January 1887.

Burdwan was visited by myself on the 7th April 1886. The condition of the observatory was satisfactory. The personal allowance of Rs. 10 was therefore continued to the observer, Baboo Mokhada Prosad Chowdry.

Dacca was twice inspected, first by Mr. Dallas on the 26th of July 1886, and then by Mr. Eliot on the 15th March 1887. Mr. Dallas condemned the big dial wind-vane which was on the centre of the roof, and ordered the removal of the rain-gauge to a different site, as it was liable to be inundated by the overflowing of the Boreegunga river; and this was actually the case on the 28th August 1886. A Roorkee pattern small-sized vane was supplied. Mr. Eliot selected the position of the new instrument. Mr. Eliot found everything in good order, except the grass thermometer, in which a small portion of the column (about 1°) was detached. It was put right.

Darjeeling.—Mr. Eliot visited the station on the 10th and 11th March 1887. He reported—"The instruments and shed were all in good order. The anemograph is working fairly; the instrument is, however by no means a satisfactory one, and requires constant care to keep it in working order. The bed plate of the upper part of the instrument appears to be very considerably warped, and hence it is necessary to insert wedges in order that the cog wheels may work into each other. The traces were very good and distinct. The tracing spiral of one of the cylinders had become slightly bent, and the sharp end which was thus turned over was tearing the paper. This defect will be rectified as speedily as possible by the observer. The observer is a very sharp and intelligent young man, and takes the observations exactly, and shows much interest in the anemograph." After Mr. Moore, the former observer, had left the station, the observer's allowance was reduced to Rs. 15, with effect from May 1886, to equalize the pay with that of all third class observers. In consideration of the fact that the observer has to look after the anemograph, which is situated at a distance from the observatory, and which requires constant care and attention to keep it in order, the allowance has again been raised to Rs. 25 a month, with effect from the 1st January 1887.

Durbhanga was visited by Mr. Eliot on the 25th December 1886. The instruments and shed were generally in good order. The anemometer was condemned and a new instrument supplied.

Gya was visited by Mr. Eliot on 22nd December 1886. The officiating observer, Mukund Lal, was examined and found to be competent. He was trained at the Patna observatory before being appointed. The observatory was in fair order. Prior to this visit, in November 1886 the officiating observer was fined the full value of a wet minimum thermometer which had been broken by gross neglect and carelessness. The dry minimum thermometer had a deposit of about ten degrees of spirit in the upper part, which explained the cause of the very low readings of the instrument from 1st August to October 1886, when the instrument was recalled and put into order and then again brought into use from 26th December 1886. Thus there was a long break due to the rejection of erroneous readings recorded by the observer.

Patna was visited by my head clerk on the 3rd August 1886, and subsequently by Mr. Eliot on the 21st of December 1886. Surjun Sing was officiating as observer in place of Munshi Mohabhutlal, who was under suspension from August 1886. The observatory was not in good order when examined by the head clerk, nor was the observer found to be very competent. Mr. Eliot found that the observer, and the condition of the observatory had improved materially in December 1886. The instruments were quite clean and all in proper order. The shed was newly repaired, and the observer read the instruments correctly.

The Patna observatory is now working well. At present the work of reduction and tabulation of the observations from Patna is being carried on in the Calcutta office, and the allowance for the observer has been reduced to Rs. 20. The observer has to take the synoptic observations in addition to the regular work of the observatory.

Purneah was visited by Mr. Dallas on the 25th and 26th August 1886. Generally speaking, the observatory was in good condition, so far as the observer and the instruments were concerned. Mr. Dallas reported that the anemometer was very much sheltered to the east and north by high trees, and proposed that both anemometer and wind vane should be removed to the south-west corner of the jail building. This change of position of the instruments has been made from the 20th January 1887. The wind registration previous to this must therefore be of doubtful value.

Sibsagar was visited by Mr. Dallas on the 17th August 1886. He found the observatory in good working order. He compared the barometer with a standard taken from Calcutta, and found the previously determined correction had remained unaltered. He condemned the position of the meteorological shed. He writes—"The thermometer shed is situated in a hollow 3 or 4 feet below the level of the ground on which the station is built. In consequence there is far from a free circulation of air, and as the slope is from south to north, the shed has an undue northern exposure, and the temperature is distinctly lower than over the open ground around the tank. The shed is surrounded by high jungle, and the readings of the thermometers can hardly be taken as representative of the temperature of the surrounding country." The seismometer was reported to be not working at all, as it had failed to give indications of earthquakes, although the shocks were sufficient to crack buildings so as to render them unsafe.

Baboo Dandadhar Dutt Barua continues to be the observer. He receives a ten-rupee special allowance.

Silchar was visited by Mr. Dallas on the 2nd August 1886. The condition of the observatory was reported to be good. The observer was also found to be a competent man. The instruments were all found to be in working order. A sharp shock of earthquake occurred at 11-25 A.M. on May 19th, 1886, occasioning considerable damage to several bungalows in the station, but the seismograph failed to give any indication. The observer was trained in the methods of reading and recording the indications of the instrument.

Tezpore was visited on the 14th August 1886 This is the first visit of inspection since the observatory was started (April 1885). Mr. Dallas reports—"The thermometer shed is situated on the summit of a hill 200 or 300 feet above the level of the river, and is the highest point around. The position is exceedingly good. The river runs on the southern side, and a level wooded plain surrounds the west, north, and east sides of the hill. The anemometer was clean and moving freely. The wind-vane was apparently true, and also running easily, but there was no means of getting up to it." Some arrangement must be made to enable the observer to oil the instrument from time to time.

The barometer is placed in a room in the jail. The sun thermometer and grass thermometer were stolen in June 1886. while under exposure. Dr. Campbell, the Superintendent of observatory, suggested that a chowkidar should be appointed to watch the instruments, but Mr. Blanford, the Meteorological Reporter to the Government of India, decided that radiation thermometers should not in future be used at this observatory.

Many readings from this observatory have had to be rejected as erroneous, and the observer was careless and did not understand his work. These errors have been repeatedly pointed out, and the present observations are now fairly good.

The rest of the observatories could not be visited, viz., Akyab, Chittagong, Coconada, Cuttack, Demagiri, False Point, Gopalpore, Hazaribagh, Jessore, and Tura Their condition can only be judged from the registers furnished, which appear to show that the observers have generally maintained their character for accuracy of observations.

At Akyab the shed has been thoroughly repaired during the year.

The observer at Chittagong deserves mention, not only for the care and attention he has bestowed on the anemograph, but also for the correctness of his observations.

From Coconada the reports were regular and generally satisfactory.

The Cuttack observatory, under the Telegraph Master, Mr. Stone, was in a very inefficient state, and either through his carelessness or want of knowledge, many instrument readings have had to be rejected during the course of the year. The anemograph was also allowed to get out of order from want of attention. Mr. Stone has now been transferred from Cuttack.

Demagiri.—This is a voluntary station, having only the ordinary thermometers and a wind-vane as instruments under observation. It cannot be considered a satisfactory station.

False Point.—This observatory has worked well during the year under Mr. Loudon.

Gopalpore has sent in registers and telegrams regularly throughout the year, and the observations have been very satisfactory. The Port Officer appears to take a very lively interest in the work of the observatory.

Hazaribagh.—This is one of the best kept observatories in Bengal. Observer Nathoo Lal has submitted very satisfactory readings throughout the year. The anemograph was kept in working order throughout. The special allowance of Rs 5 drawn by the observer is therefore well deserved.

Jessore.—The condition of the observatory has improved materially, and the observations have been correct. The observer's personal allowance, which was withheld for six months last year for neglect of duty, was restored from 1st October 1886.

Tura.—This is a voluntary station recording thermometric and wind observations only. It has improved very materially in the character of its observations and in the reports submitted.

The observatories generally have worked very well during the year, and the work has gone on very smoothly. There were very few changes in the observers, and the readings were generally fairly trustworthy. The observatories inspected were—

Arrah,	Dinagepore,	Rampore Beauleah,
Bankoora,	Furreedpore,	Raneegunge,
Bhagulpore,	Julpiguri,	Rungpore,
Chupra,	Krishnagar,	Serajgunge,
Bogra,	Motihari,
Dehree,	Mymensing,

or 16 out of the 26 stations have been under inspection during the year.

Arrah was visited on the 3rd July 1886. The returns from this observatory were highly satisfactory, and the condition of the observatory reflects much credit on the Superintendent and the observer.

Bankoora was visited by myself on 4th April. This is a voluntary observatory. This was the first visit of inspection since its establishment. The observatory is situated on one of the highest points of the station, which is in itself one of the highest parts of the surrounding country. The whole of this district is of undulating nature with light friable soil, and the natural drainage should be very good. On the north side of the station, at about a distance of $1\frac{3}{4}$ miles from the observatory, a river called Gandeshari flows, and another small river, the Darkeshar, about half a mile to the south and south-east of the observatory. The plain in which the observatory is placed is fairly open, and it is close to and on the north side of the jail. The observatory should therefore yield very valuable observations. There were a few defects in the exposure of the instruments, and the observer showed a want of knowledge of how to keep them in order; but since the inspection, the character of the work appears to have materially improved.

Bhagulpore was visited on the 9th August 1886. The object of the visit was to settle the question of certain continued low readings of the barometer, but, so far as can be ascertained, these comparatively low readings are correct, and represent a peculiar abnormal feature. The observatory was in good order.

Chupra was visited on the 4th and 5th August 1886 by my head clerk, and by Mr. Eliot on 23rd December 1886. Mr. Eliot found the instruments in good order.

Bogra was visited on the 10th May 1886 by my head clerk, and on 14th March 1887 by Mr. Eliot. In the former visit the anemometer was condemned. Mr. Eliot found the observatory in good order, and the instruments all very neat and clean. The observer, Babu Gangadhar Barik, was trained at Alipore, and is a good observer.

Dehree was visited on the 1st August 1886. The instruments were in good order.

Dinagepore was inspected on the 13th May 1886 and 7th March 1887 by my head clerk and Mr. Eliot, respectively. The shed and the instruments were found in good order. Mr. Eliot found that the observer read the barometer a little low.

Furreedpore was inspected by Mr. Eliot in February 1887. The instruments were all in good order, and the observer read them accurately and readily.

Julpaiguri was inspected on the 10th March 1887. The observatory was in a very satisfactory condition.

Krishnagar was inspected on the 2nd February 1887 by my head clerk. He found the instruments clean and in good order. The defects noticed in the last Administration Report were rectified.

Motihari was visited on the 24th December 1886. The instruments were found to be in good order.

Mymensing was visited by Mr. Dallas on the 27th July 1886 and by Mr. Eliot on the 16th March 1887. Both of them found the instruments of the observatory in fairly good order.

Rampore Beauleah was visited on the 7th May 1887. The shed was removed from its former position in the grounds of the Executive Engineer's office to the compound of the post-office. The barometer has been placed in the post-office in good light, protected by a wire cage. The wind instruments are on the roof of the office. This change was necessary, as the Executive Engineer's office was removed near the post-office. The rain-gauge was far away from the shed. These instruments have since been localised. The shed in its present position is 13 yards from the embankment of the river Pandma.

Raneegunge was inspected by myself on the 6th April 1886. It was in satisfactory condition.

Rungpore was visited by Mr. Eliot on the 8th March 1887. The observatory was not so clean as it ought to have been. The officiating observer read the instruments correctly.

Serajgunge was visited by my head clerk on the 4th February 1887. The observatory was not in so satisfactory condition as it ought to have been. Amongst other things, the wind-vane was unserviceable.

The remaing stations could not be visited. But the returns from the majority of these stations were satisfactory.

Rain-record stations.—The number of stations reporting rainfall during the year 1886-87 has been 249, which shows an increase of four stations over those of the preceding year. The stations which have been added are Akhirigunge (Moorshedabad), Debigunge (Julpigoree), Bickram and Halsa (Patna district). The returns were received very punctually and regularly in the majority of cases, except from some of the stations, such as Gop, Pipli and Salipore in the Orissa Division, and the stations Kaliagunge, Gondwara and Balorampore in Purneah district, and Jhalda in Manbhoom.

Instruments.—The following table shows the number of instruments that have been broken or lost or rendered unserviceable, and the number of instruments replaced during the year 1886-87 at the Imperial and Provincial observatories:—

Return of instruments broken or withdrawn and issued to the observatories for 1886-87.

(a) Supplied.
(b) Broken.
(c) Withdrawn for defect.

The list shows that the instruments have, on the whole, been very carefully looked after, and there have been very few breakages due to wilful neglect of duty on the part of the observers either of the Imperial or Provincial observatories.

Office establishment.—There was only one change in the office establishment during the year, due to the death of Baboo Nibarun Chandra Chatterjee, 3rd clerk. I regret much to have to notice his death, as in him the office has lost a most trustworthy and useful assistant. Baboo Jati Lal De has taken his place as 3rd clerk, and the office staff consisted of the following clerks on the 31st March 1887:—

Baboo Chandi Charan Chatterjee, Head clerk and inspector of observatories; Purna Chandra Mookerjee, 2nd clerk; Jati Lal De, 3rd clerk; Tabulators Baboos Kaminy Mohun Bose, Debendra Nath Banerjee, Joggeshur Roy, Bireshur Mookerjee, Rakhal Das Chuckerbutty, Ashutosh Roy Chowdhury, Hari Das Mozumdar, Hem Chandra Goswamy, Charu Chandra Mookerjee; draughtsman Baboo Nagendra Lal Pal.

The whole of the office staff has worked extremely well throughout the year under the very efficient superintendence of the Head clerk, Baboo Chandi Charan Chatterjee.

The regular reports and maps, &c, issued by the Department during the year have been precisely the same as those issued in the year 1885-86, and which are described on page 16 of the Administration Report of that year.

During the year 1886, 2,158 letters were received and 3,131 letters were issued, or about the same number as in the previous year. The reduction and tabulation of the 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. observations taken at the 23 Imperial stations, and of the 10 A M. observations taken at 26 Provincial 3rd class stations, and also of the daily synoptic readings taken at the observatories of Patna, Chittagong, Sibsagar, Dhubri, Hazaribagh, and Cuttack, have all been steadily maintained. The Patna and Hazaribagh registers are now being worked out in the Calcutta office.

A small establishment of three temporary clerks at a monthly pay of Rs. 20 each was sanctioned during the year for a period of four and a half months to prepare books for working out the daily mean pressure and maximum and minimum temperature of the 22 Provincial observatories which have furnished more than three years' data since their establishment, and also of the Assam stations, Sibsagar, Dhubri, and Silchar, since their commencement. This work has now been accomplished, and in the daily meteorological returns and reports these normal values are being utilized.

The entry of the rainfall observations taken at the 79 new revenue stations has not yet been made in the usual form of record books for deducing averages, and this will have to be undertaken in 1888 in a similar manner to the preceding.

It will thus be seen, the work of the office continues very heavy. The same difficulty was felt as in the previous year in keeping the work of the office precisely up to date, and if it had not been for the employment of the temporary assistance referred to, there would probably have been an accumulation of arrears.

Storm-signals.—It was only necessary to hoist the signals once during the year, namely, on June 15th and 16th. They were hoisted to indicate the existence of a cyclonic storm which was formed at the head of the Bay of Bengal on the 13th June, and after intensifying considerably, moved in a north-westerly direction, the centre passing near Saugor Island, and then through South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar. Night signal No. 10 was hoisted at 2-30 A.M. of the 15th at the signal stations in the river Hughli, and it was followed by day signal No. 6, denoting that a small cyclonic storm was advancing up the Bay and will cross the coast north of a line joining False Point and Chittagong. Notices were also given to the Port Commissioners, Calcutta, and the Port Officers at Calcutta, Balasore, Chandbali, and False Point. Notice of the hoisting of the signals was also given in the Telegraph Shipping Gazette. At 6-25 P. M. orders were given to hoist day signal No. 9 to be followed by night signal No. 11, danger signal, indicating the approach towards Saugor Roads of a cyclonic vortex of small extent of the kind which forms during the rainy season. The Executive Engineers at Balasore and Midnapore were also informed. At 7 o'clock of the morning of the 16th the centre of the storm reached the coast very close to Saugor Island and slightly to the east of it, and as it was still advancing in a northerly direction, the only available warning signal No. 12 for the Port of Calcutta was hoisted, signifying the existence of a cyclone the centre of which was near Saugor, and that the storm was probably advancing towards Calcutta. This signal was the only one that I could possibly use to apprize the Calcutta Port of the storm in question. This signal is, however, intended for use only in the approach of storms of great magnitude and intensity, and though I was aware that the storm was not one of the very intense and fierce cyclones which are generated perhaps once in ten years, yet I was certain that the storm was of sufficient intensity to make it very dangerous for shipping to move in the river and in the port, and hence this signal was hoisted. At midday of the 16th, the centre of cyclonic storm was between Saugor and Calcutta, and was advancing in a north-westerly direction. Information was received at 2-55 P.M. that the flagstaff at Mud Point was broken by the wind force and the storm signals could not be again hoisted at this station. On the 17th the storm centre proceeded inland through Midnapore and the adjacent districts, and the storm signals which were hoisted at the port and at the river stations were therefore ordered to be lowered at 4 A.M. of this day, and the Port Officers at Balasore and Chandbali were informed accordingly.

A considerable number of smaller and more feeble cyclonic storms and barometric depressions occurred during the prevalence of the south-west monsoon over the Bay. A rather severe, but small cyclone was also formed during the first advance of monsoon winds up the Bay which broke on the Madras coast, and also a curious series of three fierce cyclonic storms was formed in the Bay in November and December, all of which crossed the Madras coast, following approximately similar courses. The principal depressions formed in this year are as follows :—

1. Storm of May 23rd and 24th.—This was formed off the south Madras coast, and at some little distance to the east or south-east of Madras on May 22nd and 23rd. By 10 A.M. of the 24th the storm was advancing over the coast line between Negapatam and Madras, and the centre of the storm, which probably passed not very far from Pondicherry, was almost on the coast at this time. It was a storm of considerable diameter, and was very fierce near the centre. The S.S. Tibre was involved in the storm. At 2 P.M. of the 23rd the Meteorological Reporter, Madras, and the Port Officers at Negapatam, Masulipatam, Coconada, and Vizagapatam were telegraphed to the following effect :— "Cyclonic storm south-east of Madras and apparently approaching coast." At 1-10 P.M. on the 24th, it being found that the cyclone was crossing the Peninsula, the following telegram was despatched to the Meteorological Reporter, Bombay :—"Cyclonic storm of considerable ntensity crossing Peninsula south of Madras." By the morning of the 25th the storm had entirely passed inland, and it afterwards apparently passed into the Indian Ocean. It gave heavy rainfall on its onward march to Negapatam and adjacent places.

2. Feeble depression of 1st June.—At the close of May there formed off the Pegu coast a storm which reached the South Bengal coast on June 1st, the centre passing between Saugor Island and Chittagong. The centre on the 2nd was not very far from Burrisal, and it then advanced inland and filled up, giving very heavy rain to South-East Bengal.

3. Depression of 6th and 7th June.—This depression was also very feeble. It formed off the Pegu coast about the 6th of June, and on the 7th advanced inland near Akyab and between this station and Chittagong. It also brought up heavy rain to South-East Bengal.

4. Depression of 9th to 20th July 1886.—During the whole of the eleven days of the existence of this depression, which was formed at the head of the Bay, winds were more or less cyclonic in direction, though light in force. The storm possessed little strength till about the 16th, when it had slightly intensified. On this day the centre, as far as could be judged, was to the east of False Point and almost to the south of Saugor Island. On the 17th the small storm had again distinctly intensified, and was a little to the north of False Point. It then passed inland, bringing heavy rain in its advance. On the 18th the centre was considerably to the north of Cuttack, and moving in a north-westerly direction. It filled up and disappeared on the 20th.

5. The depression of 16th to 20th August—This was formed off the Ganjam coast on the 16th. It was a feeble storm as judged by the barometric depression, but which gave a heavy sea and very bad weather over that part of the Bay. It passed inland to the north of Gopalpore on the 19th.

6. The feeble depression of 13th to 17th September.—It was formed in the north-west angle of the Bay on the 13th, and crossed the Orissa coast on the evening of the 15th, and passed into Chutia Nagpur on the 16th, when it broke up.

7. The feeble depression of 18th to 24th September.—This was formed in the north-west angle of the Bay. The centre passed inland between False Point and Balasore on the evening of the 21st. It gave heavy rain to Orissa and South-West Bengal and South and Central Behar.

8. Depression of 24th to 30th September.—This was formed off the Arakan and Pegu coasts on the 24th, but did not begin to influence the Bengal coast until the 27th, when it was approaching the Ganjam coast. It gave heavy rain to Orissa and South-West Bengal, and moderate rain to Behar and Chutia Nagpur.

9. Depression of 18th and 19th October.—This was formed in the centre of the Bay and moved towards the Ganjam coast, which it crossed early in the morning of the 20th and drifted westwards into the interior. The Port Officers at Gopalpore and Vizagapatam were apprized of the existence of the storm on the 18th. It gave heavy rain to the west coast of the Bay.

10. Storm of 6th to 13th or 14th November.—A definite cyclonic vortex showed itself on the 5th or 6th in the centre and south of the Bay. It marched to the west-north-west, and struck the Madras coast, the centre crossing the coast a little to the north of Madras shortly before noon on the 9th. It advanced across the Peninsula unbroken, and then passed into the Arabian Sea, marching to the north-west. The Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamer Peshawar was involved in it on the 13th. At 3-15 P.M. on the 7th the Master Attendant, Madras, and the Port Officers, Gopalpore and Coconada, were apprized of the formation of the cyclonic storm, and at 2-45 P.M. of the 8th, telegrams announcing the storm were sent to the Master Attendant, Madras, the Port Officers at Gopalpore and Coconada, to Weather Bombay, and to A. V. Nursing Rao, Esq., Vizagapatam, to the following effect:—"The cyclonic storm I warned you about yesterday appears to be of large extent and of considerable intensity. The centre is advancing westward, and will probably strike the coast north of Madras and between Madras and Masulipatam within the next 24 hours."

11. Storm of 18th to 24th November.—This was formed in the Martaban Gulf, and it passed into the Bay of Bengal to the north of Andamans. The centre of the disturbance was in about 16° north latitude, and 89° east longitude at noon of the 22nd, and 16½° north latitude and 84¼° east longitude at noon of the 23rd. It struck the coast between Vizagapatam and Coconada late on the evening of that day, and broke up a few hours afterwards. At 2-50 P.M. of the 22nd, the following telegram was despatched to the Port Officers at Gopalpore, Vizagapatam, Coconada, Masulipatam, and Master Attendant, Madras, and also to Mr. A. V. Nursing Rao:—"A cyclonic storm, accompanied by very strong winds, has formed near the Andamans, and is moving apparently towards the mid-west coast of Bay. It is probably not of large extent; advisable to watch weather." On the 23rd, at 2-35 P.M., the following telegram was addressed to the same officers:—"Present cyclonic storm is approaching the coast of the Circars between Gopalpore and Coconada, and the centre will probably cross the coast near Vizagapatam within the next 24 hours. Storm is apparently of small extent and diffused in character, but accompanied with strong winds" On the 24th, at 2-30 P.M., the following message was sent to the Meteorological Reporter, Bombay:—"Cyclone travelling westward; crossed the coast of the Circars late yesterday evening. The storm appears to be small and diffused in character."

12. Storm of 7th to 9th December.—A small storm or cyclone was formed in the south of the Bay on the 7th. It advanced a little to the north of west and struck the Madras coast on the afternoon of the 9th, and shortly after disappeared. It gave very strong winds and very high sea. The Port Officers, Coconada, Masulipatam, Negapatam, and Madras, and Meteorological Reporter, Bombay, were apprized of the existence of the storm.

Daily Weather Report.—The Bay of Bengal reports of the Storm Signal Service were published every day without any break during the year. The Lithographic Branch of the Survey Department supplied the printed skeleton report forms. There has been no change in the number (20) of the reporting stations over the Bay area. The telegrams were received very regularly from almost all the stations, except that occasional delays have happened in the case of Diamond Island telegrams, particularly during stormy weather.

Mr. A. V. Nursing Rao has continued to favour the Department with the daily observations taken at Vizagapatam, the telegrams from which station are received very punctually. The thanks of the Department are therefore due to him for his continued valuable assistance in connection with the Storm Signal Service.

This report was supplied to 39 Government officers and 22 subscribers paying at the rate of Rs. 2 a month. The receipts from subscribers during the year have covered the cost of printing the reports in this office and of distributing them. There was a balance of Rs. 96-1-3 at the end of the year 1886-87. This amount was kept in hand to meet urgent demands for repairs to the lithographic presses, &c.

The Bengal Daily Weather Reports were published in the year 1886 during the period 27th April to 4th November; 38 stations sent in daily observations by means of telegrams for this report. The report was distributed to 98 Government officials and 19 subscribers.

In accordance with the sanction of the Government of Bengal, the stations of Sibsagar, Dhubri, and Silchar will be added to the number of reporting stations for the Bengal Daily Weather Report for 1887.

Special work.—During the year a full report on the False Point cyclone of 22nd September 1885 was completed by me, and published as volume IV, Part II, of the Indian Meteorological Memoirs.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEORLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, DURING THE MONTH OF JUNE 1887

The month of June is, from a meteorlogical point of view, almost the most important month of the whole year in Bengal, for it is in this month that the south-west monsoon usually establishes itself over the province, and generally over the greater part of Northern India. It is also remarkable that the distribution of the rainfall in Bengal during June frequently foreshadows in a rough and general way the chief features of the distribution of the rains which may be expected during the south-west monsoon period. The cause of the setting in of the rains at the end of May or the beginning of June has been discussed in the monthly reports of previous years, and it is therefore not necessary to repeat this description. It has also been pointed out that the rainfall in the south-west monsoon is not due to a perfectly steady and continuous action, but that it occurs rather as a series of waves or pulsations, a strong wave of rainfall being followed by a period of comparative calm and absence of rainfall, and it is during the latter that frequently small barometric depressions or cyclonic storms are formed, generally over the sea area, and which, after developing for a few days, advance over the land, bringing heavy rainfall to the districts through which they pass. With reference to these storms, it may also be said that the longer the period during which they are forming the more intense they will be. So far also as has been ascertained up to the present time, it would appear that, during a comparatively week monsoon, the periods of comparative cessation of rainfall are more frequent and are of longer duration than during a monsoon of normal strength, and thus weak monsoons are frequently characterized by the number and comparative intensity of the cyclonic storms or barometric depressions which visit the land, while during years when the monsoon is equal to or above its normal strength, these storms occur but seldom, and they are of little intensity

The distribution of the normal rainfall in June is to a certain extent similar to that of April and May, but of course much heavier. The lines of equal rainfall run nearly north and south through the province, the heaviest falls occurring in east and parts of north Bengal, and the smallest in the western parts of Behar In the former districts rainfall varies from 25 to 35 inches, while at Buxar it is less than 5 inches.

The most important meteorological features of June are, therefore, the date of the commencement of the south-west monsoon, its strength, the occurrence and paths of cylonic storms and the amount and distribution of the rainfall.

Establishment of the monsoon.—Even in ordinary years it is almost impossible to state with any great precision the exact date on which the rains may have said to have broken over the province, and this year, owing to the formation of the small and very fierce cyclone which passed over Balasore on May 26th, and which brought up in its rear an inrush of monsoon winds, but which inrush died away shortly after, it is much more difficult than usual to assign any precise date for the breaking of the rains. It is true that in some districts rainfall was general and heavy from the time of the passage of the cyclone until the 1st or 2nd of June, but subsequent to this there was a very distinct break, which lasted from about the 5th up till the 12th or 13th of June, though in some parts of South Behar and Chutia Nagpur the rainfall did not again commence till the 14th. If therefore the advance of the cyclone with its attendant strong winds, drawing the rain-laden monsoon current after it, be looked upon as an accidental circumstance, for the cyclone might have travelled in any other direction, then it may be said that the ordinary south-west monsoon current began to blow over Bengal from about the 12th of June, and that it was thus a little later than usual. Even with this second advance of monsoon winds, however, another cyclonic storm was formed in front of it, but on this occasion the storm crossed the west coast of the Bay between Gopalpore and Vizagapatam.

Strength of the monsoon —The monsoon current may vary in two ways, and its strength will depend on the two considerations of its velocity, and the depth or thickness of the current. No means are available for measuring the depth of the current, so that, in judging of the strength of the monsoon current from year to year, only its velocity can be measured and compared. The velocity can be measured accurately, but it will be seen that this alone can give only a rough approximation to truth. In the table below are given the actual daily velocity of the winds for June compared with the average for the same period at all the stations near the coast, from Diamond Island round to Gopalpore, at which winds have been registered for a sufficient length of time to give a reliable average :—

Stations	Actual average wind velocity for June 1887. Miles per day.	Normal wind velocity in June. Miles per day.
Diamond Island	191	203·8
Akyab	102	94·2
Chittagong	141	168·1
Dacca	173	175·0
Jessore	103	119·5
Calcutta	174	146·5
Saugor Island	381	338·1
Cuttack	120	97·6
False Point	386	249·2
Gopalpore	349	278·6

From this table it will be seen that at the stations from Gopalpore up to Calcutta wind velocities have been above the normal, but that at Jessore, Dacca and Chittagong winds have been below the normal in strength. These facts would naturally point to the inference that rainfall in East Bengal should be below the normal in the month under review, and this it will be subsequently seen is borne out by the actual results. On the other hand, the excess in the wind velocities at the western stations at the head of the Bay would point to the probability of increased rainfall at the western stations, but this inference is not supported by the facts and generally speaking the rainfall at the western stations has been largely below the normal This being the case, it would seem probable that, while the monsoon current blowing over Bengal was of greater velocity than usual over a considerable area, yet that it must have been considerably deficient in depth, thickness or volume, and that therefore the strength of the monsoon, which is the combination of velocity with volume has been in June decidedly lower than usual.

Meteorology of the month.—As has been previously mentioned, the month of June opened with fairly general rainfall during the first day or two, the rainfall being due to the advance of monsoon winds which had followed after the Balasore cyclone. A period of comparative absence of rain then followed, during which another advance of monsoon winds was taking place in the Bay, in front of which, on about the 10th, a cyclonic storm commenced to form. The description of the formation of this storm will be found under the head of Barometric depression of the month. The storm having advanced inland on the morning of the 13th, the monsoon current which had been previously deflected away from Bengal by the storm, then commenced to pass over Bengal, and most districts reported rainfall from the 13th, though the rain did not reach Behar until the 14th and 15th. The winds blowing over Bengal became almost normal in direction after the storm had advanced inland, and a strong southerly and south-easterly current was reported up till the 16th. On this day, however, a strong westerly element appeared in the wind directions over the province, and at most of the western and southern stations winds were south-westerly. This setting in of westerly winds was apparently due to the extension of the influence of the Bombay branch of the monsoon current, which at this time was blowing very strongly. The westerly current still continued strongly pronounced on the 17th. These westerly winds, in driving back the easterly, south-easterly, and southerly monsoon winds which had previously been blowing from the Bay of Bengal, caused a considerable amount of interaction or interference, and therefore probably of ascensional motion, and consequently condotions became favourable for heavy rainfall, particularly in the north and east of the provinced, and at this time rainfall was extremely heavy at many of the stations in these districts.

The westerly current then commenced to decrease in force, and on the 19th a feeble whirl was formed close to the Sunderbuns. This also will be described under the barometric depressions of the month. This feeble storm broke up in South Behar about the 22nd, and the heavy rains which were accompanying it to a great extent ceased. At this time atmospheric pressure became largely above the normal, the monsoon winds fell off in strength, and a slight but distinct break in the rains ensued. This lasted till about the 26th or 27th, when pressure began to fall, and conditions became rather more favourable for rainfall; but quite up till the close of the month a very feeble monsoon only was blowing over the province, and rainfall became decidedly local and generally light in all districts except East and North Bengal and North Behar. As also is usually the case when a light monsoon is blowing, the rainfall during this period was particularly irregular in its distribution, and while some stations and districts received abundant rain, neighbouring stations, in which the meteorological conditions were apparently precisely similar, received little or no rain.

Barometric depressions of the month.—These were two in number, the first being large and somewhat intense, and the second merely a feeble whirl which only brought up heavy rain to the districts through which it passed.

Cyclonic storm of June 10th to the 14th.—Indications of unsettled weather first appeared off the Pegu coast on June 8th, but on the 9th they did not appear to have developed to any great extent. On the 10th a rather feeble cyclonic storm had clearly formed in the northern half of the Bay, which was accompanied by a very well marked cyclonic circulation of winds, and the centre of the storm was probably to the west of the centre of the Bay, and apparently opposite the coast between Gopalpur and Vizagapatam. On the 11th there was a decidedly rapid fall of pressure at the west coast stations of the Bay in the neighbourhood of the storm, at the same time wind velocities at Diamond Island and in the north of the Bay increased very decidedly, showing that the storm was gradually and rather considerably intensifying. Similar conditions prevailed on Sunday: pressure fell again at the coast stations and became very low, and wind velocities increased in the rear of the storm, and at Diamond Island blew very strongly, and it is probable that on this day the storm was of considerable strength, and weather over the northern part of the Bay was very squally, if not stormy. The storm was also drifting slowly in a westerly direction. It was thought desirable on this day to warn the ships proceeding down the River Hoogly of the existence of the storm, and on the afternoon signal No. 5 was hoisted, which signified the existence of a small cyclonic storm in the Bay, the centre of which would probably cross the coast to the south of False Point. On the 13th, at 10 A. M., the centre of the storm was almost over the coast about midway between Gopalpur and Vizagapatam. During the night of the 13th pressure at Gopalpur was about 29·3″, showing that the storm was one of moderate intensity; but it must also be remembered that the centre of the storm was at least 80 miles from the nearest meteorological station, so that probably at its centre pressure was far lower than that recorded. As the storm was passing inland, the storm signals were lowered on the afternoon of the 14th. Fairly strong winds were recorded in connection with the storm, but, as stated above, the meteorological stations were too far away to give any good record of the actual intensity of the storm. The storm afterwards drifted into the Central Provinces and subsequently filled up. Reports received from ships navigating the Bay at this time show that the storm gave rise to very strong winds and high sea, and generally to very bad weather in the centre of the Bay.

Feeble whirl of June 19th to the 22nd.—On the 19th, the 10 A. M. observations showed clearly that a very feeble whirl or barometric depression had formed over the Sunderbuns, the centre of the whirl being apparently only a short distance to the south-east of Saugor Island. On this day the wind direction at the stations at the head of the Bay showed a distinct cyclonic circulation in connection with the feeble whirl, but the wind velocities were in all cases light. On this day rainfall was fairly general in South-West Bengal and Orissa, and in some cases decidedly heavy in connection with the small depression, but the indraught towards it to a certain extent stopped the progress of the monsoon current over Bengal, and rainfall was to a great extent absent in East and North Bengal and in Behar. On the 20th, at 10 A. M., the very feeble storm had moved in a north-westerly direction, and its centre was between Burdwan, Ranigange and Bancoorah, and apparently approaching Ranigange, and round the storm wind direction showed a very complete cyclonic circulation. It had also intensified slightly on this day, and the depression was very distinctly perceptible, though the wind force in connection with it was small. The feeble storm, however, brought up a rather heavy burst of rainfall to the area affected by it, and by allowing the monsoon current to again advance over the land, rainfall extended to other parts of Bengal also, and on this day heavy rain was reported over a large part of the province. On the 21st the storm had again advanced in a north-westerly direction, and its centre was in South Behar. It was on this day probably becoming more feeble, and it was then a decidedly shallow depression, the centre of which was between Gya and Bhagulpore. On this day rainfall became lighter in South-West Bengal, Orissa, and to a certain extent in East Bengal, but the area of heavy rainfall extended to the northern districts of the province, and heavy rain fell in Behar and North Bengal. The feeble storm then commenced to break up, and its disappearance again produced heavy rain over the whole of the northern districts of the province, and on the 22nd the storm had scarcely any well-defined existence at all.

Pressure—Was at the commencement of the month slightly below the normal, but after about the 6th a slow increase of pressure commenced till about the 10th, when the pressure changes were governed by the existence of the cyclonic storm in the Bay. After the disappearance of the storm pressure rose steadily, and on about the 24th of June it became very largely above the normal over the whole of Bengal, the average excess being greater than a tenth of an inch, though the excess at the Assam stations was only about half this amount. Pressure subsequently commenced to fall, but even up to the close of the month it had not become normal, and pressure was generally in excess by small amounts averaging about 0·03 inch or 0·04 inch. For the whole month the variations from the normal have not been very large, and taking those stations in Bengal only from which records have been obtained for a number of years, and whose averages can therefore be depended on, the variation of the mean pressure of the whole province for June has only been an excess of 0·015 inch This excess has been very equally divided, for the largest variations are from an excess of 0·008 inch at False Point and Burdwan to one of 0·027 inch at Hazaribagh. In Assam also pressure has been very nearly normal for the month, Sibsagar showing an excess of 0·007 inch, Dhubri one of 0·006 inch, while Silchar shows an average defect of 0·004 inch.

Temperature—Was at the commencement of the month decidedly low over the province, as heavy rain had fallen in connection with the cyclone which passed over Balasore at the end of May. During the remainder of the month there have been somewhat large oscillations owing to there having been periods of heavy rain and of absence of rain, but for the whole month the variations for the normal are not very large, and for the stations in Bengal the variation is a defect of 0·9°. The variation is, however, a little unequal in different districts, Behar showing a defect of 2·5° and Chutia Nagpur one of 1·6°, while East and North Bengal show temperatures slightly in excess of the normal. In Assam the mean temperature for the month has been 1·5° in defect of the normal.

Rainfall—The rainfall statistics of Assam are only received from three stations, and the amounts recorded during June have been as follows:—Silchar the large amount of 26·44 inches, Dhubri 25·66 inches, and Sibsagar 15·47 inches.

The rainfall data for Bengal, on the other hand, are very complete and can therefore be discussed in detail. Generally speaking the rainfall in June for Bengal has been largely in excess of the normal in North Bengal and North Behar, and rather largely in defect over the remainder of the province. Compared with the normal for the period, the fall of the whole province of Bengal in June may be said to have been equal to 92 per cent. of the normal fall, but in different districts the falls are very unequal; the fall has been 39 per cent. in excess in North Bengal, 35 per cent. in excess in North Behar, 18 per cent. in defect in South-West Bengal, 21 per cent. in defect in East Bengal, 27 per cent. in defect in Chutia Nagpur, 30 per cent. in defect in South Behar, and 34 per cent. in defect in Orissa. The figures representing the rainfall of the month of June in each meteorological division, calculated as a percentage of the normal, are included in the table below. This table really gives a condensed summary of the rainfall statistics of the present year up to the end of June for each meteorological division, the first six columns giving the actual monthly falls of the six months expressed as a percentage of the normal, while the seventh column shows the total fall for the six months expressed in the same way. In the table therefore 100 will represent a normal fall, a number above 100 as an excess fall, and so on :—

Taking up the rainfall more in detail, it is found that instead of the lines of equal rainfall running nearly north and south as they do in normal years in June, in the present instance they run from south-east to north-west. The centres of heaviest rainfall have been in the north-east of the province, at such stations as Cooch Behar, which has received 54·25 inches, Alipore Duar in the Julpigoree district, which has received 47·88 inches, and Bagdogra (Rungpore district), Falacotta (Julpigoree district), and Matabhanga (Cooch Behar district) which have each received more than 40 inches. From these, as the centres of heaviest fall, the rainfall diminishes towards the west and south of the province, till many stations in these districts have received falls below 5 inches, and in some cases below 3 inches. Roughly speaking, a line drawn from Patuakhally in South-East Bengal in a north-westerly direction to near Bettiah in North Behar, divides the province by a line of 10-inch rainfall, the districts to the north having received amounts above, and those to the south below this amount. As examples of extremely small falls during the month, it may be mentioned that Pooree has only received 1·81 inches, False Point 2·19 inches, Barasat 3·71 inches, Burdwan 2·95 inches, Onda 3·10 inches, Jessore 2·65 inches, Aurangabad 2·58 inches, Rajauli (Gya district) 1·10 inches and Barhi (Hazaribagh district) 1·49 inches.

Compared with the normal fall, almost the whole of the north-eastern districts have received excess falls, the excess amounts in some instances being larger than 10 and 15 inches, while the whole of the remainder of the province has been in defect, generally by amounts ranging up to 4 inches, but which also in certain areas exceed 10 and 15 inches. The line of normal rainfall starts in the east of the province at about Brahmunberiah, passes through Dacca district, then through the Pubna and Rajshahye districts, then takes a dip to the south and skirts the Moorshedabad district, then passes to the north of the Sonthal Pergunnahs district, and from this point nearly follows along the line of the Ganges. To the north of this line the rainfall has been in excess and to the south in defect. The areas of largest defect comprise the southern and south-eastern parts of South-East Bengal, a portion of Central Bengal, comprising parts of the Burdwan, Hooghly, Howrah, 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea and Pubna districts, and also considerable parts of the Balasore, Pooree and Cuttack districts, though other parts of the Cuttack district are in considerable excess.

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and the normal rainfall of the month of June in all districts of the province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance or weight being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the weekly and monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third column in a slightly different form. It states as a percentage how much the district rainfall of the month varied in excess or defect from the normal rainfall, and is hence the difference between the numbers in the third column and 100 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the past ten years. The summary of the climatology expressed as percentage, estimated on hours represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of the principal means or averages of the rainfall in each district (Meteorological Report) is calculated from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 10 years. The rainfall in each station in the district sending in reports divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 12th July 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 8TH OF JULY 1887.

DURING the previous week the monsoon current blowing over the province had been decidedly light, and in consequence the average rainfall had been much below the normal in the Bay, however, the monsoon current which had been blowing was fairly strong. The same conditions have obtained during the greater part of the present week, and the monsoon current appears to have been partially stopped by the generation of a feeble whirl in the northern half of the Bay, and which only reached the land on the 7th. The whirl was formed very slowly and never intensified to any extent, and yet it apparently affected the monsoon current blowing over Bengal and made it decidedly weaker. The principal feature in the meteorology of the week has therefore been the formation and advance of this whirl. On Saturday, the 2nd instant, pressure became comparatively low off the Arakan coast, and winds showed a slight tendency to circulation along this coast. On the following day these indications of the formation of a feeble barometric depression or whirl were confirmed, and it was probably on this day near the centre of the Bay and south of a line joining Akyab and Gopalpore. On Monday, the 4th, the whirl had developed to a sufficient extent to cause a distinct cyclonic circulation of winds over the whole of the northern half of the Bay, and on this day probably the centre of the whirl or feeble depression was to the west of the centre of the Bay, and to the east-south-east of Gopalpore. On Tuesday, the 5th, it had distinctly developed and had advanced in a north-westerly direction, the centre being to the south of Saugor Island and about east-north-east of False Point. Notwithstanding that it had distinctly developed, it was still exceedingly feeble, and the wind velocities in connection with it were very small, though the circulation was completely cyclonic. On the 6th it had again advanced, and on this day apparently the centre was close to Saugor Island, but it was clear that it was not developing to any extent, but that it was rather becoming more feeble. On Thursday, the 7th, it had passed inland, but it had weakened to such an extent that it had almost disappeared, and on the 8th it had quite filled up. For the whole period of its existence the winds accompanying it, as judged by the coast stations, were comparatively weak, but at sea it probably gave rise to strong winds and squally weather. In its advance it brought rather heavy rain, and on the 6th Balasore, Jellasore, Contai, Saugor Island, Devog, and other stations each reported about 2 inches of rain.

Though the depression was such a feeble one, yet it to a certain extent, by the indraught towards it, stopped the monsoon current from spreading over Bengal, and thus rainfall has been in defect in nearly all districts, the defects being particularly noticeable in East and North Bengal, in North Behar and in Chutia Nagpur: that is, in those districts which did not feelthe effects of the rainfall which accompanied the storm. With the advance of the storm inland, and its disappearance, conditions have now become decidedly more favourable, and the strong monsoon current which has been blowing in the Bay should be able to advance uninterruptedly over Bengal and to give good rainfall.

Pressure.—The depression above described was of so feeble a nature that it had not any considerable effect on the general pressure of the province, excepting to make the average pressure of the south-western stations for the week comparatively low. Over the greater part of the province the mean pressure for the week has been slightly above the normal, the excess ranging about as high as 0·05″ at Purneah. The general excess pressure at all the stations except those affected by the depression has not been larger than about 0 03″, and when all the stations in the province are considered from which records have been received for several years, and which therefore give reliable averages, the mean weekly variation is only an excess of 0·019″. At False Point, on the other hand, pressure has been in defect by 0·012″, and at Gopalpore the defect has been 0·018″. In Assam pressure has been in excess by 0·015″, the seat of principal excess being Sibsagar.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature during the week have not been large, and the mean temperatures have been nearly normal. For the whole province the average variation for this period is less than a tenth of a degree, so that it may be said the general temperature has been normal. In the various districts East Bengal shows a slight excess temperature and Chutia Nagpur a slight defect. In Assam temperature has been quite normal on the average for the week.

Rainfall.—As has been previously stated, has been decidedly below the normal in almost all districts. Compared with the normal, and expressed as a percentage of the normal fall, the rainfall in each meteorological district becomes—Orissa 101 per cent., South-West Bengal 96 per cent., East Bengal 76 per cent., North Bengal 80 per cent., North Behar 69 per cent., South Behar 80 per cent. and Chutia Nagpur 64 per cent. Taking all these as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall in the province may be said to have equalled 81 per cent. of the normal for the period.

As is usually the case, when a light monsoon is blowing, the distribution of the rainfall has been decidedly irregular. Thus in the following districts the rainfall has been very considerably smaller than would be indicated by the above numbers:—Midnapore, Hooghly, Khoolna, Jessore, Furreedpore, Dacca, Rungpore, Mozufferpore and Bhagulpore. Centres of comparatively heavy rainfall, on the other hand, have occurred in the following districts:—Beerbhoom, Berhampore, Chumparun and Gya.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 8th of July 1887 :—

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSIONER FOR BENGAL,
The 11th July 1887

R. LIDDERDALE, M.D.,
Deputy Surgeon-General, Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

MEMORANDUM.

DURING the week ending 25th June 1887 the returns from the principal Municipalities in Bengal furnished the following particulars :—

1. That births and deaths were registered in these Municipalities in the proportions per 1,000 of population of 13·3 and 20·2, respectively, as opposed to 17·3 and 18 per 1,000 in the preceding week ending 18th June, indicating a sensible improvement in the registration of deaths with a large retrogression in that of births.

2. That the highest proportions of births were returned by the Comillah and Arrah Municipalities, viz., at the rates of 38·5 and 38·3 per 1,000 of their populations, respectively, and of deaths by the Puri, Bhagulpore and Gya Municipalities, viz., at 128·, 34·4 and 32·8 per 1,000 respectively.

3. That as compared with the results of the preceding week, there was a noticeable increase of mortality from cholera, and only fractional variations in the death-rates from the rest of the diseases; vide figures given below :—

	Ratio per mille during the weeks ending—
	25th June 1887.	18th June 1887.
Cholera	3·5	2·4
Small-pox	·1	·2
Fever	7·5	7·0
Bowel-complaints	2·3	2·2
Injury	·4	·3
Other causes	6·4	5·9

4. That the Municipalities named below appear to have suffered the most from the diseases (excepting small-pox and injury, which exhibited no local severity) indicated in the foregoing table :—

Cholera.	Ratio per mille.	Fever.	Ratio per mille.	Bowel-Complaints.	Ratio per mille.	Other causes.	Ratio per mille.

It will be noticed that cholera prevailed with very great severity in the Puri town, its prevalence being, no doubt, associated with the presence of pilgrims in that town for the Rath Jatra festival which took place this month.

5. That the death-rates in relation to Sex, Class and Age, stood as noted below :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during 5 weeks ended 28th May 1887.

INCREASES.

Coal and coke.—The increase was both in the despatches for upward and downward coal, the former was due to despatches from Karmatar for the North-West Railway, and from Sitarampur to Cawnpore, Delhi and stations on the Tirhoot State Railway, and the latter was chiefly due to despatches to the Eastern Bengal State Railway carried over the Jubilee Bridge vid Naihati.

Cotton.—This increase was due to large stocks at despatching stations.

Wheat.—Due to good demand in Calcutta.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The increase was principally in the despatches from Raneegunge and stations on the Loop line to stations in the Dinapore district, Allahabad, Jubbulpore, and Cawnpore, owing to low rates at the sending stations and to comparatively high prices prevailing in Behar and the North-West Provinces.

Opium.—Due to increased despatches to meet Government requirements.

Railway Material, Foreign.—The increase was in the despatches from Howrah to Chowsa for the Indain-Midland Railway, and from Bombay to Manikpur for the same system.

Salt.—There was a large increase in the despatches from Howrah due to the fall in the price of imported salt.

DECREASES.

Piece-goods, European.—Due to the markets at Calcutta and in the North-West Provinces being very dull, and to fewer marriage ceremonies having taken place during the period.

Turmeric.—This decrease was principally in the despatches from Howrah, and may be ascribed in some measure to the competition of the inland steamers, and to stations in the North-West obtaining some of their supplies from Madras.

Gunny.—This decrease was principally in long distance traffic, and may be ascribed to the absence of any large demand in the Punjab and Oudh and the North-West Provinces, owing to the partial failure of the crops.

Pulses.—The decrease was general, and may be ascribed, in the case of the stations in the Dinapore district, in some measure to the cultivation of wheat having taken the place of pulses. In the North-West and Punjab the crop of pulses appears to have suffered in the same way as other crops.

Other rain and spring crops.—The same remarks apply as in regard to pulses.

Hides.—This decrease is said to be due to abundant pasture in the Dinapore district, resulting in less cattle mortality than usual during the dry season.

Seeds.—The decrease was chiefly in the despatches of linseed from stations Luckeeserai to Cawnpore. It is believed that the stock of linseed at stations in the Dinapore district is very large, and that merchants are holding back their despatches for a rise in prices in Calcutta.

Sugar, refined and unrefined.—The remarks made in the report for April 1887 may be repeated; there is still a deficiency of sugar at the exporting stations in the Dinapore district, and the Oudh and Rohilkund Railway is supplying Rajputana by way of Aligarh.

Government stores.—The decrease was principally in the despatches from Howrah, Tobacco.—Due to poor crops and short lead traffic from the Assam-Behar State Railway vid Shahebgunge Ghât.

CEYLON ISLAND.

SOUTH-EAST COAST.

Particulars of reported reefs between Little Bassas and Batticaloa.

THE following information, relating to the coast and the dangers off it between Little Bassas rock on the south and Batticaloa harbour on the north, is republished from the notice issued by His Excellency Rear Admiral Sir F. W. Richards, K.C.B., the Commander-in-Chief of the East India station.

The dangers reported off Komarie Point, and on which the steam-ships Graville and Macgregor are said to have struck, do not exist in the positions assigned.

A careful examination of the locality has been made by Captain Aldrich, and the officers of H. M. S. Egeria, and, as a result, the coast should not be approached nearer than 20 fathoms in thick weather between Komarie and Batticaloa.

The ridge shown on the present Admiralty sheet and in the neighbourhood of Komarie is about two miles north of its proper position, which latter is as follows :—

Its north extreme is in about latitude 7° 2′ 30″ N. and 1·4 mile from the shore.
The south extreme is in about latitude 6° 59′ N. and 0·8 mile from the shore.

It is narrow, and composed of sand and coral patches. On several of the latter there is as little as 2¾ fathoms of water. The whole forms a dangerous reef.

Outside it, and to a distance of four miles from the shore, the ground is very uneven, and a patch with 7 fathoms on it lies 3·7 miles from the nearest shore, and from it Aganis Peak bears N. 69° W. (true).

The effects of the winds and currents hereabouts, as also on the edge of the Bank of Soundings, are seen in heavy overfalls and tide rips, which may be mistaken for shoal water, sometimes being met with even in the finest weather.

The closely approximate position of the Alphee shoal is in latitude 7° 26′ N.; longitude 81° 51′ 30″ E., coral; least water 3¼ fathoms.

Komarie Point is a rounded curve in the coast line, and cannot be distinguished as a point from the sea, unless very close in to the shore.

The appearance of the coast changes at times very rapidly, and estimated distances were often found much in error during the survey.

Charts affected—813, Ceylon, sheet 1; 2031, Ceylon, sheet 2; 828, Cape Comorin to Cocanada; 70, Bay of Bengal.

By direction of the Government of Bengal,

ARTHUR W. STIFFE, Captain, I.M.,
Port Officer of Calcutta.

[Second Publication.]

NOTIFICATION.

The 9th July 1887.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules to regulate the manufacture, possession, and sale of explosives in the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

2. Nothing in the rules relating to the possession of explosives shall apply in any port, as defined in the Indian Ports Act, 1875, for which the local Government may have made, or may make, special rules under the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, to regulate the possession of explosives.

J. WARE EDGAR,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES UNDER THE EXPLOSIVES ACT, 1884, FOR THE MANUFACTURE, POSSESSION, AND SALE OF EXPLOSIVES IN THE LOWER PROVINCES OF BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY.

1. For the purposes of these rules, explosives shall be classified as follows, namely—

Class	1	Gunpowder.
,,	2	Nitrate-mixture.
,,	3	Nitro-compound.
,,	4	Chlorate-mixture.
,,	5	Fulminate.
,,	6	Ammunition.
,,	7	Firework.

When an explosive falls within the description of more than one class, it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls.

CLASS 1.—Gunpowder Class.

The term "gunpowder" means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called.

CLASS 2.—Nitrate-mixture Class.

The term "nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance.

The nitrate-mixture class comprises such explosives as—

Pyrolithe,
Pudrolithe,
Poudre saxifragine,

and any preparation coming within the above definition.

CLASS 3.—Nitro-compound Class.

The term "nitro-compound" means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not.

The nitro-compound class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Nitro-glycerine,	Dualine,
Dynamite,	Glyoxiline,
Lithofracteur,	Methylic-nitrate,

and any chemical compound or mechanically-mixed preparation which consists either wholly or partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound,

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Gun-cotton, ordinarily so called,	Cotton gunpowder,
Gun-paper,	Schultz's powder,
Xyloidine,	Nitro-mannite,
Gun-sawdust,	Picrates,
Nitrated gun-cotton,	Picric powder,

and any nitro-compound as before defined, which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture Class.

The term "chlorate-mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder, | Brain's blasting powder,

and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,
Erhardt's powder,
Reverley's powder,
Hochstadter's blasting charges,
Reichen's blasting charges,
Teutonite,
Chlorated gun-cotton,

CLASS 5.—Fulminate Class.

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture, whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion, and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

This class consists of two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury, and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorous, or certain descriptions of phosphorous compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphuret, with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—Ammunition Class.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when, enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting, which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction and contains an explosive in such quantity that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges.

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

Safety cartridges.
Safety fuzes for blasting.
Railway fog signals.
Percussion caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition as before defined which does not contain its own means of ignition, and is not included in division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,
Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,
War rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition as before defined which contains its own means of ignition, and is not included in division 1, such as—

Detonators,
Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the ammunition by friction or percussion.

The term "firework" comprises firework composition and manufactured fireworks.

Division 1.—The term "firework composition" means any chemical compound or mechanically-mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any coloured fire composition.

Division 2.—The term "manufactured firework" means any explosive of the foregoing classes and any firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, serpent, rocket (other than a war-rocket), maroon, star, lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals.

MANUFACTURE, POSSESSION, AND SALE.

33. When a license granted in accordance with these rules is lost, or accidentally destroyed, duplicate may be granted to the licensee on payment of a fee of 8 annas.

34. Any person holding a license, or acting under a license, granted in accordance with these rules, shall be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by any Magistrate or by any Police Officer in charge of a police-station, or by any Police Officer of higher rank.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON INLAND EMIGRATION FOR THE YEAR 1886.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—INLAND EMIGRATION.

Calcutta, the 18th July 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on Inland Emigration for the year 1886.

The report is submitted by Dr. Grant, who continued to hold the office of Superintendent of Inland Emigration during the year. The appointment of Medical Inspector of Emigrants was held by Dr. McConnell for the first six months, and by Dr. Chandra for the last six months of the year. Dr. Richards superintended emigration arrangements at Goalundo till the end of June 1886, when he was deputed to another station, and during the rest of the year the work of superintendence and medical inspection of emigrants at Goalundo was performed by the Sub-divisional Officer, Mr. Müller, and by Dr. Bose.

Administrative measures.

2. Arrangements were made during the year for the medical inspection of emigrants at Mugra, Jaipur Hât, Dhubri, Goalundo and Naraingunge, with a view to the removal and treatment of those who might be found to be suffering from cholera or similar diseases. Instructions were issued to prevent these necessary examinations being made the occasion of undue detention. A revised scale of establishment was sanctioned for the office of the Embarkation Agent at Goalundo, whereby an annual saving of Rs. 240 has been effected. It has been arranged, since the close of the year, on a proposal made by the Chief Commissioner of Assam, that Station-Masters on the Eastern Bengal State Railway and Northern Bengal State Railway shall telegraph to the Embarkation Agent at Dhubri reports of cases of cholera occurring among passengers travelling by rail to that station.

3. A daily steamer service between Naraingunge, Cachar, and Sylhet was introduced on the 1st January 1887, and it is confidently hoped that employers will avail themselves freely of the facility which has been in this way afforded to emigration, and thus put an end to the excessive mortality from cholera, so prevalent among coolies in the long and tedious boat journeys up-stream.

Recruitment.

4. In the Resolution upon last year's report, it was noticed that there existed a tendency towards the substitution of free emigration to the labour districts for recruitment under Act, I of 1882. This conclusion has been amply confirmed by the experience of the year 1886, in which only 13,069 labourers and their dependents were registered under the Act, as against 16,104 in 1885, and 31,157 in 1884. Three contractors worked throughout the year, against five in 1885 and six in 1884: 106 recruiters were employed, as against 147 in 1885 and 211 in 1884, and the recruiters registered on an average 27 emigrants, as against an average of 30 in 1885 and 33·55 in 1884. On the other hand, it appears that the number of free emigrants to Assam increased from 9,320 to 13,134: the number of free emigrants to Cacher and Sylhet is not known.

5. In recruiting under the Act, the tendency is to substitute the agency of garden sardars for that of contractors. The contractors, who formerly had in their hands by far the greater part of the business, engaged during the year 1886 only 2,945 coolies; the garden sardars as many as 10,124. The contractors work chiefly for the gardens of Sylhet and Cachar.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure that it was not found necessary to cancel the license of any recruiter during the year. Of the garden sardars one was deprived of his license for misconduct, which consisted in engaging a married woman without the consent of her husband. Some licensed female recruiters were employed during the year, but apparently without much success.

Districts of recruitment.

7. The statement showing the districts from which emigrants come has, like some of the other tables attached to the report, lost most of its original value, inasmuch as it relates only to coolies recruited through contractors, who now form but a small fraction of the whole body. Some information as to the numbers recruited by garden sardars is given in the body of the report, but it is very incomplete. On the whole, however, it is clear that Hazaribagh, the Sonthal Pergunnahs, Monghyr, Bankura, Gya, and Midnapore are the chief recruiting grounds.

Transport.

8. Dr. Grant is able to give complete particulars only as to the transport of emigrants registered by contractors, as the others travel independently. As in the preceding year, all the emigrants registered by contractors were brought in the first place to Calcutta, none going to Goalundo direct. Of the 2,945 persons registered during the year, 2,885 arrived in the Calcutta depôts, nine were discharged and 51 deserted. After the addition of 221 persons remaining from the previous year, and of two infants born in the depôts, the number lodged in the Calcutta depôts in 1886 was 3,108. Of these 2,422 departed for Goalundo, and 16 travelled by rail to Dhubri. The remainder were disposed of as follows:—Fifteen were rejected, 204 discharged, 265 deserted, 7 died, 138 remained in the depôts at the close of the year, and 41 were not accounted for by a contractor who closed his depôt. Of these last persons, Dr. Grant writes:—"It is probable that the coolies were allowed to leave the depôt to be engaged elsewhere, in order to avoid the payment to them of compensation, which would have been awarded them had they been discharged in the usual way with the knowledge and consent of the Superintendent of Emigration." This irregularity should be borne in mind in the event of the contractor seeking a renewal of his license

9. The following table compares the details of the diminution in number of the emigrants during their stay at the depôts with the corresponding particulars for 1885 :—

	Year.
	1885.		1886.
Daily average strength	29·07		18·34
Daily sick	1 17		0·66
	Number.	Percentage.	Number.	Percentage.
Rejections, including relatives ..	58	1·30	22	0 70
Ditto, excluding relatives ...	32	0·72	15	0·18
Discharges	386	8·68	204	6·56
Desertions	274	6·16	265	8·52
Deaths from cholera	5	0·11	1	0·03
Total deaths from other causes ...	9	0·20	6	0·19

10. The figures for 1886 compare favourably with those for the preceding year under every head except "Desertions," as to which the Superintendent observes :—

"As regards desertions, since coolies who abscond carry their reasons with them, it is of course impossible, except in the few instances where deserters return to depôt after having failed in obtaining employment elsewhere, to ascertain the causes of desertion; but especially in view of the small demand for contractors' coolies during the past year, it is not unlikely that most of the desertions were due to the desire for immediate employment, and consequent disinclination to wait in depôt for the chance of being selected by employers. All coolies who had completed their month's residence in depôt, and expressed a desire to leave, as they had not been found work, were, after payment to them of compensation, returned in the usual manner, at the expense of the contractor, to the place of registration."

11. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Sanitary Commissioner in considering that the improved statistics of sickness and mortality show that the sanitary arrangements of the depôts are now better, and that the supervision is more close. Every person admitted into the depôts was vaccinated. With regard to rejections, Dr. Chandra points out in his report that, although the number is small, it might be still further reduced if greater strictness were observed in the medical inspection of emigrants before they are despatched from the recruiting districts. This observation is supported by the figures given on page 10 of Dr. Grant's report, which show that four emigrants after they had been accepted in the interior as fit were rejected in Calcutta for idiotcy and one for double cataract. The attention of medical officers will be drawn to this subject.

12. In tracing the history of the contractors' coolies after their departure from Calcutta, it is satisfactory to find that there were no casualties on the journey to Goalundo, and only one death, that of a newly born infant, in the depôts at that station, which are said to have been exceptionally healthy The number accommodated in these depôts was 2,433, of whom 847 were despatched to the Assam Valley, 1,219 to Cachar and 361 to Sylhet. Among the Assam emigrants three deaths (two from cholera) occurred during the steamer voyage to the tea districts, and on the boat journeys to Cachar and Sylhet 13 emigrants deserted and 18 died (14 from cholera).

13. Particulars of the journey of sardari emigrants are incomplete, since the way-bills were not always returned to the Superintendent, as they should have been. But from the information furnished, it is evident that the mortality among coolies of this class during their journey by boat to Sylhet and Cachar was, as in previous years, very great. Out of 4,624 persons accounted for in the way-bills, as many as 216 died from cholera, and 33 from other causes, the percentage of deaths being 5·38. Some information should have been given as to the stage of the journey in which the mortality occurred, and it is requested that this may now be furnished in a supplementary report. The excessive mortality among the coolies taken by sardars in boats to Cachar and Sylhet has long been the great drawback to the system of emigration, and it is hoped that a change will be effected now that the India General Steam Navigation Company have established a line of steamers, by the aid of which a great part of the voyage can be accomplished without delay or risk. The table given on page 16 of Dr. Grant's report also shows that 42 of these emigrants deserted, and that 22 were left behind en route. These particulars have been ascertained in consequence of the return of a larger number of way-bills than in former years, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that Dr. Grant will continue his efforts to effect a further improvement in this respect.

Period of contract.

14. Of the engagements entered into by contractors' labourers, not quite 10 per cent. were for a term of five years, and the remainder were for three years. Of labourers recruited by garden sardars and placed on contract in the recruiting districts, nearly 43 per cent. were made for five years. On this subject Dr. Grant writes :—

"It seems reasonable to conclude that coolies, under the influence of garden sardars, in whom they would be likely to have more confidence than in contractors' recruiters, would show less reluctance to engaging for five years than contractors' coolies, and the result may, I think, be in great part attributed to that cause."

It is to be observed that of 8,682 contracts made before the Emigration Agent at Dhubri during the year, only 348 or 4 per cent. were made for three years, and all the remainder for five years. It would thus appear that coolies generally contract for the shorter period when the engagement is made in their own district, for the longer term when it is concluded at the end of the journey from Bengal.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor tenders his thanks to Dr. Grant for his efficient supervision of inland emigration during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION OF THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS FOR THE YEAR 1886.

POLICE.

Calcutta, the 16th July 1887.

Read also—

The Annual Reports of the Chief Presidency Magistrate, and the Presidency Magistrate of the Northern Division, on the Criminal Administration of their Courts for the year 1886.

The Reports for the year 1885 and the orders of Government thereon.

The following comparative table shows the total number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta during the year 1886 and two preceding years:—

			1884.	1885.	1886.
Cognizable	Penal Code	...	4,638	4,132	5,049
	Miscellaneous	...	16,010	13,948	19,336
Non-cognizable	Penal Code	...	12,248	9,692	8,538
	Miscellaneous	...	18,692	19,999	21,017
	Total	...	51,588	47,771	53,940

An increase of over 6,000 cases is at first sight a very formidable increase; but an examination of the figures in the appended returns for the two years shows that there has not been any real increase of crime. For instance, in the town, cases of grievous hurt have increased from 21 to 37, and house-breakings from 130 to 170, but, as a counterpoise, there were only 1,699 cases of theft and 138 of criminal and house-trespass against 1,858 and 186 respectively in 1885. The increase is to be looked for under the head of nuisances and one or two local or special Acts, as is manifest from the following figures:—

	1885.	1886.
Offences under Stage Carriage Act	1,161	1,823
Cognizable public and local nuisances ...	323	1,284
Miscellaneous offences in streets under Act IV (B.C), 1866, as amended by Act II (B.C.), 1886, sections 66, 68, 68A, 70	4,604	7,956
Cruelty to Animals Act I (B.C.), 1869	2,829	3,389

As regards the last head, it is said that an increased agency for the detection of cases was employed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; but the report does not explain the increased number of prosecutions under the Hackney Carriage Act. The increase under the head of public and local nuisances is no doubt in a great measure due to the opinion expressed by Sir Rivers Thompson in paragraph 7 of last year's Resolution, that cases of obstruction in the streets could be adequately dealt with under section 283 of the Penal Code. As regards miscellaneous offences in the streets, an amending Act was passed during the year empowering the police to arrest persons committing nuisances, found drunk, or guilty of riotous or indecent behaviour in the streets. Under Acts II and IV (B.C.) of 1866 the police had no such power. The new powers, which have always been exercised by the police in the mofussil, were much required, a nd appear to have been freely used. At the same time it is worthy of note that the number of non-cognizable nuisances under Chapter XIV of the Penal Code has decreased from 4,625 to 3,611. These offences comprise the adulteration of food and drugs, the sale of noxious food, the sale of any drug or medical preparation as a different drug or medical preparation, making the atmosphere noxious to health, negligence with regard to poisons, or machinery, or in pulling down buildings, and every kind of public nuisance not specially provided for. The Commissioner has made no serious attempt to give any reason for this large decrease of 1,000 cases. He merely remarks that "the decrease under the head of public nuisances occurred in consequence of the amendment of the Police Act;" but it is obvious that the offences of drunkenness and riotous or indecent behaviour have no connection with the offences above enumerated. It is true that section 68A of the amending Act II (B. C.) of 1886, punishes the commission of ordinary nuisances in the streets, an offence which, prior to the passing of that Act, could only be dealt with under section 290 of the Penal Code; but Sir Steuart Bayley thinks it very unlikely that in 1885 the police could have applied for summonses under that section in as many as 1,000 cases. In the Government Resolution on the Report for 1884, the police were specially directed not to exceed their legal powers in this respect, and as a consequence the number of public nuisances fell from 6,469 in 1884 to 4,625 in 1885. A still further decrease of 1,000 cases requires some explanation, especially as there is reason to believe that some of the offences under the non-cognizable sections of Chapter XIV of the Penal Code, above enumerated, are of frequent commission. Complaints are not infrequently made in the vernacular newspapers of the sale of noxious articles of food, and many native gentlemen consider the adulteration of drugs and medicines to be so rife that they get all prescriptions made up by high class European chemists in spite of the comparatively high prices charged by them.

2. Arrests and convictions in the Town and Suburbs.—The number of persons arrested and summoned rose from 46,781 in 1885 to 54,309 in 1886. The number in 1884 was 54,888. The number of persons convicted was 46,818 against 39,600 in 1885. The percentage of convictions for cognizable offences under the Penal Code rose from 65 to 74, and under special and local laws from 93·54 to 94·22, while, as regards non-cognizable offences, there was a slight decrease in the ratio from 80·10 to 79·28. Out of 12,880 persons arrested for street offences, 12,090 were convicted, the increase being due to the amended Police Act referred to in the preceding paragraph. The increase in the number of convictions under the Hackney Carriage Act was 697, and under the Cruelty to Animals Act, 1,123. Out of a total of 11,219 Penal Code convictions in the Town and Suburbs, 6,314 persons were Hindus, 4,392 Mahomedans, 488 Christians, 15 Jains and Buddhists, and 8 Jews.

3. False cases.—There are said to have been only 130 false cases out of a total of 47,204 reported in the Town, and only 43 out of 6,736 reported in the Suburbs. In accordance with the orders contained in the Resolution on the Report for 1885, all complaints laid through a mistake of fact or law have been omitted from the returns. The Commissioner states that prosecutions were instituted in 82 cases; but, as was pointed out in last year's Resolution, it is incorrect and misleading to designate as prosecutions cases in which compensation is awarded to an accused person under section 552 of the Criminal Procedure Code. From the appended returns it appears that in the Town only 17 cases were instituted under the sections dealing with false evidence, false charges, and cognate offences, and process was issued in 13 only. The results were not satisfactory, 11 persons being acquitted and 2 convicted. The Commissioner has rightly omitted to insert in column 6 of Statement A, Part II, the cases which the Chief Magistrate reported to have been instituted of his own motion. From the particulars furnished by the latter, it is evident that prosecutions were not instituted under section 476, but that merely a sanction was given under section 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code. In the Suburbs there were 28 cases, 10 being instituted by the Magistrates suo motu; of 25 persons actually appearing before the Magistrates 13 were acquitted and 12 convicted. Again this year the Presidency Magistrates do not appear in a single instance to have availed themselves of the provisions of section 487 of the Criminal Procedure Code, which empowers them to try cases of false evidence, false charge, and other cognate offences committed before themselves. Sir Steuart Bayley requests that in future figures may be given in the body of the report distinguishing the number of actual prosecutions for false charges from those cases in which awards of compensation are made to accused persons. These figures have had to be ascertained, as last year, from the appended returns.

4. Property stolen and recovered.—The total value of the property stolen in Town and Suburbs rose from Rs. 97,504 to Rs. 1,19,249, while the percentage recovered rose from 49·65 to 51·83, almost the same percentage as in 1883, the figures for 1884 being abnormal for the reason stated in last year's Resolution.

5. Ratio of cognizable crime to area and population.—The ratio of cognizable crime to area and population in the Town and Suburbs was as follows:—

	Area in square miles.	Population.	Proportion of true crime to each square mile.	Proportion of crime to population.
Suburbs	23·	251,439	170·64	1 to 64·06

In this table cases under special and local laws, as well as under the Penal Code, are taken into account. Taking into computation only Penal Code offences, the ratio of criminality falls in the Town to 1 to 112·41, and in the Suburbs to 1 to 230·80. This difference would be very striking but for the fact that large portions of the Suburbs are more rural than urban. The number of cases not inquired into under section 157 of the Criminal Procedure Code was 326 against 219 in 1885. The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider this increase to call for any special remark.

6. Cognizable crime in the Town.—The following statement shows the number of true cognizable cases reported within the Town during the last three years:—

Abetment of offence not committed	.....	1	.....
Class I. Offences against the State, public tranquillity, &c.	32	37	43
,, II. Serious offences against the person ...	223	167	186
,, III. Serious offences against person and property	162	139	190
,, IV. Minor offences against the person ...	69	40	50
,, V. Minor offences against person and property	2,309	2,156	2,085
,, VI. Other offences not specified above ...	2,020	1,855	3,419
Special and local laws	12,389	10,391	14,359
Total ...	17,204	14,786	20,332

The large increase under class VI and under special and local laws has already been sufficiently explained. The most satisfactory feature is perhaps that there were only two murders against five in 1885, and an average of six during the last five years. In one of these murders no clue could be obtained, though a reward of Rs. 500 was offered. The other was a case in which a low caste Mahomedan hacked his wife to pieces with a dao, because she objected to his intimacy with his son's mistress. He was executed, There were two cases of culpable homicide against four in 1885, and only one case of rape against an average of seven in the five preceding years. Other offences against the person do not call for any special remarks.

As regards offences against property, cases of house-breaking (including lurking house-trespass) increased from 146 to 193, the number in 1884 being 160. As many as 107 cases were detected, the ratio of detection thus rising from 49·31 to 55·95. The large majority of the house-breakings were of a petty character, as many as 53 having occurred during the day. Of the houses broken into 99 were kutcha and 67 pucca. The cases reported are in the ratio of 1 to 2,244 of the population; in 1884-85 the ratio of similar offences in England and Wales was 1 to every 10,310 of the population, but rose to 1 to 2,016 in the metropolis. It must be borne in mind that, owing to the number of kutcha houses, a burglary in India is in very many instances little more than a theft. Numbers of houses have no proper doors or fastenings, and a petty thief, who enters a mud hut by untying the string of an enclosing jhamp, or a mat hut by cutting a hole in it, is classed in the returns as a burglar. Having regard to the very different circumstances of Calcutta and an English town, Sir Steuart Bayley agrees with the Commissioner that Calcutta is remarkably free from serious cases of house-breaking, and this fact shows that the ward and watch of the Town are kept up in an efficient manner.

The number of thefts was 1,607 against 1,640 in 1885 and 1,790 in 1884 while the cases detected increased from 772 to 856, and persons convicted from 831 to 930. These figures are satisfactory. There were 290 cases of criminal breach of trust against 261 in 885. The persons convicted included 15 carters and 45 manjhees. As the Commissioner remarks, the police have little control over the evidence in these cases, restitution being frequently made out of court.

There were 96 cases under the Gambling Act against 65 in 1885, and an average of 78 during the five preceding years. Under the Stage Carriage Act there were 1,816 cases and 1,665 convictions, against 1,154 cases and 1,031 convictions in 1885. This increased activity of prosecution has not been explained. Sir Steuart Bayley is informed that there have been more prosecutions owing to the persistent disregard of the rule of the road shown by drivers, and especially drivers of bullock-carts, but such cases appear to fall under section 66(3) of the Police Act, and not under the Hackney Carriage Act. No details of any sort are given, and Sir Steuart Bayley would like to know whether any of these prosecutions were under section 29 of the Act for omission to put up the table of fares, in English, Urdu, and Bengali, inside the carriage. This direction of the law is frequently disregarded altogether, and it is important that this direction of the law should be enforced in the interests of strangers and others visiting the town. Cases under the Police Act (street offences) rose from 4,604 to 7,956, the cause of which has been explained above. 98·87 per cent. of the persons placed before the Magistrates were convicted. The increase in the number of cases under the Shipping Acts was natural, as during the year 621 steamers and 425 sailing ships entered the port against 574 steamers and 389 sailing vessels in 1885. There were 5,820 convictions under the Act for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against 5,069 in 1885. Only 30 persons were discharged by the Magistrate. The Society is to be congratulated on the results of its increased exertions and employment of a larger number of agents.

7. Cognizable crime in the Suburbs.—The following is a comparative statement of true cognizable crime during the past three years:—

Crime.	1884.	1885.	1886.
Class I.—Offences against the State, &c. ...	7	16	27
,, II.—Serious offences against the person ...	98	88	62
,, III.—Ditto ditto person and property	95	96	115
,, IV.—Minor offences against the person ...	23	23	35
,, V.—Ditto ditto property ...	706	647	658
,, VI.—Other offences not specified above ...	641	678	787
Special and local laws	1,401	1,450	2,241
Total ...	2,971	2,998	3,925

The increase of 927 cases occurred mainly under the head of Street offences punishable under the amended Police Act. The most significant feature in the returns is that there were no cases of murder, attempts at murder, or rape, and only one case of culpable homicide. Cases of grievous hurt decreased from 25 to 17, and there was only one case of highway robbery: cases of house-breaking (including cases of lurking house-trespass) have exhibited a steady increase during the past five years—56 in 1882, 101 in 1884, and 125 in 1886. This fact is attributed to the increasing numbers of coolies employed at the railway and dock-works in the Suburbs. The ratio of detections and convictions rose from 30·89 and 75·00 in 1885 to 39·20 and 84·21 in 1886. Of the buildings broken into only 20 were pucca and 74 kutcha; 17 were entered during the day and 77 by night. The number of thefts was 454 against an average of 445 during the past five years.

8. Non-cognizable crime in the Town.—The number of non-cognizable offences reported in the Town was 26,759 against 27,256 in 1885. There were 19 cases of forgery against 12 in 1885. One of these cases was characterized by a remarkable amount of daring in the offender, Gopal Chunder Dutt, the medical attendant of the Rajah of Mymensingh. The Rajah was anxious to obtain the privilege of exemption from personal attendance in the Civil Courts, and Gopal Chunder Dutt succeeded in cheating him out of Rs. 5,500 by presenting him with forged documents purporting to have been written by the Private Secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor and the Secretary of State for India. In another case a notorious gang of swindlers were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from three months to seven years for cheating the Assistant Secretary to the Maharajah of Tipperah to the extent of Rs. 5,000. There were 430 miscellaneous proceedings under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 413 being under Chapter XXXVI (Maintenance) and 17 under Chapter VIII (Security for keeping the peace or for good behaviour). There were no cases under Chapters IX or XXXV ; Chapters X, XI, XII do not apply to the Town of Calcutta. There was one important case under the Post Office Act, in which some registered postal bags were stolen from the General Post Office. The accused, Chuttoo Kahar, was sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment.

9. Non-cognizable crime in the Suburbs.—The number of offences under this head increased from 2,435 to 2,796, the increase being almost entirely in conservancy prosecutions.

10. Suicides —The number of persons who committed suicide in the Town and Suburbs was 71 against 54 in the preceding year, 56 being Hindus, 11 Mahomedans and 4 Christians (all men). The preponderance of Hindus is striking, as the number of Hindus is not much more than double that of Mahomedans. The favourite methods of suicide were hanging (29 persons) and opium (23) The number of accidental deaths was 275 against 247 in 1885. As many as 111 were from drowning, 38 were caused by falls from trees and buildings, 26 persons were run over by carriages and horses, and 91 were due to other causes not specified. 163 drivers of either public or private carriages were prosecuted for rash and furious driving, and 145 were convicted. Eight servants of the Tramway Company were prosecuted, but only one man was fined.

11. Arms Act.—The importation of fire-arms increased from 1,109 to 1,205, no fewer than 1,031 being imported by European firms. There was a considerable increase in the inland transport of arms and ammunition from Calcutta. The number of weapons sold by licensed dealers in Calcutta was 3,929 against 2,889 in the previous year. Of these 2,207 were guns of native manufacture imported from Monghyr.

12. European Vagrancy Act.—Forty-five persons were admitted to the Workhouse under section 5 of the Act. Three persons were deported under section 17 of the Act to Melbourne, London and Sydney. One was a tea-taster by profession, another a medical practitioner, and the third a jockey. Cases have come before the Lieutenant-Governor, from which it appears that men have been declared vagrants and sent to the Workhouse three or four times. Section 30 of the Act declares that, when a European British subject has been once declared a vagrant, or has been convicted under section 22 or section 23, he shall be subject, beyond the limits of the Presidency towns, to the provisions of sections 109 and 110 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. There is reason to believe that vagrants are not infrequently sent to Calcutta by mofussil Magistrates, and their attention will be drawn to the above section. If, on inquiry from the Commissioner of Police, they find that a man has been once declared a vagrant, they will be at liberty, if they think proper in the particular case, to deal with him under the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code.

13. Fire-Brigade Act.—Twelve fires occurred in the Town and River, ten in the Suburbs, and fifteen in Howrah, resulting in a loss of property estimated at Rs. 1,75,750. The most serious fire was that in which a range of jute godowns in Nimtollah Ghat Street was burnt down. In the river the ship J. W. Parker, laden with jute and shell-lac, was burnt, the loss being estimated at Rs. 1,00,000. This fire was attended with the loss of one life.

14. Strength and cost of the Police.—The total cost of the Police in the Town was Rs. 4,74,544 against Rs. 4,59,344 in the previous year, and that of the Suburban Police was Rs. 1,62,187 against Rs. 1,53,810. The cost of the River Police was Rs. 31,140, of Government guards Rs. 46,176, and of additional constables Rs. 33,184. The cost of the Town Police was met as follows :—

	Rs.
Paid by Calcutta Municipality	3,07,586
Government contribution	1,02,528
Fees and fines	64,430

The increased expenditure, both in the Town and Suburbs, was mainly due to repairs of buildings.

15. The Police Force.—The number of up-countrymen in the force was 4,907, while there were only 189 Bengalis, the number having again fallen from 219 in 1885. The reason for the paucity of Bengalis is the same as that given in former reports, namely, that they do not care to undergo the fatigue, exposure, and severe discipline which police duty entails. The casualties in the force amounted to 375 or 12·14 per cent. against 10·88 per cent. in the previous year. Only 13 members were punished judicially against 33 in 1885. 102 men were dismissed against 54 in 1885 and 114 in 1884; only eight men deserted against an average of 22 in the five preceding years. There were 29 recorded deaths, giving a death-rate of only 9·39 per thousand; but these figures show only the number who die in hospital. It is said that a large number, who do not recover in hospital, go home on sick leave and die in their own country. The difficulty which the Commissioner states is experienced in getting good recruits is a serious matter. It is said that many new hands, after a few months' service, resign in order to take up such posts as durwans, in which they have an easy time and little or no responsibility. Owing to the increasing demand for labour in Calcutta and the higher wages given, it will no doubt be extremely difficult to maintain the force in its present state of efficiency, unless the pay of the constables is raised.

16 Miscellaneous.—During the year 115 certificates were granted for hotels and shops for the sale of excisable articles in the Town, and 39 in the Suburbs. Besides the above, licenses for 55 native eating-houses in the Town, and 14 in the Suburbs, were granted under orders of Government issued in October last. The form for licenses approved by Government in 1866 fixed the opening and closing hours at 5 A.M. and 10 P.M. respectively. The Commissioner asked that the closing hour might be extended to 2 A.M. Sir Rivers Thompson, while according his sanction, expressed his opinion that the hour was a very late one, and might be susceptible of some reduction. The Commissioner should now report whether it is necessary that these eating-houses should remain open so late as 2 A.M. In 1885 there was some discussion between the Police and the Excise Department as to the closing-hour for hotels, and it was then decided that late-closing licenses might be given up till 2 A.M., but that no music, dancing, or other entertainment should be allowed without the special permission of the Commissioner of Police. The chief cause of complaint on the part of the police was that their duties were seriously enhanced by their being kept up till late hours, and that premises licensed as hotels were converted into drinking-saloons, music, and dancing halls, in which a good deal of disorder prevailed. It should have been stated in the present report whether the additional condition for the police certificate granted under section 37 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1866 has enabled the police to exercise an adequate control over those places of entertainment, and whether, as a matter of fact, they are conducted in an orderly and proper manner. This is a matter of police regulation, and as such should have been alluded to in a report dealing with the police. 1,219 licenses for musical processions were granted during the year. Property to the value of Rs. 20,077 was picked up and brought to the Police Office, and of this 72·29 per cent. was restored to the owners.

17. Old offenders.—311 previously-convicted offenders were again convicted during the past year—19 by the Court of Sessions, and 292 by Magistrates. Of these, 61 persons had been convicted more than three times. The number of old offenders re-convicted in the Suburbs was 65. 131 notorious offenders were photographed on their release from jail, and their names registered by the Detective Department.

18. Judicial work.—13,583 cases were instituted in the Northern Division, 11,865 in the Southern Division, and 19,903 before the Bench of Presidency Magistrates. The corresponding figures in 1885 were 10,171, 11,051, and 19,131.

Of 44,904 persons appearing before the Courts, 40,263 were convicted and 4,547 acquitted. The ratio of convictions in cognizable cases was 94·76 in the Northern Court, 92·77 in the Southern Court, and only 62·05 in the Bench Courts; the corresponding figures in non-cognizable cases (excluding conservancy prosecutions) being 77·54, 79·62, and 51·90. The total amount of fines imposed in the Southern Division was Rs. 35,187-9-9, of which

Rs. 32,061-9-9 was realised; the corresponding figures in the Northern Division were Rs. 27,020-7 and Rs. 24,456-11. Sentences of whipping were passed on 79 persons, and eight juvenile offenders were sent to the Alipore Reformatory.

19. Benches.—The Chief Magistrate has again to animadvert on the infrequent and irregular attendance of many of the Honorary Magistrates. On this point he remarks: "The Benches of Honorary Magistrates have during the past year got through an appreciable amount of solid work; at the same time I think it desirable to suggest that the work so rendered would be more effective and of larger benefit to the public if performed with a more consistent regard for the duties and responsibilities which are entailed upon the office of a Magistrate." Mr. Reily points out the difficulty he has had to contend with in constituting the Benches and arranging for the work. It seems that requests to give early intimation of inability to attend are sometimes not complied with, and it often happens that, on the day fixed, only one of the three Magistrates invited is present. Sometimes one of the Magistrates appears more than an hour after the appointed time, and thus late sittings necessitate more frequent adjournments, thereby causing additional expense and trouble to the parties concerned. These evils are occasionally enhanced by the tendency to break up the sitting of a bench too early, before getting through the day's file of cases. The Chief Magistrate even states that he has occasionally been compelled to send out one of the assistants of his office charged with a sort of roving commission to entreat one or more of the Magistrates named in the list furnished to him to attend the Court. This "searching in highways and bye-ways" is by no means a creditable feature of the Bench administration in Calcutta At the same time the Chief Magistrate bears testimony to the cheerful alacrity with which many of the Honorary Magistrates take their share of the work, and to the readiness evinced by a few others to attend the Court on the shortest notice, often at considerable inconvenience to themselves. Sir Steuart Bayley has carefully perused the list of attendance of Honorary Magistrates, and observes with satisfaction that eleven gentlemen have attended Bench sittings twice a month and oftener, one having attended on an average once a week. He desires to thank these gentlemen for the assistance rendered by them to the administration of justice.

20. Personnel of the Force.—Sir H. Harrison was Commissioner throughout the year, while the office of Deputy Commissioner was held successively by Mr. J. Lambert, the late Mr. Hugh Wilkins, Mr. A. B. Barnard, and Colonel Wilkinson. The names of the Superintendents and other subordinate officers favourably mentioned have been noted.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information and for communication to the Presidency Magistrates, and to the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Offg. Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

NET GRANTS TO GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS IN BENGAL

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 16th June 1887.

READ—

Correspondence from 1868 to 1877 on the subject of net grants to Government schools in the Lower Provinces.

Letter No. 2139, dated the 26th March 1886, from the Officiating Director of Public Instruction.

Report, of the Committee appointed under Government orders Nos. 95-97T—G, dated the 30th April 1886, to revise the assignments to net grant schools.

Letter No. 636T—G, dated the 27th August 1886, to the Director of Public Instruction.

Letter No. 7747, dated the 8th December 1886, from the Director of Public Instruction.

Letter No. 302, dated the 18th April 1887, to the Director of Public Instruction.

Letter No. 3072, dated the 3rd May 1887, from the Director of Public Instruction.

The Government of India, in a Resolution dated the 31st December 1868, directed that higher class Government schools should be divided into classes with a fixed scale of charges; that each class of schools should be allowed an assignment for a fixed term, on condition that a certain local income was realised, the Government assignment being carefully revised at the expiration of the term fixed; and that any surplus produced by local receipts should be recognized as assets belonging to the school. With reference to these orders, a Committee was appointed in 1872 to report on the amount of the grants which should be given to the different zillah schools. On proposals made by this Committee, and approved by Government, all collegiate and zillah schools were classified, a net grant was assigned to each for a period of five years, and it was provided that the unexpended balance at the end of each year should not lapse to Government, but should be re-granted to the school in addition to the fixed annual grant. In 1877 the net grants were revised. The Revising Committee adopted, as a principle of revision, the rule that the existence of a large surplus balance at the credit of any school should be a reason for reducing the Government grant; and by the orders of Government approving the revision, the total annual expenditure on net grants was reduced from Rs. 1,05,171 to Rs. 98,271. The grants sanctioned in 1877 have never undergone formal revision, but the aggregate amount has by degrees increased to Rs. 1,15,438, partly on account of the establishment of new schools*, and partly owing to the introduction of the system of granting periodical increments to the salaries of teachers.

* For reasons stated in paragraph 18 of the Report of the Committee of 1886, the Revising Committee of 1877 did not take cognizance of the Hindu and Hare Schools. The increase of six schools since 1877 is thus explained—

Schools added since 1877.		Schools which have ceased to be Government schools.
Palamow.		Howrah.
Julpigoree.		Hindu.
Patna City		Hare.
Taki.
Khulna.
Darjeeling	Middle English.
Chittagong	Collegiate.
Midnapore	ditto.
Rajshahye	ditto.

2. Revision of the net grants fixed in 1877 was deferred for various reasons until last year, when the question came prominently to notice as a necessary preliminary to the discussion of the arrangements to be made for transferring high schools to the management of Joint-Committees to be constituted under the Local Self-Government Act of 1885. Accordingly, in May 1886, a Committee, consisting of the gentlemen named in the margin, was appointed for the purpose of revising the assignments to net grant schools. The report received from the Committee was considered by the Lieutenant-Governor in August last but the issue of final orders upon the subject has been postponed on account of the uncertainty which existed as to the amount of the funds which would be available in future years for the purpose of assisting secondary education.

Mr. C H. Tawney, Officiating Director of Public Instruction.
„ G. Bellett
„ H H Risley.
Rai Radhika Prasanna Mukerji Bahadur.

3. The first recommendation made by the Committee is that the system of contract contingencies should not be maintained in schools supported by net grants. In this view the Lieutenant-Governor entirely agrees, and in fact the contract system was withdrawn from all net grant schools under orders conveyed in Financial Department's letter No. 921T—F, dated 22nd June 1886.

4. The Committee proceed to consider the best method of reconciling the system of fixed net grants with the existence of a graded service, in which salaries rise by periodical increments independently of the financial condition of the school in which the increase takes place. They recommend that net grants should be fixed for three years an estimate of the average expenditure of those years, prospective increments being taken into account. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts this recommendation, subject to the qualification stated by Sir Alfred Croft in paragraph 7 of his letter of the 8th December 1886 that the Director shall continue to have a discretionary power with regard to increase of allotments.

5. The next proposal of the Committee (paragraph 11) is that minimum rates of fees in net grant schools should be fixed as follows—

For schools on an English basis.

	A month. Rs.	A.	P.
First and second classes	2	8	0
Third and fourth „	2	0	0
Fifth class	1	8	0
Sixth „	1	4	0
Seventh and eighth classes	1	0	0
Ninth class	0	12	0

For schools on a Vernacular basis.

	A month. Rs.	A.	P.
First and second classes	2	8	0
Third and fourth „	2	0	0
Fifth and sixth „	1	4	0
Seventh and eighth „	0	12	0
Ninth and tenth „	0	8	0
Eleventh class	0	4	0

Sir Alfred Croft, in supporting this proposal, remarks that the fees shown above are at present exceeded in many schools in advanced localities. He also notices that the suggestion is in full accordance with the recommendations of the Education Commission. The Lieutenant-Governor sanctions the scale of fees proposed on the understanding that it shows only minimum rates.

6. The Committee proceed to recommend that, when the standard scale of fees is adopted, School Committees should be allowed to make additions to their school buildings, except where there is a probability of the establishment in the locality of private institutions. In this connection the Committee refer to the Bengal Government letter, dated 28th October 1871, in which mention is made of additions to school buildings as a proper mode of utilising surplus balances. The orders now in force on this subject are contained in the following extract from paragraph 12 of the Resolution on the Report of the Director of Public Instruction for 1881-82 :—

"Mr. Rivers Thompson is of opinion that the growing demand for English learning should not be met by indefinite extensions of the accommodation now afforded by zillah schools, but that endeavours should be made by limiting the numbers admitted to those schools, to give free play to the efforts of private enterprise, and to the healthy spirit of competition which it engenders * * *. He would have it understood that he is not disposed to view with favour any extension of existing accommodation in Government high schools, unless there be no probability that in the particular locality private enterprise will not supply what is wanted."

The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider it necessary to alter the rule here laid down.

7. The subject of contributions to schools by municipalities is under consideration, and will not be dealt with in this Resolution.

8 The financial result of the Committee's revision of the net grants of schools is as follows :—

	Existing allotment.	Revised allotment.
	Rs.	Rs.
Zillah schools	75,588	71,760
Collegiate and branch schools	39,850	36,270
Total ...	1,15,438	1,08,030

In addition to the reduction made by the Committee, the Director of Public Instruction has suggested further economies in the net grants amounting to Rs. 2,890. Against the reduction of Rs. 10,298 must be set the sum of Rs. 3,600 to remain in the Director's hands for increasing net grants in special cases. The whole saving therefore amounts to Rs. 6,698, which has been increased by Rs. 7,500* by the recent transfers of the Midnapore and Berhampore Collegiate Schools to local management. The revision sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor is shown in the statement appended to this Resolution. The grants made will run for three years from 1st April 1887, but they may be revised within that period to the extent of any contributions which may be made by municipalities.

* The Midnapore School will receive a grant-in-aid of Rs. 1,000 per annum debitable to the grant-in-aid allotment.

9. In paragraphs 17 to 19 the Committee make proposals with regard to the Howrah, Hindu, and Hare Schools. No net grant has been proposed for the Howrah School, and upon this subject further information will be obtained from the Director of Public Instruction, as it is not clear how the institution can be maintained without assistance. With regard to the Hindu and Hare Schools which now together cost Government Rs. 6,000 a year, the Committee suggest (1) that the establishment should be reduced; (2) that the prize allowance should be cut down from Rs. 400 to Rs. 200 a year; (3) that the fee rates in the higher classes of the Hare School should be raised to Rs. 5 a month, so as to correspond with those in force in the Hindu School; and (4) that, if possible, the two institutions should be placed under one head-master as soon as such an arrangement can conveniently be carried out. Sir Alfred Croft considers the first three proposals just stated to be sound, and the Lieutenant-Governor, agreeing with the Director, desires that they be carried out. Sir Alfred Croft does not think that it would be possible to carry out the last proposal that the two schools should be placed under one head-master, and the Lieutenant-Governor concurs in this view.

10. With reference to the remarks made by the Committee in paragraph 23 of their report on the check exercised over the accounts of net grant schools, the Lieutenant-Governor accepts the Director's explanations to the effect that the checks are in fact sufficient.

11. Sir Steuart Bayley desires that the thanks of Government may be conveyed to the members of the Committee for their careful report.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for information and guidance, and for favour of the report called for above regarding the Howrah School.

Ordered also that a copy be forwarded to the Finance and Commerce and Home Departments of the Government of India, and to the Accountant-General, Bengal, and Financial Department of this Office, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE LICENSED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT, 1883, IN THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

The 16th July 1887.—The following report is published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 13, dated Calcutta, the 29th June 1887.

From—H. J. S. COTTON, Esq., C.S., Offg. Chairman of the Corporation of the Town of Calcutta.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report, under section 30 of Act IV (B.C.) of 1883, of the jute screw and warehouses in the Town of Calcutta for the year ended 31st March 1887.

2. At the close of last year, there were 71 sanctioned warehouses on the register within the limits of the town. Of these, the licenses of two warehouses were cancelled during the year for default of payment of license fees, viz. (1) for Nos. 178 to 178-1, Upper Chitpore Road, and 2 to 2-2, Ramkanto Bose's Street, and (2) for Nos. 193, Durmahatta Street, and 58 Strand, thus reducing the number at the end of the year to 69, of which a complete list arranged according to the Acts under which they were originally licensed is appended to this report.

3. Three applications were received during the year—(1) from the Managing Agent, India Pressing Company, Limited, asking sanction to construct six jute godowns on land No. 58, Nimtollah Ghât Street; (2) from Baboo Suroop Chunder Roy, requesting a license to use the existing godowns at No. 135, Durmahatta Street, as a jute warehouse; and 3) from Baboo Mothoora Mohun Roy, soliciting license for storing jute in the newly-built godowns at No. 13-5, Hurro Chunder Mullick's Street. Of these three applications, (1) was sanctioned at the special meeting held on the 30th September 1886, and (2) and (3) were under consideration at the close of the year.

4. The license fees realized during the year from these 69 warehouses amounted to Rs. 21,250, or Rs. 1,237-8 less than last year. This falling off is owing to the assessments of some of the warehouses having been reduced, and the owners of two warehouses not having renewed their licenses.

5. During last year there was no case of fire, nor any infringement of the Jute Act on the part of the licensees.

6. The subjoined statement will show the receipts and disbursements of the Jute Warehouse Fund during the year under review.

Abstract Account of Receipts and Disbursements of the Jute Warehouse Fund for 1886-87.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the past [illegible] The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past [illegible] station in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

CALCUTTA, the 19th July 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 15TH OF JULY 1887.

At the close of the previous week a small barometric depression, the centre of which had passed inland close to Saugor Island on the 7th, had rapidly filled up in South Bengal on the 8th, and had almost ceased to exist. It had, however, brought up moderate to heavy rain in its advance. On the following day, that is on Saturday, the 9th, pressure fell decidedly rapidly at some of the stations in Central Bengal, and a distinct barometric depression was formed over this area. The depression was accompanied by a decided cyclonic circulation of winds, for at Calcutta wind was westerly, at Burrisal south-westerly, at Furreedpore south-easterly, at Berhampore north-easterly, and at Burdwan north-westerly. At Jessore and Krishnagore it was calm. On Sunday, the 10th, the depression had developed very rapidly, and had moved slowly in a westerly direction. On this day pressure fell rapidly at the stations in Central and Western Bengal and in Chutia Nagpur, the fall at some stations almost equalling 0·15″, while many stations, such as Calcutta, Burdwan, Bankoora, and Raneegunge, &c., showed falls considerably exceeding a tenth of an inch. Winds also decidedly increased in force, and there was again on this day a strong cyclonic circulation of winds round the centre of the feeble storm. The centre was near Burdwan, where a pressure of 29·361″ was registered, and towards which point baric gradients were decidedly steep. The small storm was fed by a powerful monsoon current, and heavy rain was brought on both the Saturday and the Sunday to the districts affected by the storm. On the following day pressure fell rapidly at Allahabad and Benares, and the depression, which was on the previous day in West Bengal, had apparently been transferred to this district, while on the 12th it had advanced into Bundelkund, and on the 13th into the north-east of Rajputana, where it apparently filled up. In the rear of the advancing depression a strong monsoon continued to blow over Bengal, bringing up moderate rain.

On Monday, the 11th, also pressure began to fall off the east coast of the Bay, and this continued on the 12th, when pressure became decidedly low over South-East Bengal, and it was evident that a small barometric depression was forming either over the sea area just to the south of the Sunderbans, or over the land area to the south of Jessore. On the 13th a distinct depression was developed, and at 10 A.M. on this day its centre was nearly between Calcutta and Saugor Island. During the same afternoon the centre passed only a short distance to the south of Calcutta in a westerly direction, and on the morning of the 14th the small storm had passed into the Central Provinces and Central India. This storm again advanced in a westerly direction, and on the morning of the 15th it was near Hoshungabad, but it did not finally disappear till the 17th. The subsequent history of this storm of course will belong to the meteorology of the week following. This storm was small, but with a moderately steep gradient, and pressure at Calcutta fell to about 29·3″. It was accompanied by a clearly marked cyclonic circulation of winds, but though the wind force at the land station was only moderate, at the head of the Bay, during its formation and advance, very strong winds were blowing, and weather was decidedly squally, if not rather stormy, though at no time was the storm of any particular intensity.

Bengal has therefore been under the influence of two depressions during the week, both of which brought up heavy rain. Both these depressions have passed through parts of South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, though the first only passed through South Behar. The influence of such storms as these in bringing up rain and in determining its distribution is shown in a very marked way by the rainfall of the week, for these three districts have received falls in excess of the normal, while all other districts have been in defect. The heaviness of the falls has been in some instances very great, and thus on the 9th Bolpore and Hetampore in the Beerbhoom district, and Cutwa in Burdwan, received about 5 inches of rain each, while the following stations received from about 3 to 4 inches:—Alipore, Burdwan, Hooghly, and Bishenpore and Maliara in the Bankoora district; on the 10th the heaviness of the rainfall increased, and Ghatal reported 7·15 inches, Midnapur 5·83 inches, Alipore 4·66 inches (making nearly 8 inches in the two days), and Tumlook 4 inches; also in Chutia Nagpur, on the 10th, the following heavy falls were reported:—Ghatsila 6·28 inches, Palamow 5·43 inches, Chyebassa 4·90 inches, Garwah 4·25 inches, and Karagdeha 3·5 inches, while there were numerous other heavy falls in the western part of the province. In connection with the second small storm the rainfalls reported were not so heavy as in the first, though many falls of 2 and 3 inches were recorded near the path of the storm.

Pressure—As might be expected, has been decidedly below the normal over the whole province, the defects at those stations which have been considerably influenced by the depressions being larger than a tenth of an inch, and thus at Burdwan the defect of the mean pressure for the week has been 0·123″, at Calcutta 0·113″, and at Saugor Island 0·105″, while at the stations at some distance from the paths of the depression, pressure has been in defect of the normal by much smaller amounts, as at Purneah, where the defect is 0·063″, and at Durbhanga where it is 0·078″. It will thus be seen that pressure has been largely below the normal over the whole province of Bengal. The defect in pressure in Assam is also considerable: thus at Silchar it is 0·107″, at Dhubri 0·084″, and at Sibsagar 0·04″.

Temperature.—The mean temperature for the week has been in defect of the normal in all districts, the defects being largest in Orissa, where they average 2·4°; they are also large in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar, where they vary from 1° to 2°, while in the remaining districts in Bengal the defects are small. In Assam, on the other hand, the mean temperature for the week has been 0·7° in excess of the normal.

Rainfall.—From the foregoing description of the meteorology of the week, it will be seen that the heaviest rainfalls have occurred in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, where the average amounts received have been decidedly larger than the normal, while in the other districts, owing to the indraught towards the small storms, the rainfall has been below the normal. In the districts of South Behar, South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur and East Bengal, rainfall has averaged about 3 to 4 inches, while over the remainder of the province the falls have averaged from 1 to 2 inches. The actual average falls in the seven meteorological districts, expressed as a percentage of the normal falls for the same period, will be as follows :—South-West Bengal 152 per cent., Chutia Nagpur 150 per cent., South Behar 110 per cent., East Bengal 84 per cent., North Behar 79 per cent., North Bengal 65 per cent., and Orissa only 45 per cent. Taking each of these meteorological divisions as having an equal value in the calculation, the rainfall for the province for the week has equalled 98 per cent. of the normal. The foregoing numbers do not, however, fully show how exceptionally heavy the fall has been in some districts. Thus in South-West Bengal the districts which have received falls considerably larger even than indicated by the above percentages have been Midnapur, Bankoora, 24-Pergunnahs, Howrah and Hooghly, while in Chutia Nagpur the Lohardu gga and Singbhoom districts have received the heaviest falls. On the other hand the following districts have received extremely defective falls :—In Orissa, the Pooree and Cuttack districts; in East Bengal, Mymensingh; and in North Bengal, Dinagepore and Rungpore.

In Assam the following are the amounts of rainfall recorded during the week :—Silchar 5·02 inches, Sibsagar 2·25 inches, and Dhubri 0·56 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 15th of July 1887 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives returned as living as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans [illegible] as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.

CEYLON ISLAND.

SOUTH-EAST COAST.

Particulars of reported reefs between Little Bassas and Batticaloa.

THE following information, relating to the coast and the dangers off it between Little Bassas rock on the south and Batticaloa harbour on the north, is republished from the notice issued by His Excellency Rear Admiral Sir F. W. Richards, K.C.B., the Commander-in-Chief of the East India station.

The dangers reported off Komarie Point, and on which the steam-ships Granville and Macgregor are said to have struck, do not exist in the positions assigned.*

A careful examination of the locality has been made by Captain Aldrich, and the officers of H. M. S. Egeria, and, as a result, the coast should not be approached nearer than 20 fathoms in thick weather between Komarie and Batticaloa.

The ridge shown on the present Admiralty sheet and in the neighbourhood of Komarie is about two miles north of its proper position, which latter is as follows :—

Its north extreme is in about latitude 7° 2′ 30″ N. and 1·4 mile from the shore.
The south extreme is in about latitude 6° 59′ N. and 0·8 mile from the shore.

It is narrow, and composed of sand and coral patches. On several of the latter there is as little as 2¾ fathoms of water. The whole forms a dangerous reef.

Outside it, and to a distance of four miles from the shore, the ground is very uneven, and a patch with 7 fathoms on it lies 3·7 miles from the nearest shore, and from it Aganis Peak bears N. 69° W. (true).

The effects of the winds and currents hereabouts, as also on the edge of the Bank of Soundings, are seen in heavy overfalls and tide rips, which may be mistaken for shoal water, sometimes being met with even in the finest weather.

The closely approximate position of the Alphee shoal is in latitude 7° 26′N.; longitude 81° 51′ 30″ E., coral; least water 3¼ fathoms.

Komarie Point is a rounded curve in the coast line, and cannot be distinguished as a point from the sea, unless very close in to the shore.

The appearance of the coast changes at times very rapidly, and estimated distances were often found much in error during the survey.

Charts affected—813, Ceylon, sheet 1; 2031, Ceylon, sheet 2; 828, Cape Comorin to Cocanada; 70, Bay of Bengal.

„	3	Nitro-compound.
„	4	Chlorate-mixture.
„	5	Fulminate.
„	6	Ammunition.
„	7	Firework.

When an explosive falls within the description of more than one class, it shall be deemed to belong exclusively to the latest of the classes within the description of which it falls.

CLASS 1.—Gunpowder Class.

The term "gunpowder" means exclusively gunpowder ordinarily so called.

CLASS 2.—Nitrate-mixture Class.

The term "nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder ordinarily so called, formed by the mechanical mixture of a nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance.

The nitrate-mixture class comprises such explosives as—

Pyrolithe,
Pudrolithe,
Poudre saxifragine,

and any preparation coming within the above definition.

CLASS 3.—Nitro-compound Class.

The term "nitro-compound" means any chemical compound possessed of explosive properties, or capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, which is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid) or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not.

The nitro-compound class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Nitro-glycerine,	Dualine,
Dynamite,	Glyoxiline,
Lithofracteur,	Methylic-nitrate,

and any chemical compound or mechanically-mixed preparation which consists either wholly or partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound,

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Gun-cotton, ordinarily so called,	Cotton gunpowder,
Gun-paper,	Schultz's powder,
Xyloidine,	Nitro-mannite,
Gun-sawdust,	Picrates,
Nitrated gun-cotton,	Picric powder,

and any nitro-compound as before defined, which is not comprised in the first division.

CLASS 4.—Chlorate-mixture Class.

The term "chlorate-mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

The chlorate-mixture class has two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's blasting powder, | Brain's blasting powder,

and any chlorate preparation which consists partly of nitro-glycerine or of some other liquid nitro-compound.

Division 2 comprises such explosives as—

Horsley's original blasting powder,	Reichen's blasting charges,
Erhardt's powder,	Teutonite,
Reverley's powder,	Chlorated gun-cotton,
Hochstadter's blasting charges,

CLASS 5.—Fulminate Class.

The term "fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture, whether included in the foregoing classes or not, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion, and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

This class consists of two divisions.

Division 1 comprises such compounds as the fulminates of silver and of mercury, and preparations of these substances, such as are used in percussion caps, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with phosphorous, or certain descriptions of phosphorous compounds, with or without the addition of carbonaceous matter, and any preparation consisting of a mixture of a chlorate with sulphur, or with a sulphuret, with or without carbonaceous matter.

Division 2 comprises such substances as the chloride and the iodide of nitrogen, fulminating gold and silver, diazobenzol, and the nitrate of diazobenzol.

CLASS 6.—Ammunition Class.

The term "ammunition" means an explosive of any of the foregoing classes when, enclosed in any case or contrivance, or otherwise adapted or prepared so as to form a cartridge or charge for small arms, cannon, or any other weapon, or for blasting, or to form any safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or to form any tube for firing explosives, or to form a percussion cap, a detonator, a fog signal, a shell, a torpedo, a war rocket, or other contrivance other than a firework.

The term "percussion cap" does not include a detonator.

The term "detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive of the fulminate-explosive class in such quantity that the explosion of one capsule or case will communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting, which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction and contains an explosive in such quantity that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartidges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges.

The ammunition class has three divisions.

Division 1 comprises exclusively—

Safety cartridges.
Safety fuzes for blasting.
Railway fog signals.
Percussion caps.

Division 2 comprises any ammunition as before defined which does not contain its own means of ignition, and is not included in division 1, such as—

Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Cartridges and charges for cannon, shells, mines, blasting, or other like purposes,
Shells and torpedoes containing any explosive,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,
War rockets,

which do not contain their own means of ignition.

Division 3 comprises any ammunition as before defined which contains its own means of ignition, and is not included in division 1, such as—

Detonators,
Cartridges for small-arms, which are not safety cartridges,
Fuzes for blasting, which are not safety fuzes,
Fuzes for shells,
Tubes for firing explosives,

which do contain their own means of ignition.

By ammunition containing its own means of ignition is meant ammunition having an arrangement, whether attached to it or forming part of it, which is adapted to explode or fire the ammunition by friction or percussion.

CLASS 7.—Firework Class.

The term "firework" comprises firework composition and manufactured fireworks.

Division 1.—The term "firework composition" means any chemical compound or mechanically-mixed preparation of an explosive or inflammable nature which is used for the purpose of making manufactured fireworks, and is not included in the former classes of explosives, and also any coloured fire composition.

Division 2.—The term "manufactured firework" means any explosive of the foregoing classes and any firework composition, when such explosive or composition is enclosed in any case or contrivance, or is otherwise manufactured so as to form a squib, cracker, serpent, rocket (other than a war-rocket), maroon, star, lance, wheel, Chinese fire, Roman candle, or other article adapted for the production of pyrotechnic effects or pyrotechnic signals.

MANUFACTURE, POSSESSION, AND SALE.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 13th July, 1887:

No. 9 of 1887.

A Bill to provide for the establishment of bonded warehouses at places other than customs-ports.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the establishment of bonded warehouses at places other than custom-ports; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Title, construction and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Inland Bonded Warehouses Act, 1887.

(2) It shall be read with, and taken as part of, the Sea Customs Act, 1878: and VIII of 1878.

(3) It shall come into force at once.

Inland bonded warehouses and law applicable thereto.

2. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, the Chief Customs-authority may from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, appoint a public or license a private warehouse at any place which is not a warehousing port, and may with the like sanction cancel such appointment or license. VIII of 1878.

(2) In reference to such a place and the warehouse appointed or licensed thereat the provisions of the said Act with respect to the levy of customs-duties on goods brought in bond from one customs-port to another, and with respect to warehousing, shall be construed as if the place were a customs-port and a warehousing port, and the warehouse a public or a private warehouse, as the case may be, appointed or licensed thereat under that Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

UNDER sections 15 and 16 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, public or private warehouses, wherein dutiable goods may be deposited without payment of duty, can only be appointed or licensed at warehousing ports; and under section 14 of the same Act places declared under section 11 of the Act to be customs-ports can alone be declared to be warehousing ports. It has recently, however, been brought to the notice of the Government of India, in connection with certain proposals for the establishment of bonded salt golahs at Teknaaf in the Cox's Bázár subdivision of the Chittagong district and at Khulna, the terminus of the Bengal Central Railway, that it is desirable to have power (as was possessed under section 14 of the former Sea Customs Act, VI of 1863) to appoint or license warehouses at places which cannot properly be declared under section 11 of that Act to be customs-ports. The object of this Bill is to confer that power on the Chief Customs-authority acting with the previous sanction of the Local Government.

The 13th July, 1887.

Petition from the Dowager Maharani of Burdwan, dated the 13th July 1887, and enclosure.

The late Maharajádhiráj Aftab Chand Bahadur, of Burdwan, who died in March 1885, left a will by which his widow, the Maharani Benodeyi Devi, is bound, under a heavy penalty, to adopt an heir, the only limit placed on her choice being a prohibition against the selection of one of the testator's brothers. She was at first disposed to adopt the younger son of the Hon'ble Lalla Bun Behari Kapur, but before any definite proposal could be made, the child unfortunately died. Her selection fell next on her half-brother, and the Court of Wards recommended that the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor, necessary under the provisions of Bengal Act IX of 1879 to any adoption made by a Ward, should be accorded, provided the legal validity of the act could be clearly established. The question whether the adoption of a half-brother would be valid according to the law binding on the Burdwan family was accordingly referred by this Government for the consideration of the Advocate-General, who, having associated with himself Mr. Pitt-Kennedy, Barrister-at-law, returned the opinion that such an adoption would be invalid. The Lieutenant-Governor thought himself bound to act in conformity with this advice, and accordingly declined to accept the Maharani's proposal. She questioned the correctness of the view taken by the legal advisers of Government, producing several opinions on the other side, obtained from counsel learned in the law, and the matter was still under discussion when, in January last, this child also died.

In the following month the Maharani intimated a desire, which she has since very strongly pressed upon the Court of Wards and upon Government, to adopt the only surviving son of Lalla Bun Behari. To this arrangement the Dowager Maharani Narain Kumari Devi, an influential member of the Burdwan family, objected, on the ground that the boy being an only son, and the son of the adopter's sister, the act would be invalid according to the Benares School of Hindu law, to which the Burdwan family, as she alleged, is subject. On behalf of the younger Maharani, it was stated in reply that the family, having come originally from the Punjab, and never having abandoned its ancient customs, is in fact bound in this matter by the Hindu law prevalent in that Province, which permits adoptions such as that which it is now proposed to make. The records throwing light on the question as to the school of law by which the family has been guided since its settlement in Bengal have been examined with great care by the Court of Wards, and discussed in an elaborate report. The conclusion at which the Court arrived after considering all ascertained facts, and hearing able counsel on both sides of the question, was that the adoption would not be illegal, and may properly be sanctioned by Government. All the papers of the case, including copies of the documents filed by the parties, were then forwarded by this Government for the consideration of the Standing Counsel, as the Advocate-General had been engaged in the case. Mr. Bonnerjee, acting with Mr. Hill, Barrister-at-law, gave the following opinion:—

"We have carefully considered this case by the light of the materials placed before us, and are of opinion that if, as is asserted on behalf of the younger Maharani, and as would seem to have been practically allowed by the Dowager Maharani, the founder of the Burdwan Raj family came from the Punjab and settled at Burdwan, there can be no doubt whatever but that the family must be presumed, unless and until the contrary is proved, to be governed in all matters of marriage, adoption, inheritance, and others in which the Hindu law is still applicable to the Hindus by the laws, manners, usages, and customs which were in force in the Punjab at the time he left. In this case we have in addition to the presumption of law to which we have referred, the fact that, ex concessu, the adoption of the Maharajah Aftab Chand Bahadur himself, if valid at all, was valid by virtue of the Punjab customs; and we think that the burden of the Dowager Maharani to show that the family ever abandoned the Punjab customs, so far as these were inconsistent with the law of the Benares School of the Hindu law, and adopted the law of this school in its entirety, will be an exceedingly difficult one.

"We are also of opinion that, according to the Punjab customs applicable to Khettries as interpreted and enforced by the Chief Court of that Province, it is competent to a person to adopt the only son of his sister, and we see no reason in law why His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor should withhold his sanction under section 61 of the Court of Wards Act, 1879, to the proposed adoption."

Upon the difficult point of law involved, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that he is bound to accept this opinion of his professional advisers, given after the facts had been ascertained as fully as was possible without a trial before a Court of law, and after the whole subject in all its bearing had been exhaustively discussed. Without attempting to repeat the arguments upon which the finding of the legal advisers of Government is founded, it may be noticed that there seems to be no evidence to support the assertion that members of the Burdwan family are bound by the Benares School of law, which prevails neither in the Punjab, the place of their origin, nor in Bengal, the place of their domicile, but in a region with which they seem to have never had any connexion. It moreover appears that the late head of the family, the Maharajah Aftab Chand, was, when adopted, an only son, and, by blood, the nephew of the lady who became his mother by adoption: an instance from which it may be inferred, on the usual assumption of the validity of uncontested adoptions, on the strength of which a great family has been maintained, that the Burdwan Maharajahs have not been, and therefore are not now, governed by the stricter school of Hindu law prevailing in Benares.

Sir Steuart Bayley would gladly have seen the selection so made as to command the approval of all the members of the family, and, at a personal interview with the Maharani of Burdwan, having first ascertained that her choice was really spontaneous, he pointed out to her that perseverance in it would lead to friction, probably to litigation and expense. He urged upon her the advantage of adopting some child to whom no objection would be made by any of her relatives, if such a boy could be found. As notwithstanding this consideration, which was made quite plain to her, she declared very clearly and forcibly that, having satisfied herself that no legal obstacle existed to the adoption of the son of Lalla Bun Behari, she desired to take him and no other, and that he was her definite and only choice, the Lieutenant-Governor does not think it right to refuse his sanction to the selection, the right of making which, according to her own discretion, belongs to the widow, not only by Hindu custom, but also by the direct provision of the will left by the late Maharajah. Sir Steuart Bayley has seen the boy, and has not found that, apart from the question of law, there are any considerations, personal to the child, which could possibly furnish ground for refusing sanction to the adoption. The opposition offered by the Dowager Maharani is certainly an objection of a very serious character, but Sir Steuart Bayley has ascertained that it is based only on a view of the law, which he is advised is mistaken. His Honour has, at a personal interview, expressed to the Dowager Maharani his hope that she will be able to restore peace to the Burdwan family by accepting the decision which the able barristers consulted have arrived at upon this abstruse question of Hindu law.

Under these circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor gives his consent under section 61, Bengal Act IX of 1879, to the adoption of the only son of Lalla Bun Behari by Maharani Benodeyi Devi, widow of the late Maharajádhiraj Aftab Chand Bahadur of Burdwan.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE LICENSED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE-BRIGADE ACT FOR THE SUBURBS OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1886-87

The 20th July 1887.—The following report is published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 38MM, dated Calcutta, the 27th June 1887.

From—A. SMITH, Esq., Commissioner of the Presidency Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

WITH reference to the provisions of section 30 of the Licensed Warehouses and Fire-Brigade Act, IV (B.C.) of 1883, I have the honour to submit herewith the annual report on the working of the above Act in the suburbs of Calcutta during the year 1886-87, together with the usual statements, viz.—A, showing the different warehouses in the suburbs for which licenses were granted, and the amount of license fees realized from them during the year; B showing the receipts and disbursements under the Act, as prescribed by Government letter No. 723, dated the 20th August 1881; and C, the details of fires which occurred in the suburbs during the year of report.

2. The number of jute mills, cotton mills and hand-screws in the list was the same as in the last year, viz., 6, 2 and 2 respectively, and that of hydraulic presses and warehouses for the storage of jute increased from 11 and 96 to 12 and 103, showing an increase of 1 and 7 war houses respectively. The Asiatic Jute Mill, as in the previous year, was not worked, and one of the two hand-screws did no work during the year. Of the 103 jute warehouses in the list, 28 remained unoccupied during the year against 26 in the year preceding, as will appear from the notes in the column of remarks of statement A, in which the other necessary particulars connected with the working of the ware-houses are also furnished.

3. The total amount of license fees realized from all classes of warehouses during the year amounted to Rs. 57,225-10, viz., Rs. 21,6-4-13 from hydraulic presses, Rs 968 from jute mills, Rs. 240 from cotton mills, Rs. 480 from hand-screws, and Rs. 33,912-13 from jute warehouses; against a total amount of Rs. 27,792-9, viz., Rs. 10,112-6-6 from hydraulic presses, Rs. 484 from jute mills, Rs. 120 from cotton mills, Rs. 322-8 from hand-screws, and Rs. 16,753-10 6 from jute warehouses realized during the year 1885-86 It will thus be seen that there has been a total increase of Rs. 29,433-1 in the license fees during the year of report, as compared with the preceding year, as per details shown in the margin. This large increase is chiefly due to the enhancement of the rate from 5 per cent to 10 per cent. during the year (vide paragraph 3 of report for 1884-85).

	Rs.	A.	P.
Hydraulic presses ...	11,512	6	6

Hands-crews	157	8	0

4. Statement C contains the number of fires which occurred in the suburbs during the year under review, the localities where they broke out, their causes, the extent of damage, &c., done, and other necessary particulars connected therewith. It is satisfactory to notice that during the year only six fires occurred, causing a loss to the extent of Rs. 7,440, against 16 and Rs. 11,000 in the preceding year.
